TAVERN RAIDERS KILL BROKER

10° ABOVE ZERO AND MORE SNOW ARE FORECAST

Weather Man Sees a Chill Thanksgiving.

A cold northwest wind was bearing down on Chicago last night and the weather man predicted that Chicagoans would shiver today in temperatures that would not rise above 20 degrees all day. A chilly Thanksgiving is in store for the city, he said, forecasting that the mercury would take a severe drop tonight and that the temperature would be around 10 degrees above zero tomorrow morning.

The snow flurries which swept Chicago yesterday, according to Forecaster J. R. Lloyd, will continue today, but the skies are expected to clear tomorrow and late in the day a slow rise in the temperature is probable.

Chicagoan Killed in Storm.

Harold F. Norton, 31 years old, 224 East Pearson street, was killed in Rockford yesterday when, blinded by the snow, he drove his auto into one driven by M. E. Pierce of Rockford.

A. T. Johnson, night clerk at the Salvation Army Shelter at 509 North Union avenue, reported that more than 1,800 homeless men were sheltered at the place last night. At the Tower Town food and shelter station in the old Criminal court building on the north side, 575 men found shelter for the night. At various police stations 89 men were cared for during the night.

Storms Strike 15 States.

Meanwhile, snow and wind storms were reported from 15 states from the Dakotas eastward to the Atlantic seaboard. A tornado ripped through Missouri and a 51 mile an hour gale caused heavy damage in Nebraska, where a number of persons were injured. Temperatures below freezing were reported as far south as Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi.

Lost in the swirling snow of a storm that broke after he had left Chicago, the pilot of a Chicago-St. Louis passenger and mail plane circled over Bloomington, Ill., at noon yesterday and finally descended safely on a stubble field near Towanda after he had hunted in vain for the airport field. The passengers and mail were transferred to a train for St. Louis and the plane followed at 4 p. m. when the snow ceased.

Woman Loses Life.

Mrs. Patricia Hill, 36 years old, of Alhambra, Cal., was killed and Mrs. A. Carney of Detroit was injured as a result of the storm when their automobile slipped from the highway and overturned near Princeton, Ill.

Associated Press dispatches from Indianapolis reported that three inches of snow fell over the northern Indiana. Blinded by falling snow, Mrs. Susan Parcels, 63, walked in front of a train at Lebanon, and was killed.

Roofs Blown Off Cars.

Rome Demon, conductor on a Chicago and North Western freight train between Pilger and Wisner, Neb., reported roofs blown off box cars and carried for hundreds of feet along the right of way. The Northwestern Bell Telephone company had 30 repair crews trying to restore service with more than 4,000 poles blown down.

Half of the roof of the new $250,000 grandstand at the Nebraska state fair grounds at Lincoln was stripped from its steel supports by the storm and at Grand Island two workmen were injured when a roof was torn off by the gale.

TWO MEN SLAIN AS THEY TRY TO STEAL TURKEYS

Two men, each in separate butcher shops, trying to steal Thanksgiving turkeys, were shot to death early this morning.

Fred Brenska, whose shop is at 3209 South Morgan street, was sleeping in a rear room because he had laid in a stock of birds valued at $3,000. Beside him was a .22 caliber rifle. Soon after 1 a. m. he heard a noise at the window. A man was breaking the glass. Brenska fired once, the bullet entering the intruder's right eye, killing him instantly. The body was taken to the county morgue. The victim was not identified.

A flivver squad from the Deering street station, touring near the butcher shop of Fred Cerny, 2859 Emerald avenue, saw a man trying to force entrance through the front door. Policeman Ray Anderson called on him to halt, and the prowler made a motion as if to draw a gun. Anderson emptied his revolver at him. He, too, was instantly killed and has not been identified.

Quake Rocks Japan; 200 Are Killed

700 HURT; FIRE SWEEPS TOWNS NEAR MOUNT FUJI

Many Houses Buried by Landslides.

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, Nov. 26.—(AP)—The chief of police at Numazu reported 165 dead in the Numazu police district alone, including 37 killed at Nirayama, eight miles southeast of Mishima. An unconfirmed report to the ministry of railways said 90 persons perished in a landslide at Shuzenji hot springs.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Nov. 26 [1 P. M. Wednesday]. —A violent earthquake, which shortly after 4 o'clock this morning rocked a 600 mile area in central Japan, is reported to have killed at least 200 persons and injured about 700 others.

The quake, which was felt in Tokio and Yokohama, was spread over a large area, but apparently centered in the northern section of the Izu peninsula. It was felt, however, as far south as Osaka and as far north as Fukui. Fire was reported to have broken out in several villages following the tremor, while landslides crashed down on houses, adding to the terror. Tidal waves were also The district hardest hit is known as the "Riviera of Japan."

City Reported Destroyed.

The city of Mishima, which lies in the shadow of Mount Fujiyama and other volcanoes, apparently suffered the heaviest damage. The city is reported to have been totally destroyed, with the number of dead and injured impossible to estimate as yet. All telephone wires in central Japan are down. Martial law has been proclaimed in Mishima and other areas badly affected.

At Nagaoka hot springs, south of Mishima, bridges collapsed and many fissures appeared in the earth. Twenty persons were killed there. Landslides at Nagaoka and at Nishikitamura buried many houses.

The village of Nakasato, about a mile south of Mishima, reported heavy losses. Ten are already known to be dead there and fifty injured. Many houses collapsed.

Fire Follows Quake.

The village of Nirayama, several miles south of Mishima, is feared to have been destroyed. Fire broke out after the earth shocks at Daibe, a village north of Nirayama. One person was killed at Numazu, ten miles southeast of Mishima. Fire also broke out there.

Fire also broke out at Ita, razing 50 houses after 29 houses had collapsed.

About 120 houses were destroyed in Atami and vicinity. Eight persons were buried under the teachers' residence at Atami Primary school. All were instantly killed. Railway tracks, bridges, and stations were badly damaged in this region, the railway ministry announced. All traffic has been halted over the lines. The city of Nagoya was also shaken, but the damage there was slight.

Yokohama in Terror.

Yokohama was severely rocked, but the damage there was comparatively slight. Thousands of persons rushed from their homes and electric lights went out throughout the city. Many fissures appeared in the earth. All American and other foreigners in Tokio and Yokohama are safe. The fate of foreigners in other areas is unknown, but only a few reside in the badly affected district.

Anxiety is felt for the safety of workmen in the famous Tanna tunnel between Atami and Numazi, in which about 400 workmen are employed. The quake caved in the western end of the tunnel, and it is feared many men may have been inside. The tunnel was nearing completion. It took ten years to construct at a cost of $10,000,000.

Fear also is felt for the cities of Ohito and Shuzenji. Communications are cut from those points.

The Izu peninsula is a resort center noted for its hot springs and is densely populated. Strong quakes rocked Shizukoa yesterday afternoon and another was felt through the peninsula later in the day, but little damage was done.

Since Nov. 1, 1,300 tremors have been felt in central Japan. The central meteorological bureau locates the seismic center at the foot of the Higane mountains, in Izu peninsula.

Million Reds Parade to Start 8 Men to Death

Soviet Agents Seized

LONDON, Nov. 26 [Wednesday.]—(AP)—The Daily Mail today said that three unidentified agents of the soviet "Ogpu," or secret police, were being held prisoners at the soviet embassy here, the soviet ambassador, M. Sokolnikoff, having turned the tables on the trio, who were sent to return him to Moscow.

The paper claims that the Ogpu seized letters passing between the ambassador and certain anti-Stalin elements in Moscow and ordered his arrest and return. The ambassador, forewarned, took the trio captive on their arrival.

MOSCOW, Nov. 25.—All traffic in this great city stopped today while 1,000,000 men, women, and children, with flaming banners, marched through the snow clad streets to start eight engineers and professors, accused of a "capitalist" anti-soviet plot, in which leaders of several nations are named, on their way to death.

A cordon of police and troops cleared all the approaches to the central part of Moscow, where is situated Union house, also called the House of Columns, scene of the trial.

Troops Guard Prisoners.

The hall was half empty as the prisoners, guarded by four soldiers with fixed bayonets, shuffled to their benches on the left of the stage.

To the little table at the right front came the prosecutor, N. B. Krylenko, with the easy swing of a mountaineer.

When the three judges entered, led by President A. Vishinsky, all in the big hall stood up, save the prisoners, who made the merest gesture of raising their bodies from the seats.

President Vishinsky briefly declared the court open and then called the prisoners by name. Their leader, Prof. L. K. Ramsin, and five fellow prisoners pleaded guilty to conspiracy and high treason. Two—Prof. N. F. Charnofsky, president of the scientific-technical institute of the supreme industrial economic council, and K. V. Sitnin, textile engineer, made no admission.

On every table, where the accused stand for questioning, there is a loudspeaker to broadcast every word spoken throughout Russia. It is strange to watch a man talk his own life away. That is what Prof. Ramsin's evidence amounted to. He made a full repetition of his earlier confession.

He was very nervous when he began to read a lengthy document in a flat voice. He gathered assurance as he went on, but he continually moistened his lips with his tongue. Dully he recited his damning tale—visits to Paris, a meeting with the industrial union, the receipt of money—300,000 rubles received personally, 1,750,000 more through "a person in the French service in Moscow."

He told of the formation of the conspiracy and the decision to prepare the ground for a Franco-Polish intervention that was to have occurred in the summer of this year.

Abruptly, when Prof. Ramsin had been speaking for two hours, President Vishinski ordered a recess until tomorrow.

SAYS POLICE BELTS MAKE COPS HELPLESS IN FIGHTING WOMEN

The Sam Browne belts of policemen, according to Ald. John Toman [23d], may have some value as ornamentation but are of no practical use when the police are battling women. In a resolution introduced at yesterday's council session he asked the council to rid the police of the "harness."

"Why, it's ridiculous to dress a policeman up that way," shouted Ald. Toman.

"I want to tell you that I saw a couple of women hold two coppers together by their belts so that the coppers were hitting each other each time they made a lunge at the women. Think of it! Just a couple of women had those two policemen helpless. My, what a strong man could do with a whole squad."

His resolution was referred to the council police committee.

Husband Slain On His Way to Stricken Wife

E. Russell Thompson of Evanston, a broker with Chicago offices, was shot to death early this morning by one of four bandits who raided the Lake Avenue tavern on Waukegan road just north of Glen View. Thompson had stopped there for a chicken dinner before going to the Evanston hospital, where his wife was under operation for stomach trouble.

Thompson had just entered the place and was telling Frank Engel, proprietor of the tavern, about his wife's illness when the robbers walked in, two from the front and two from the side door. The leader was armed with a shotgun and the other three with revolvers.

Shot Without Warning.

As Thompson heard the men enter he turned from the bar, where he was standing. As he did so the man with the shotgun fired without a word. Thompson fell dead.

Leaping over Thompson's body, the bandit with the shotgun pointed it at Engel and ordered him to give up the contents of the safe and the till. Engel turned over $125, and the two bandits with the other two who had remained in the rear to guard George Miller, a waiter, fled to an automobile and drove rapidly away.

Immediately the county highway police were notified and began a search for the bandits. They learned that Thompson and Engel were well acquainted and that frequently the broker went to the tavern for chicken dinners.

Broker in High Spirits.

Engel told the police that Thompson had been in the restaurant only a few minutes when the bandits entered. He said the broker was in high spirits over the improvement in his wife's condition. Just at that moment the bandits entered. The noise of the opening of the front and side doors attracted Thompson's attention, and he turned toward the pair coming in at the front.

"As Thompson turned," Engel told the police, "the bandit raised the shotgun and pulled the trigger. Not a word was uttered by any one after the robbers came in. There was no command to throw up hands. It was a cold blooded murder."

The bandits, Engel said, apparently all were young men. They wore handkerchief masks. Police said they answered the description of the four robbers who held up Jack Hackney's tavern on Harms road a few weeks ago. Hackney is a brother-in-law of Engel.

Father-in-Law Notified.

Thompson's body was taken to an undertaking establishment in Glen View, and his father-in-law, John G. Munro, 1119 Elmwood avenue, Wilmette, a buyer for Carson, Pirie Scott & Co., where he has been staying during the illness of his wife, was notified. According to Munro, Thompson, who was about 35 years old, was a member of the brokerage firm of Edward Kent & Co., 137 South La Salle street, Chicago. He formerly was head of the Thompson & Emmert Real Estate company.

The Lake avenue tavern is just east of Waukegan road on Lake avenue and across the road from the Garden of Allah, well known roadhouse.

After the bandits had fled the hand hold off the barrel of the gun was found on the floor of the tavern. It was taken in charge by the police with the hope that finger prints might be discovered. How it was broken off was not clear.

Policeman Is Mysteriously Shot to Death

Policeman James Corcoran, 33 years old, assigned to the Des Plaines street station, was shot twice and killed early today in a fight with an unidentified man in front of a drug store at 2843 Indiana avenue.

The policeman was found dying in the street. His gun which, it was learned, he was carrying loose in his pocket, was missing.

The fatal fight, in which a third man was involved, was believed to have originated in an alleged speakeasy operated in the guise of a tailor shop at 312 East 29th street. Mabel McKinney, the proprietor, was away. Arline Ray, a Negro maid, was in charge. She was taken into custody.

At Michael Reese hospital, where Corcoran was first taken, the maid identified Corcoran as one of three men who had visited the place earlier in the evening. She said that beer was served to all three and that they complained the brew was too sweet. They stayed for about a half hour, she said, and then left together.

A few minutes after the man left the speakeasy William Bredenbeck, druggist at 2843 Indiana avenue, telephoned the Cottage Grove avenue station about the gun battle.

Later one of Corcoran's companions returned to the speakeasy, the maid told police. He appeared agitated, she said, and left without saying a word.

Bredenbeck told police that when he heard shots he rushed out to see two men, one whose police star was in plain view, grappling on the ground. There were a number of shots and the slayer fled.

Death Draws Near for Mother Jones, Aged 100

JUDGES CLASH, BUT GANG WAR SHOWS RESULTS

Lyle Holds Barry in $150,000 Bonds.

There was some conflict between judges yesterday over methods of dealing with public enemies and other law breakers, but there were also some results in the warfare against hoodlums.

James [Fur] Sammons is facing a return to prison for thirty years to complete an old 50 year sentence for murder and a trial for burglary on an indictment with an habitual criminal clause which carries a life sentence. Sammons is in jail on a vagrancy conviction.

"West Side Jack" Barry, a pal of Sammons, was held under $150,000 bonds and awaits trial for burglary and vagrancy.

Claude Maddox and William "Three Fingered Jack" White are still in jail with prospects of staying there.

Lyle Involved in Clash.

The clash among the judges centered around Municipal Judge Lyle's Felony court. Judge Joseph E. David of the Criminal court made a warm reply last night to Judge Lyle, who had criticized his policies from the bench during the day. Judge Lyle also was the target of some hot shots during a hearing before Judge Harry M. Fisher, acting chief justice of the Criminal court, in which it was charged that the records in a Felony court commitment for vagrancy had been falsified.

It was during the hearing in which Barry's bond was set at $150,000 that Judge Lyle cut loose against the bond policies of other judges, singling out Judge David by name. Barry was arraigned on a warrant charging that he had a hand in the burglary of Morand Brothers' warehouse three years ago in which $500,000 worth of whisky was stolen.

Sammons Also Held.

Sammons was held on the same charge last week, but before he goes to trial he may be returned to the penitentiary under the ruling of Attorney General Carlstrom that his parole was void in that it followed a commutation by former Gov. Small from life to 50 years for a murder committed in 1903.

When Barry was brought before him, Judge Lyle asked for his record. It showed that Barry had served two prison sentences and had been convicted twice of vagrancy.

"That was when I was a kid and didn't have money to get justice," Barry said, referring to the vagrancy convictions.

"You mean you didn't have money to buy your way out," Judge Lyle commented, and when Barry attempted to reply he was told to "shut up."

Aims Shaft at Judge David.

The court then complimented Assistant State's Attorney Harry S. Ditchburne on his work in reinstating old cases against public enemies and asked if there were anything else Barry could be charged with. Then the court asked if Barry were out on bond. Attorney George Hans said he wasn't.

"Then you haven't been to see Judge David yet," Judge Lyle remarked.

"Perhaps Judge David will lower Barry's bond. He lowered the bond of Maddox, who was identified as the man who shot Sergt. James McBride to keep 'Three Fingered Jack' White from being convicted of murder. I cannot understand Judge David's psychology. His actions cannot be explained except that he says he is following the law when he is turning these mad dogs out on the street. There seem to be two judges out of harmony with the authorities who are battling crime."

Judge David's Reply.

Judge David in his statement replying to Lyle said:

"If Judge Lyle would read the constitution of the state of Illinois and the decision of the Supreme court of Illinois condemning his actions in bail cases and would have the intelligence to comprehend what he read, he would understand my psychology.

"It is very simple; that is, that a judge should obey and follow his oath of office and the law and not violate and flaunt them; that the constitution of the state of Illinois requires a judge to allow a man accused of a crime reasonable and not exorbitant bail, and that a judge who fixes exorbitant bail, as Judge Lyle has repeatedly done, and is doing, is violating his oath of office and the constitution and deriding the Supreme court of this state.

"The Supreme court has told Judge Lyle this same thing in no uncertain terms. Apparently he is either unable to understand simple English, or

This Day Offers a Chance to Keep Up Normal Buying

Tomorrow will be Thanksgiving Day, 1930. Despite the nature of the times, by far the great majority of people this year have a great deal to be thankful for. They have more to give thanks for than the handful of Pilgrims who started the custom. They have more to be thankful for than their grandparents had a few decades ago.

Yet today, in shopping for tomorrow's needs, many people who have no good reason to cut down on their purchases will be moved to do so. It is not fitting, they will reason, to celebrate the day with a display of plenty when so many less fortunate families will be denied the chance to feast. This spirit, no matter how laudable from one point of view, is fundamentally bad because of the results it produces. Denying yourself and your family, far from helping the less fortunate families, actually tends to make conditions worse. Lowering your own Thanksgiving standards when it isn't necessary simply is another case of subnormal buying.

Normal buying for normal needs should be the Thanksgiving policy of every family whose income is sustained. Today offers to everybody who can afford it a splendid chance to give business an impetus that will help to bring back prosperity.

Chicago Tribune

used by that court, or purposely is not paying any attention to it."

During the Barry hearing Judge Lyle summoned before him Chief of Detectives John Norton, whom he saw in the courtroom.

"Men like Barry shouldn't be allowed to roam the streets," Judge Lyle said to Chief Norton. "Why doesn't the police force with its 5,000 men run this little band of midnight assassins out of the city, these members of the Capone and Moran gangs?"

"We have run them out as fast as they have come in," Norton answered, "but there are so many details, such as desk sergeants and automobile details, that we haven't 5,000 men available for active duty."

"How about the eight policemen kept at Mayor Thompson's bedside?" Judge Lyle inquired. "Why couldn't they be put out on the street?"

"We have many details that watch people believed to be in danger," the chief explained, and then the judge asked him, "Isn't it true that seven or eight effective members of the department are sitting around a stove in a rackety building playing pinochle?" This reference was to the "Siberia detail" of idle captains in the old North Halsted street station. Norton said he didn't know anything about the "Siberia detail."

Asks About Vice Conditions.

"I've cleaned up 31 murders and over 300 robberies since I took my job in June," Norton asserted.

"Some of the criminals have not had political influence back of them," Judge Lyle retorted. "How does it happen that Dennis Cooney, who has run a house of prostitution day and night for over 20 years in the vicinity of the 11th street police station, can still operate?"

"I have nothing to do with vice," Norton said, explaining that his job had to do with major crime.

"Capone is a crime wave all by himself," Judge Lyle announced. "If Pat Roche were chief how long would these criminals last?"

"Pat Roche is a good policeman," Norton admitted. "He was on my squad for a year and a half, and now, as chief investigator for the state's attorney, he has more jurisdiction than I have. He has authority all over the county while I have only in the city."

"I understand his hands are tied just like yours," the court said, and Norton said his hands were not tied.

"I don't blame you for being discouraged," Judge Lyle ended the discussion. "Your men bring in well known criminals and they are turned out by the judges."

Hearing Before Fisher.

The hearing before Judge Fisher in which Judge Lyle was criticized was on a habeas corpus writ in behalf of Dominick Brancato, who on Nov. 21 was sentenced to six months in jail for vagrancy by Judge Lyle. The petition was presented by Attorney John R. McCabe.

"We claim that Judge Lyle's mittimus is based on a false record," McCabe said to Judge Fisher. "And if the record was true we could show that Brancato is being illegally held. We will subpœna Assistant State's Attorney Leslie Curtis and Clerk Edwin Carpenter to prove that the record does not show the truth.

"Brancato asked for a continuance and a lawyer, neither of which was granted. We claim this man had no trial. We don't want him put on the street, but we want him to have the trial he was denied. We further intend to show this defendant received a 90 day sentence for contempt because he refused to be sworn.

"The mittimus shows my client waived a jury trial and pleaded not guilty, when he did neither."

"The Criminal court is being plagued with writs of this kind charging conduct on the part of a judge which is unbelievable," Judge Fisher said.

"This writ charges falsification of the records. It becomes much more serious than the detention of an individual through erroneous records, and for that reason this court wants a little more time to ascertain what its jurisdiction is.

"The return of the state's attorney on this writ does not deny charges against officials making up this record and relied upon the apparent validity of the mittimus. For that reason I am continuing this hearing until Friday."

Crime Commission Acts.

The Chicago crime commission took cognizance yesterday of Attorney General Carlstrom's opinion in the Sammons case that prisoners whose sentences have been commuted are not eligible to parole. Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating head of the commission, directed that the records be searched to determine what other gangsters are illegally free under the attorney general's opinion and that steps be taken to return such parolees to prison.

The grand jury completed its investigation of the police department yesterday. Acting Commissioner John Alcock was questioned for the second time by the jurors. After testifying Alcock ordered a cleanup of the loop.

which have been inactive since the earthquake of 1923, sprang into sudden activity.

At Yokosuka, where there is an important naval base, the shock was also severe.

At Oba, near Mishima, 10 persons were killed. At Mamiya, in the same district, fire started and a number of houses were burned.

Albanian Villages Cracked.

TIRANA, Albania, Nov. 25.—(AP)—The government today announced that the recent earthquake has resulted in the formation of vast fissures across the villages of Trebis and Dhremi, making impossible the erection of new dwellings. Mild but extensive shocks still continue near Berati.

The earthquake which today shook parts of Japan is believed to have been caused by a further slip of the Bonin islands, a fault which caused the disaster of Sept. 1, 1923, when 192,000 people lost their lives and Tokio and Yokahama were reduced to ruins.

TRUCK OWNERS' GROUP RAIDED IN RACKET WAR

CRIMINAL COURT.

Frank Hilson, robbery, sentenced to one year to life in Pontiac reformatory; Felix Lucas, robbery, sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Peter Schwaba.

The headquarters of the Chicago Truck Owners' association, 542 South Dearborn street, was raided yesterday by the racketeer division of the state's attorney's office on the authority of a subpœna duces tecum issued by Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court. A truckload of books and records of the organization was taken to the prosecutor's office for examination.

Charles J. Wilson, president; George McCann, vice president, and A. J. McKenna, secretary and treasurer, were taken into custody for questioning by Assistant State's Attorney Charles Lounsbury.

Prosecutor Lounsbury said the association works with certain officials of the so-called outlaw teaming unions so that favored members get the more lucrative work. "Steady" Looney, an association of John J. Sheridan, and George ["Red"] Barker, now in the penitentiary, is said to be the "go between" for the union and the association.

Prosecutor Lounsbury said he had had 20 or more complaints, the last one being yesterday from a teaming contractor, who was under contract to work for a general contractor on an excavating job. When the teams of the teaming contractor appeared for work they were stopped by Looney, who ordered them off the job without any explanation, according to the complaint.

Violates Ban on Wife Beating; Gets 30 Days

Superior Judge Lewis yesterday sentenced James Curtin, a salesman, to 30 days in the county jail for violating an injunction which had been issued to restrain him from beating his wife, Mrs. Mary Curtin, 158 West Chestnut street. Mrs. Curtin, who is suing her husband for divorce, showed the court a stick three feet long, studded with nails, with which she said Curtin had struck her.

ILLINOIS PARDON SHOWN AT TRIAL OF EX-CHICAGOAN

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—An Illinois pardon, signed by former Gov. Len Small, was submitted as evidence today in the trial of Frank J. Parker, ex-Chicagoan, and known as the millionaire aviator bootlegger, who is charged here with perjury.

The charge is based on Parker's testimony given early in the year in an inquiry into the bankruptcy of the Dominion Distillers, of which he was vice president and manager.

Parker's pardon was presented to the local justice court by J. A. Hutchings, Chicago attorney, for the purpose of indicating that Parker's recent record was free from criminal convictions. Hutchings asserted that in Illinois a pardon wiped the slate so far as a man's criminal record was concerned. Parker's case was continued for further hearing after the pardon was introduced.

Wife Gets Divorce After She Inherits $500,000

Mrs. Ada Grennan, 1409 East 60th street, who is said to have inherited $500,000 on her 21st birthday a few months ago, won a divorce yesterday from Louis Grennan, an auditor. The decree was granted by Superior Judge Lewis on grounds of desertion. The Grennans were married Nov. 15, 1927, and separated in July, 1928. Mrs. Grennan's attorney, Louis Wilson, said his client had been left the fortune by her grandfather, a wealthy merchant of New York.

SOLDIERS FIGHT TO SAVE PARIS AS SEINE RISES

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 25.—Paris today settled down to withstand a long siege by the rising Seine. The flood menace increased this afternoon, when a heavy rainstorm hit the capital.

The swollen river continued to rise, reaching a level of 18 feet. The lower quays of the Seine took on a wartime appearance as soldiers piled up sand bags in high parapets. Behind the sand bags pumps were working to keep down the level in the subway tunnels and sewers where water is beginning to back up.

Workmen erected a temporary wall against the flood in front of the chamber of deputies building. They used huge stones intended for the foundation of the new Concord bridge. At Passy laborers began building dikes with bags of cement.

Barrels of Wine Float Away.

At the Quai de Bercy, the principal river port, workmen waded in hip boots trying to rescue thousands of barrels of wine which are floating away. Despite their efforts, hundreds of barrels got away.

Thus far none of the Paris streets has been inunduated, and even the foot and a half rise predicted for tonight is not expected to cause serious damage. A number of Parisians, however, are beginning to feel the effects of the flood. Many basements and wine caves have filled up with seepage water, and at the foreign office in the Quai d'Orsay pumps were hastily installed as water oozed into the basement. Records were removed to upper floors.

The situation in the suburbs remains critical. Hundreds of poor families living in huts along the river banks have fled their homes. Last night 83 persons, including 25 children, were removed from a small island in the Seine to the mainland by the aid of torchlights.

Rescue Sick in Hospital.

LONDON, Nov. 25. — (AP) — Men worked long hours today to repair the broken dikes along the rivers of Belgium, as the rain still pounded down on a Europe already suffering heavily from disastrous floods. Belgium felt the heaviest blow. Her crops are ruined, her live stock drowned in great numbers, her fields are under water, and thousands are temporarily homeless.

The big hospital at Namur was flooded today, and the sick were carried to the topmost floors.

Holland's problem was still serious, with the River Maas as the greatest threat.

YES, TEETH are actually 3 Shades WHITER in 3 days

NOW there's no excuse for stained teeth that are so dull and dingy they mar beauty and offend others, proof lies in this new Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique.

Start using this new technique—a half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush, morning and night. Then after 3 days note the improvement in the appearance of teeth and gums.

Teeth look cleaner and fully 3 shades whiter. Gums feel firmer and look healthier. The mouth tingles with a wonderful new taste sensation.

Kolynos is surprising—utterly unlike anything you've ever used. As soon as it enters the mouth it becomes a refreshing, antiseptic FOAM that permits the Dry-Brush Technique which makes Kolynos just 10 times more effective.

Instantly this FOAM gets into and cleans out every tiny pit, fissure and crevice. It kills the millions of germs that sweep into the mouth with every breath, defy ordinary toothpaste and cause stain, discoloration, decay and most gum diseases, if neglected. Acids are neutralized, tartar is gently erased and the mouth is purified.

Thus this remarkable technique cleans teeth as they should be cleaned—right down to the beautiful, naked white enamel without injury.

Convince Yourself

If you want clean, attractive teeth and firm, coral-pink gums switch to the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique. In 3 days you'll be convinced that anyone can have sparkling white teeth and healthy gums. Buy a tube of Kolynos.

BARRETT STARTS MAYORALTY RACE WHIPS THOMPSON

Hits "Waste and Graft" of Present Regime.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Charles V. Barrett issued a statement yesterday announcing his candidacy for mayor of Chicago on a platform of "Republicanism vs. Thompsonism." It was his reply to a citizens' petition urging him to run.

Barrett is the first candidacy proclaimed for the February primary. Thompson has not said publicly whether he will seek a fourth term, but the statement by Barrett was directed almost entirely at Thompson. He blamed Thompson for the city's "blackened reputation," the "reign of lawlessness," and what he termed the demoralization of the municipal government.

The candidate, in addition to appealing for a cleanup of the city hall in all its branches, pleaded for the rehabilitation of the Republican party in Cook county.

Pictures World Ridicule.

"Thompsonism, a blight on Chicago, has loosed a world-wide flood of condemnation upon us," read the Barrett statement. "Our people at home and traveling abroad have been humiliated and outraged beyond measure by the ridicule heaped on our city. On the eve of its 'Century of Progress Exposition,' Chicago, the world's third largest city, once the cynosure of all eyes, finds its reputation blackened by the outrageous conduct of those whom it has honored.

"For more than three years Thompson remained away almost continually from the city hall, made no pretense of guiding city affairs, never raised his voice or hand to stop the reign of lawlessness which harassed and allowed Chicago's government to become utterly demoralized, was so absolutely neglectful of his duties and so uninterested in Chicago that he was universally dubbed 'Chicago's absentee mayor.'

"What Must Be Done."

"Chicago's own sons and daughters must interest themselves in her affairs, must stay the hands which have injured her, and, moving shoulder to shoulder in gigantic phalanx with those who have chosen Chicago for their home, drive out the gangster, gunman, and racketeer, reestablish law and order, and restore Chicago's name and fame as the wonder city of the world.

"The police department is seething with incompetency, inefficiency, disloyalty, and internal strife. The effectiveness of the large number of honest and capable men therein has been destroyed by lack of leadership and failure of cooperation by many of the commanding officers.

"Certain commanding officers, in conspiracy with some of the rank and file and with racketeers gunmen, and desperados, have destroyed the morale of the entire force and have allowed criminals to run riot in our city. This condition can be remedied only by removal from the service of every person connected with this outrage.

"A civil service commission must be appointed composed of men whose recognized ability, honesty, energy, and independence will compel public confidence, whose administration of the civil service laws, while protecting honesty and efficiency, will seek out and drive from the service lazy, incompetent, and crooked persons who infest the city pay rolls.

"A chief of police must be selected whose ability, honesty, and courage will not only command public respect but will serve unmistakable notice upon both the police department and the criminal element that there is no place in Chicago for gangsters, gunmen, and racketeers outside of jail.

"Cabinet offices and executive departments must be headed by men of ability, loyalty, and unquestioned honesty, whose sole purpose will be the efficient dispatch of public business.

"Politics, despite much abuse and criticism, is the science of government. It is good or bad, depending on the management. In Chicago politics and government need rehabilitation. It is absolutely necessary that the Republican party in Cook county be welded into one strong unit with leadership which will operate for the good of our community.

"The present mayor of Chicago is not representative of Republicanism. He has tried to wreck the party and must be repudiated.

Opposed to Prohibition.

"I am opposed to prohibition. As an experiment it has been a grim and ghastly tragedy. My influence will be directed toward the repeal of both the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act.

"Public improvements demand the guidance of an honest, experienced, and capable board of local improvements who will respect and not arbitrarily disregard the wishes of the people. The waste of public money and outrageous amounts being paid for municipal work, far in excess of cost for similar work privately done, must be stopped. The subway and all other improvements must be scientifically planned and efficiently executed. Present economic depression should not be used as an excuse for inordinate haste, carelessness, extravagance, and waste.

"In the last fifteen years the bonded debt of the principal taxing bodies in Cook county was increased from $68,000,000 to $390,000,000, or more than 470 per cent, and millions of dollars of these funds were literally thrown away by extravagant and wasteful public officials. The taxpayers must pay yearly for principal and interest on these bonds about $39,000,000.

"In the same fifteen years property tax bills were increased from $65,000,000 to $229,000,000, or more than 250 per cent. During the same time Chicago's population has increased only 37½ per cent.

"The remedy for high taxes lies in the simplification of local governments, in drastic economies, in efficient government, and consolidation of taxing and tax spending bodies.

"The people of Chicago will no longer be blinded to the necessity for these changes by promises of five cent carfare, steamboat whistles from the seaports of the world, or any other ballyhoo or bunk. They will not be misled into the belief that prosperity can be returned to Chicago and unemployment and other effects of the present depression be driven from our midst by a million dollar lottery scheme—the financing of which, of course, is to come out of the pockets of the people."

MILK SURPLUS STARTS TALK OF PRICE CUT

Producers and Dealers Hold Meeting.

Confronted with a national surplus of milk and a declining price for butterfat, Chicago's milk dealers and officers of the Pure Milk association (the farmers' marketing agency) held a brief session yesterday behind closed doors at the Morrison hotel. Although it was said after the meeting that no business had been transacted, reduction in the price of milk paid by the consumers and paid to the farmers was understood to have been considered as a possible means to encourage the increased use of milk.

Dr. F. D. Walmsley, president of the Borden company and of the milk council, a distributors' organization, departed for Milwaukee immediately after the meeting. Neither he nor Frank Kullman, vice president of the Bowman company, described the meeting as other than a routine conference. Both said another meeting between the farmers and distributors' bargaining committees might be called at an early date.

Consumption Drops 10 Per Cent.

Chicago's milk consumption has dropped about 10 per cent, it was indicated yesterday, this being considered less than the declines in several other cities, including Detroit, where milk funds and "milk lines" are forming.

The situation was declared by Don Geyer, manager of the producers' association, to be responsible for the presence of more milk in bottles than the Chicago metropolitan area here would consume. Geyer said that farmers had been working for two years to adjust the production of their dairy cows to supply milk when it was most in demand in Chicago. Farmers had been unable to curtail this normal production this fall, he said.

"We were confronted with a drought in the summer, and a possible shortage of milk, but this was overcome by our 19,000 farmer members," Geyer said. "Now we are trying our best to cut our production down to the demand here."

Milk Reported Plentiful.

The milk conference yesterday was described as merely a weekly meeting between dealers and farmers, in spite of the reports from milk farms of the 28 counties supplying the Chicago area that milk was plentiful and was available at prices materially less than those being paid by city milk dealers. Under an agreement with the producers' association the right to supply milk to the Chicago area is restricted to the 19,000 members of the association.

The retail price of milk has been reduced in ten large cities, it was disclosed this week in a report of the United States department of agriculture. A reduction of at least one cent a quart has been announced in Detroit, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Milwaukee, Denver, Seattle, Louisville, Minneapolis, St. Paul, and San Diego.

Dr. Clyde L. King of the Warton School of Commerce at the University of Pennsylvania, Pa., who arbitrated Chicago's milk strike in 1929, was quoted as having informed the milk industry of Pittsburgh at its last price conference that a general surplus of milk exists the country over.

STOP OBSCENITY, ORDER TO U. OF C. MAGAZINE HEADS

Editors of the Phenix student magazine at the University of Chicago, yesterday were warned by the undergraduate council to cease publication of alleged obscene material on penalty of removal from office.

The meeting of the council was called following protests by faculty women and co-eds against articles in the October and November issues of the magazine.

A resolution adopted by the council said: "The undergraduate council censures the last issue of the Phoenix. The editors will be responsible in the future to the undergraduate council for the conduct of this publication until further notice. The council will have the power in the future to remove these editors and to appoint successors."

DAISY DEVOE IS INDICTED IN ROW WITH CLARA BOW

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Climaxing a two weeks' controversy between Clara Bow and her former secretary, Daisy Devoe, the county grand jury this afternoon returned an indictment charging Miss Devoe with thirty-seven counts of grand theft.

The charges concern checks on a special account maintained by Miss Bow from which Miss Devoe is accused of withdrawing small sums totaling $16,000 during her employment. The indictment was returned after Miss Devoe had told her side of the story to the grand jury. Miss Bow, complaining witness, testified last week.

Refer Board's Ordinance to Committees.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The ordinance for the State street subway—to cost more than $44,000,000—was completed yesterday by the board of local improvements, submitted to the city council, and referred to the committees on local transportation and special assessments. Over this joint reference there was a sharp debate led by Ald. Arthur F. Albert [43d] and J. B. Bowler [25th].

This ordinance discloses for the first time the authoritative estimate of the cost, which is somewhat higher than the figures heretofore made public. The items and the total are as follows:

Items—	Cost.
Excavating	$20,306,000
Concrete	5,887,060
Structural steel	4,219,600
Sand fill	1,551,000
Waterproofing	875,000
Floors	814,750
Ventilation	411,800
Fifty other items	5,151,488
Deficiency in interest	1,959,312
Tunnel under the river	3,354,063
Total	$44,500,063

To Pay from Transit Fund.

The bore under the river is to be paid entirely from the city's transit fund. The remaining $41,146,000 is to be paid jointly by the traction fund and special assessments on property specially benefited.

President Faherty of the board of local improvements, at a public hearing last week, told the property owners that an effort will be made to have the property owners pay 65 per cent of the cost, or approximately $26,725,000. Therefore the aggregate to be paid out of the transit fund—on public benefits on the subway and the cost of the tunnel under the river—would be $17,755,000.

Albert Raises Objection.

When the ordinance was presented to the city council it was promptly referred to the committee on judiciary and special assessments. Later Ald Albert objected.

"The transportation committee has been considering this for years," Albert said, "and has spent more than $500,000 on studies and investigations and now has a staff for part of which it pays $5,000 a month. Why throw all of that information and advice aside to refer it to the committee on special assessments? Refer it to that committee and the local transportation committee jointly."

At first Ald. O. F. Nelson [46th], chairman of the judiciary committee, opposed the joint reference plan, but finally agreed to it. The council reconsidered its previous reference to only one committee and then referred the ordinance to the two committees jointly. Several dates were suggested but no definite decision was made. It is probable that the committee session will be deferred until next week.

GERMAN CABINET OFFICER QUITS IN FOOD PRICE ROW

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 25.—Minister of Justice Wilhelm Bredt resigned from the German cabinet today, acting on orders of his supporters, the Economic party. Chancellor Bruening, it is said, fears that without the support of the 23 Economic party members he will not get a majority for the financial reform bills he intends to submit to the reichstag next week.

It is predicted he is preparing to invoke the dictatorial powers of Article 48 to enforce the reform bills by decree, regardless of the reichstag's capers.

Prepares Dictator Decree.

President von Hindenburg and the entire cabinet have indicated they share Chancellor Bruening's belief that it is a vital necessity that the reform bills be enforced before Christmas. Legal experts were called in by Chancellor Bruening today to devise ways and means of decreeing reform laws without conflicting with the constitution.

The revolt of the Economic party is a result of Chancellor Bruening's campaign to force down retail prices. Their leader is a baker, and the bulk of the party has been recruited from among bakers, butchers, and small tradesmen, who resent the government's efforts to readjust prices, particularly those of food.

Dr. Bredt's resignation was not accepted tonight inasmuch as Chancellor Bruening desires to confer with him before he reports to President von Hindenburg.

Chancellor Bruening spent all day negotiating with the Centrists and Socialists. The latter, who at first approved of the government's reform plans, are balking, demanding special guarantees for the protection of labor.

Working Masses Angry.

They distrust Dr. Bruening now that the government arbitrators ordered a wage reduction decree for the metal workers in their struggle with employers. This aroused the fury of the working masses. The Socialist opposition further convinces Chancellor Bruening of the necessity of enforcing his reform plans by dictatorial decree.

The Economic party is the second to withdraw its support from the cabinet. The Farmers' league previously bolted. Martin Schiele, its chief, remained in the cabinet as minister of agriculture on President von Hindenburg's request.

SHIFT BATTLE FOR WATERWAY TO SPRINGFIELD

"End Delays" Is Word to Emmerson.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Quick completion of the Illinois waterway—the missing link between the great lakes and the Mississippi water systems—was emphasized as the vital spot in waterway development today by the Mississippi Valley association. Steps were taken to get the governments at Springfield and Washington to start the federal shovels digging early next year. This, it is figured, would put 5,000 men to work before spring.

Secretary of War Hurley's announcement last night that the war department would include in the $22,500,000 deficiency bill in congress next month an item enabling the government to start on the job of finishing the Joliet and Utica waterway led the Illinois delegates to send Gov. L. L. Emmerson a wire. They asked the governor to have prepared at once the necessary data to be used by the war department as a basis for the emergency appropriation in congress. The message asked that "further delay stop."

Fear Delay by State.

Gov. Emmerson is to hold a conference with W. R. Dawes, president of the association, in Chicago tomorrow. As congress meets Dec. 1, and the deficiency bill is to be shot in early, the Illinois delegates were clamorous for snappy action.

It developed that if the federal government goes ahead at the speed which Secretary Hurley says he is anxious to make, the state government at Springfield may cause a delay in opening the Illinois waterway unless a start is made on the bridges which the state must build.

The engineers figure that if the federal government is able to start operations early after New Year's it can complete the waterway in about two years. The state has to build five bridges at Joliet and seven below Joliet at a cost of about $2,000,000, and the engineers say it will take two and a half years to build the bridges at Joliet. The seven downstream are smaller and simpler.

No Bridges, No Waterway.

As the water cannot be turned in until the bridges are up, the possibility exists that the government may complete the channel six months and more before the state finishes the bridges and the new trade route is ready for operation. Waterway delegates were declaring the need to speed things up at Springfield.

The amount which the war department will ask in the deficiency bill to start things rolling on the Illinois waterway has not been determined but Secretary Hurley has indicated it will be ample to push the work until the regular appropriations become available. Last July congress authorized the government to finish the waterway, on which $90,000,000 has been spent by Illinois and the Chicago sanitary district, at a cost of $7,500,000 But it neglected to make the necessary appropriations, hence the proposal for an item in the deficiency bill

U. S. Program Specific.

As signifying the attitude of the federal engineers, there was much comment upon the speech yesterday of Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers in charge of projects amounting now to $500,000,000, in which he said:

"Here is what we have in view now in the valley:

"1. To drive the Illinois waterway to completion with all speed.

"2. To prosecute with vigor the improvement of the Missouri from its mouth to Sioux City.

"3. To execute the flood control work on the lower Mississippi as the law contemplates, looking all the time for more perfection in the plans.

"4. To push the Ohio improvement out from the main stem as rapidly as the means available will permit.

"I believe in the St. Lawrence waterway to the sea, but I am convinced that the Illinois waterway is more vital to our prosperity than is even the St. Lawrence waterway. Chicago is the most important place on the lakes, and there is on the lakes an aggregation of industrial and population centers such as even now is not matched on any other trade route on earth."

KOHN TO REPRESENT STATE IN WASHINGTON ON WATERWAY TANGLE

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Gov. Emmerson is sending Henry H. Kohn to Washington commissioned with full authority to represent the state in the matter of transferring the Illinois waterway project to the government.

Mr. Kohn is state director of purchases and construction. His instructions are to waive technicalities, "cut corners," and do whatever is necessary to speed up the waterway. He is to coöperate in every way with Gen. Lytle Brown.

CALL CAR TRACK A BLOT ON PLAN FOR PARK DRIVE

The Illinois Commece commission yesterday resumed its hearing on the petition of the Lincoln park board for the removal of street car tracks in Lake Shore drive between Chicago and Grand avenues, with the testimony of two business men who have interests in the district involved. They were Bertram M. Winston of Winston & Co., real estate, and Lawrence H. Whiting, president of the Boulevard Bridge bank, who is a director of the Chicago Riding club.

Both witnesses testified that the tracks, installed for temporary transportation during the Pageant of Progress exposition, constituted a menace to the public and a detriment to the property on the near north side.

"The operation of street cars on the drive is dangerous to pedestrians and to users of the bridle path crossing the drive," Mr. Whiting said. "Motormen speed around the corner of Chicago avenue into the drive. I have seen many accidents at this point, and in one a small girl was killed."

Mr. Winston testified that with contemplated improvements the district would become one of the most beautiful in the city. He asserted that real estate values would be greatly increased by removal of the tracks.

Statistics showing the increase in traffic in Michigan avenue in the last ten years, obtained during the last summer by counting automobile traffic over the Michigan avenue bridge, were presented by Lincoln park attorneys. It is the contention of the park board and north side real estate interests that congestion on Michigan avenue will be relieved by diversion to the new outer drive if the tracks are removed to permit full use of the drive.

SETTLE DISPUTE ON DRAINS UNDER ICING SYSTEMS

At an open forum held in the Architects' club of Chicago, members of the Illinois Society of Architects and representatives of the plumbers' union last night reached an agreement on the installation of drains beneath refrigerating systems. The tacit agreement was that drains would be installed only where the system was such that drains were a necessity. B. L. Cruise, representing the plumbers, stipulated that at least two systems needed drains—those using ice, and centralized systems using water.

A resolution, concurred in by architects and union members, was adopted. It urged that builders discuss their refrigertaing plans with architects and ask the advice of architects. Another resolution recommended that all drain and sewer pipes in the building walls be of iron construction.

The use of drains under mechanical cooling systems has long been a point of contention. The plumbing contractors have assumed the position that drains are required by the building code. Thomas J. Claffey of the city health department explained that at the time the code was drawn up mechanical refrigeration was unknown and such a rigid requirement was not intended. A new code is being prepared.

Kidney Trouble

"—too bad more people don't know the merits of Mountain Valley Mineral Water," writes a man who has known years of suffering. If you have been bothered with headaches, backaches, nervousness, dizzy spells or other symptoms of kidney disorders you should investigate the records of this famous mineral water during the past 75 years. It is a mineralized alkaline diuretic which helps Nature to restore the health of the kidneys. It helps promote elimination through the other excreting organs—and thus avoid overburdening the kidneys. Our booklet will tell you more. Phone for a copy today.

'ANNOUNCE BAN ON IDLENESS IN STATE PRISONS

Director Rodney H. Brandon of the Illinois department of public welfare announced a policy in dealing with state prisoners yesterday which included the maxim, "No physically fit man should ever spend a single idle day in prison." Rehabilitation of the prisoner and the paroled man will be the object of the department in the coming years, he said.

"It is by understanding," said Mr. Brandon, "that experience has proved that one out of five of all persons convicted for crime should never be incarcerated." He urged the scientific study of each individual convicted.

Prison labor, he said, should first accomplish the necessary tasks within the prison and all surplus labor should be directed toward producing for the state "and its political subdivisions those things which they are in the market to buy, at a price bringing no loss to the state and no profit to prison labor above reasonable overhead."

It is Mr. Brandon's view that the real purpose of incarceration is to develop penitence.

Insists State Laws Are Ample to Smash Crime.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—President Hoover in the wake of developments indicating a federal offensive against Chicago gangsters made it clear today that, although the government is doing what it can under existing laws, full responsibility for curbing gang lawlessness rests upon the local city, county and state governments.

In a concisely worded statement issued at the White House the President denied reports that he will seek further legislation from congress to cover racketeering and declared that what is needed is "a more widespread public awakening to the failure of some local governments to protect their citizens."

Reflects on State Sovereignty.

Even the suggestion that congress should pass more federal laws to save cities from their public enemies, he asserted, is "a reflection on the sovereignty and stamina of state government."

"The report that I am proposing to congress any extension of the federal criminal laws to cover racketeering is untrue," said the President. "Every single state has ample laws that cover such criminality. What is needed is the enforcement of those laws, and not more laws. Any suggestion of increasing the federal criminal laws in general is a reflection on the sovereignty and the stamina of state government.

"The federal government is assisting local authorities to overcome a hideous gangster and corrupt control of some local governments, but I get no satisfaction from the reflection that the only way that this can be done is for the federal government to convict men for failing to pay income taxes on the financial product of crime against state laws.

Calls for Public Awakening.

"What we need is a more widespread public awakening to the failure of some local governments to protect their citizens from murder, racketeering, corruption and other crimes, and their rallying of support to the men in these localities that are today making a courageous battle to clean up these places."

Attorney General Mitchell followed up the statement from the White House by reiterating his view that criminal law enforcement essentially is a local problem.

"A few days ago I announced that we have been strengthening all of our forces in Chicago," said the attorney general. "That is true. But we are not trying in any way to usurp the functions of the state and local governments."

It was apparent from the new statements by the President and Mr. Mitchell today that they were disturbed over the impression given that the federal government intended to assume the full burden of wiping out lawlessness in the big cities.

20 CUSTOMS MEN HELD IN DETROIT FOR RUM GRAFT

Charged with Accepting Canadian Bribes.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Twenty United States customs border patrolmen were taken into custody today by special treasury agents for questioning about Detroit river liquor graft, the Free Press says.

Canadian brewers are alleged to have paid bribes to customs border patrolmen to insure uninterrupted passage for boat loads of beer across the Detroit river. Some brewing companies have evaded the Canadian anti-export law by establishing warehouses some distance from their main plants and diverting to the river truck loads of beer ostensibly en route to those warehouses. Along the water front the beer would be loaded into boats and smuggled into the United States.

Revoke Brewery Licenses.

Licenses of two Ontario breweries, the Walkerville Brewing company of Walkerville, and the Hofer Brewing company of La Salle, were revoked yesterday after they had been convicted of selling beer through unauthorized channels.

Warrants for several of the patrolmen are held by the investigating agents and will be used if the patrolmen cannot explain actions the agents claim to have uncovered. The patrolmen will be taken before the federal grand jury tomorrow to explain actions which investigators consider suspicious.

Directed Inquiry in 1928.

The investigation is in charge of Elmer J. Lewis, customs department investigator, who directed the investigation of two years ago which resulted in the indictment of 23 customs border patrolmen and 19 liquor smugglers, many of whom now are serving prison sentences.

The present investigation is expected to result in a greater expose than that of 1928.

Col. Heinrich A. Pickert, collector of customs, could not be reached tonight for a statement.

POSSE CAPTURES A BANK ROBBER IN GUN BATTLE

Lincoln, Ill., Nov. 25.—(AP)—A bandit who robbed the Latham State bank this morning and attempted to lock employés and a customer of the bank in a vault was shot down when he opened a gun battle with a posse which had pursued him to within a mile of Lincoln. He was taken to the Lincoln hospital in a serious condition.

Employés said the robber entered the bank and ordered them into the vault. When he was unable to lock the door the robber commanded them to lie on the floor and stay there half an hour. After taking $400 he ran from the building and drove away in a car that he had parked near by.

Those in the bank were E. M. Culp, cashier; Amos Elliott, assistant cashier; G. E. Volle, a bookkeeper, and Merle Miller, a customer. As soon as Worth left, they organized the posse.

Worth's car was overtaken by Amos Elliott, assistant cashier, and three other men. When they ordered the bandit to stop he shot at them. The posse returned his fire, hitting him in the face.

WOMAN FACING DRY LAW TRIAL TAKES OWN LIFE

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Choosing to die rather than face trial as a prohibition violator, Mrs Elizabeth Meachard, 57 year old widow, committed suicide here today. Her body was found slumped in a chair over two open gas jets.

Mrs. Meachard's home had been raided Monday night by local police, who had obtained a search warran on the basis of a liquor buy. They confiscated twenty pints of beer and dumped over sixty bottles that had not been capped.

Because Mrs. Meachard had been in ill health and under care of a physician, she was not placed under arrest, but was allowed to remain at her home.

Mrs. Meachard had never been arrested. Had she been convicted of a liquor sale she would have faced a mandatory prison sentence of not less than one year under the stringent Culbertson prohibition law.

The case is the second of the kind recorded here within the past half year. Erie Warren, 43, took poison on the day he was to appear in court to face prohibition charges jointly with his aged father.

EASE DRY LAW? ROBINSON HAS NOTHING TO SAY

Against Repeal; Silent on Modification.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—While opposing repeal of the 18th amendment and predicting that the Democratic party in 1932 would not declare for such action, Senator Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], who was Alfred E. Smith's running mate in 1928, refused today to comment on the question of modification of prohibition laws. Senator Robinson has been recognized as a dry and his unwillingness to discuss modification was construed as confirmation of rumors that he might be willing to accept some sort of relaxation of existing restrictions.

Senator Robinson's reticence was given added significance by a declaration against prohibition by Bernard Baruch of New York, one of the leading contributors to Democratic campaign funds, who was one of his luncheon guests this noon.

Tydings Also a Guest.

Others at the luncheon included Senator M. E. Tydings [Dem., Md.], chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee; Senators Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.] and Claude A. Swanson [Dem., Va.] and Representative J. W. Byrns [Dem., Tenn.], chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee.

"I favor repeal of the 18th amendment or some modification of the Volstead act," said Mr. Baruch. "The country would fare better under some modification which would bring respect for law. The vast money that is now used to enforce it and prosecute criminals could be turned into the treasury to reduce taxation and stimulate business."

"I do not think the Democratic party will recommend repeal of the eighteenth amendment in its next national platform," said Senator Robinson. "I do not favor repeal of the eighteenth amendment and I do not think that the eighteenth amendment will be repealed."

"What about modification?" Senator Robinson was asked.

"I have no comment on modification," was his reply.

Works on Dry Law Report.

For nearly nine hours today behind closed and guarded doors the Wickersham commission continued its deliberations on its prohibition report, but what progress was made, if any, was kept carefully concealed.

The commission heard no witnesses and it was understood that the entire day was devoted to an intensive debate over individual written views as to what the report should contain.

Emerging from the conference room, Chairman George W. Wickersham was confronted by a crowd of newspaper men who sought to question him.

"I have nothing to say, nothing at all, as I told you before," was his only comment.

LEADING INDIANA MEN ENLIST TO END PROHIBITION

Form State Branch of Repeal League.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Outstanding citizens of Indiana were announced tonight as members of the newly organized Indiana board of directors of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. Included in the list are Meredith Nicholson and George Ade. Nelson A. Gladding, Indianapolis saw manufacturer, is chairman of the Indiana division of the association, and Ade and Nicholson, with Arthur F. Hall and J. Ross McCulloch, both of Fort Wayne, are national directors of the association for Indiana. Hall is president of the Lincoln National Life Insurance company and McCulloch is a banker.

The principal objective of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, active since 1920, is repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Organization of a full Indiana division of the association has been under way for several months.

Objects Set Forth.

Hundreds of Indiana citizens have long been members of the national association, says an announcement by Gladding, and the raising of the Hoosier state to full division status has come as the result of an insistent demand that Indiana take its place with other progressive states in working in an organized way for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, "this source of intolerable wrongs, having undermined our federal system of government, robbed our citizens of constitutional rights, fostered excessive drinking of strong intoxicants, bred corruption and hypocrisy, caused ruthless killing of men, women and children, and shown general disrespect for law and order."

Violates U. S. Rights.

The association claims further "that the eighteenth amendment is misplaced in the federal constitution in that it violates the fundamental American right of local self-government, as a result of which federal authorities exercise control over the habits and conduct of individuals, a right which fundamentally belongs to the various states."

Other members of the board of directors are former Lieut. Gov. F. Harold Van Orman, Judge J. W. Eggeman, and Judge James W. Ogden.

MANY MISHAPS TO FATHER OF 11 CAUSE SUICIDE

Anger over a series of minor mishaps, partly precipitated by a quarrel with his wife over Thanksgiving fowl, was believed responsible last night for the suicide of Josiah Gambler, 52 years old, of Alsip, father of nine children, and stepfather of two.

Earlier in the day, Gambler quarreled with his wife, Maude, over her plan to give several chickens to her son, his stepson, Henry Nagel. Mrs. Gambler ended the argument by going to Chicago. Gambler drove to Blue Island, nearby, to purchase a household accessory. Returning home his machine broke down. Next, the accessory broke while he was attempting to install it. Finally, his flashlight broke while he was trying to repair the accessory. He shot himself.

Because she grew corn at a cost of less than 15 cents per bushel, Hilda Finke of Elk Grove township yesterday was named winner of $50 and a trophy donated by a seed company. This is in addition to the honor she received a month ago when the 99 bushels of corn which she raised on one acre this last season was recognized as the best record of any Cook county student.

N. Y. Policeman Wounds 4 Bandits; All in Hospital

New York, Nov. 26.—[Special.]—After one of four bandits had shot and seriously wounded the proprietor of a café in Brooklyn early today, Patrolman Dominick Griffo, who was off duty, shot it out with the four gunmen, seriously wounding each one of them. The bandits, who were unidentified, and their victim, Joseph Milano, 37 years old, were taken to the Methodist Episcopal hospital.

Banker Returns with Deer Killed in Hunt in Canada

C. B. Mead, vice president of the Berwyn State bank, and his friends, Walter G. Le Vahn and Otto Vonesh of New York, brought back proof of their hunting ability yesterday. They returned with several deer killed north of Port Arthur, Canda.

OPEN VERDICT IN HOSPITAL KILLING.

A coroner's jury yesterday found that an unknown person or persons murdered John Webber, engineer, who was shot and killed Nov. 9 in the furnace room of the Little Company of Mary, Evergreen Park.

RUM BOAT PLANS PROTESTS ABOUT CUTTER'S FIRING

Providence, R. I., Nov. 25.—(AP)—A complaint may be made to the Canadian government that the British motor boat Good Luck, captured with 501 sacks of liquor off Black island Sunday, was fired upon and struck by machine gun bullets, Joseph Fitzpatrick, counsel for the boat's skipper, said here today. It is claimed that the coast guard destroyer Porter put shots into the stern and the fore peak of the Good Luck and fired two shots into a dory on deck. It is also claimed that the coast guard boat rammed the motor boat.

"RCA Radiotrons always in every socket"

This is the 24th in a series of endorsements of RCA Radiotrons by the leading radio set manufacturers.

COLIN B. KENNEDY
President
COLIN B. KENNEDY CORPORATION

RADIO ENGINEERS ADVISE:

Replace all the vacuum tubes in your radio set with RCA Radiotrons at least once a year. This is the only sure way to maintain good performance and minimize disagreeable noises and other troubles caused by inferior tubes. RCA Radiotrons will give you the maximum in selectivity, sensitivity and tone quality.

"MANY unnecessary radio troubles are caused by inferior tubes. The finest receiver is handicapped by poorly designed and constructed tubes. RCA Radiotrons are the unquestioned standard of scientific achievement in this field. To insure clear Kennedy tone, and maximum Kennedy performance, we strongly advise 'RCA Radiotrons always in every socket.' We unhesitatingly recommend them to Kennedy owners."

ALDERMEN DELAY ACTION TO OPEN POSTOFFICE SITE

Plan to Ask Government Officials to Explain.

A further delay in the construction of Chicago's new postoffice was precipitated yesterday as the result of postponement of action by the railways terminal committee of the city council on an ordinance which would clear the title to an air right site on which the government proposes to build the $15,000,000 building. The aldermen insisted that the city's rights in Congress street are not fully protected in the ordinance.

After listening to arguments both for and against the ordinance, the committee adopted the suggestion of Ald. John A. Massen [48th] to send invitations to Washington to have representatives of the treasury department, the attorney general, and the postmaster general come to Chicago and explain the situation to the aldermen.

Measure Cancels Easement.

The ordinance cancels the easement that the Union Station company gave to the city in 1914 for the construction of Congress street across the company's property. This easement, according to explanations, clouds the title to air rights between Van Buren, Harrison and Canal streets and the Van Buren street parcel post station where the government proposes to build the postoffice.

"The city will lose nothing by canceling this easement and will gain by expediting the construction of the postoffice," said Joshua D'Esposito, consulting engineer, who appeared at the meeting as a representative of the Union Station company.

"The government's plans provide for an arcade through the postoffice through which Congress street will run when the city is ready to open it and the Union station will continue its agreement to build a viaduct for the street between the river and the east end of the postoffice. That will give the city Congress street from the river to Canal street as provided in the 1914 ordinance."

J. B. Bowler Leads Opposition.

Opposition to adoption of the ordinance was led by Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], who declared that the committee should not waste any time on the proposition.

"The government purchased a site close to this present proposed one for $4,300,000," said Ald. Bowler. "What is the government going to do with that property? It is all right to develop air rights if there is no vacant property at hand, but there is considerable of it in that vicinity. If the government will give the old site to the city for a park I would consider this request for cancellation of the easement."

Representatives of organizations of business men and property owners appeared at the meeting. They expressed a willingness to approve the ordinance providing the Union Station company continues its obligation to build a viaduct between the river and the east wall of the new postoffice and providing the government does not put in temporary walls at the entrances to the arcade while waiting for the city to build a bridge across the river at Congress street.

SEVEN ALDERMEN QUIT COUNCIL TO TAKE NEW POSTS

Settle the Question of Holding Two Jobs.

Seven of the eight Democratic aldermen elected to new offices on Nov. 4 settled the question about holding two jobs by submitting their resignations from the council at its meeting yesterday. The eighth alderman, George M. Maypole of the 28th ward, delayed submitting his resignation because he does not assume his new office as state senator until next January when, he indicated, he too would resign.

The aldermen who resigned are: William D. Meyering [8th], who was elected sheriff; A. J. Horan [29th], elected bailiff of the Municipal court; Joseph B. McDonough [13th], elected county treasurer; George Seif [35th], elected clerk of the Criminal court, and Thomas F. Byrne [15th], D. A. Horan [21th], and Thomas J. Bowler [41st], who were elected sanitary district trustees.

With the exception of Mcyering and A. J. Horan, whose resignations are effective today, the resignations are to become effective on Nov. 30, the day preceding the inauguration of the aldermen into their new offices.

Committees Are Reorganized.

While there had been some talk about a concerted attempt on the part of the Democrats to stay in the council, the session yesterday proved merely a routine affair, except for the farewell speeches, applause, laughter, and even poetry which accompanied the resignations.

After the resignations had been accepted and the seats of the seven Democrats declared vacant, the council reorganized its committees and filled the committee vacancies left by the retiring aldermen. This task, too, was only a matter of voting to adopt the recommendations of the committee on committees which had prepared its reorganization appointments.

There was no opposition to the slate, except by Ald. Frank R. Ringa [39th] and Ald. William H. Feigenbuts [45th], who asked that they be recorded as voting against the appointments. Ringa wanted to defer action on the appointments, but Ald. John Clark [30th], who presented the slate, obtained a suspension of the rules and in the form of a resolution the slate was adopted.

Ringa Gives His Reason.

Ald. Ringa said he opposed the appointments because the northwest part of the city was deprived of any committee chairmanships by the reorganization.

The only gloom evident during the session appeared in a poem read by Ald. Byrne in his farewell address. Byrne, known as one of the wittiest members of the council, expressed regret at leaving his colleagues and read this verse: "Within that little globe lies all the pain and all the glory the world can ever know; 'tis called a tear."

The retiring aldermen were praised for their service to the city and for their records in the council by Ald. Clark.

Three New Appointments.

Three additional appointments to committees, besides those included in the reorganization slate prepared in advance, were announced. Ald. Joseph Cepak [22d] was added to the finance committee, Ald. Charles S. Eaton [5th] to the local transportation committee, and Ald. William A. Rowan [10th] to the gas, oil, and electricity committee.

Ald. Clark obtained the adoption of a resolution asking that Corporation Counsel Ettelson study the resignations of the aldermen and the ordinances declaring their offices vacant to make sure the proceedings conformed to the law.

COUPLE SERIOUSLY HURT IN CRASH.

Canton, Ill., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Wilford Gustine, assistant postmaster at Lewistown, Ill., and his wife, Genevieve, both 46, are in a critical condition at Graham hospital as the result of a motor crash late today five miles south of this city.

Elderly People Can't Risk COUGHS and COLDS

People who have passed the fifty mark realize that coughs and colds weaken the system and may easily lead to serious disease. They start taking Father John's Medicine at the first sneeze. They never dope a cold, because that merely leads to a false sense of security. They know that Father John's Medicine not only helps to break a cold right up, but that it is a simple food medicine that promotes health and strength. It contains vitamins that increase resistance to disease. If you have a cough or cold now, or if you catch cold easily, start with Father John's Medicine today. Take it regularly and colds will be few and far between. Just ask your druggist.

TEXAS-EYE VIEW OF CHICAGO SEEN BY GOVERNOR DAN

Moody Makes Comparison Gubernatorial Duty.

Austin, Tex., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Gov. Dan Moody insists that martial law and a couple of Texas rangers could wipe out the gangsters of Chicago, were Chicago in Texas.

Mr. Moody, tested in the wars with Pa and Ma Ferguson, holds the spirit of that ranger who went alone to stop an oil town riot, because, as he said, "There's only one riot."

Mr. Moody, some days ago, announced that if he were governor of Illinois he would proclaim martial law send in the troops and stop that foolishness in Chicago. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE commented editorially on his statement and today Mr. Moody replied in this signed statement:

"From what THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE calls 'the fundamentalist belt of primitives' to Chicago, the gangsters' paradise, and especially to the author of THE TRIBUNE'S editorial, 'O, Yeah,' greetings:

"Which shall be the greater crime, sporadic outbreaks of the lawless element or sustained rule by the criminals and their allies? Incidents of lawnessness and violence take place in Texas, as everywhere, but this state never has supinely submitted to an open defiance of law and its enforcement. Chicago might learn a few lessons in orderly government and good law enforcement from what THE TRIBUNE dubs 'the fundamentalist belt of primitives.'

Comparative History.

"Texas and Chicago both have a history. Texas has its Alamo, where patriotism reached its highest mark, and Chicago its Haymarket riot; Texas had its battle of San Jacinto, and Illinois its Herrin massacres in bloody Williamson following the civil war, and again in 1922; Texas had its glorious Goliad, and Chicago its federal martial law in 1894; Texas has sent a long line of distinguished men and statesmen to the halls of national congress, and Chicago has given them as an associate Oscar De Priest to represent a white electorate.

"Texas wrote her Declaration of Independence and successfully conducted a revolutionary war to establish a republic; Chicago has given the world its Bill Thompson to pick a quarrel with the king of England because American history was not written to suit his honor's fancy and to make his bonfire of school books on the shores of Lake Michigan.

"In Chicago they place men against the wall and massacre them on St. Valentine's day; an assistant prosecuting attorney is riddled with bullets as he steps from his automobile; and it has men more patient than Indians who formerly laid in wait for the Texas pioneers, for the Chicago assassins hold their machine guns trained on the floor of a florist shop until the right man appears above the sights. What other city can beat that record?

And More History.

"The author of THE TRIBUNE'S editorial must be a newcomer in Chicago. Has he read of the Chicago race riot of a few years ago? And the Cairo and East St. Louis race riots? What can he offer in the records of criminality as a counterpart to the crime of Leopold and Loeb? Can he find election scandals equal to those of Chicago?

"What other community can offer a governor whose name was cleared of the charge of misappropriating public funds at the cost of his personal check for hundreds of thousands of dollars? Can any other city of the United States give the newspaper readers of the world a story equal to the grafts in the Chicago sanitary district, where public funds were spent for wine, women, and song?

"You say Texas would look well in a map of Mexico—Texas would look well in any map. If we had Chicago in Texas or if Mexico had Chicago in Mexico the crime wave would be broken and the gangsters would be prosecuted.

"If, however, you consign us to Mexico, which, by the way, is a splendid country in which newspaper reporters are not members of warring gangs and therefore not killed in gang wars, I bid you adieu."

CITY'S LARGEST SHELTER TO BE OPENED TODAY

Army Supplies Cots for Jobless Men.

The largest shelter for unemployed men yet opened in the city will be made ready today to accommodate 1,000 jobless by nightfall. The lodging is at 712-718 West Monroe street and is established by the Salvation army in behalf of Gov. Emmerson's relief commission.

The men now quartered under Wacker drive will be moved to the new shelter this morning, and it is hoped that rolling kitchens obtained from the quartermaster depot at 39th and Wood streets yesterday will be ready for operation tomorrow to provide a Thanksgiving dinner for them. The Wacker drive shelter will be retained as a soup kitchen only.

First Use of Army Supplies.

The Monroe street shelter, obtained through the activities of the commission's housing committee, under the chairmanship of President Lewis E. Myers of the board of education, is the first to benefit by war department supplies. Besides the rolling kitchens, 1,000 cots and 2,000 blankets were drawn from the quartermaster stores.

Chairman Philip R. Clarke of the commission's financial committee, now engaged in collecting a $5,000,000 fund for relief, announced an anonymous $1,000 contribution yesterday and issued a statement, the burden of which was that "taking care of our own in this emergency is not enough."

Proposes Federal Reserve Change.

Congressman A. J. Sabath said yesterday that he will submit a bill to congress in the coming session which is designed to relieve business depression by enlarging the scope of the loan power of federal reserve banks. "I propose to widen the rediscount power of the federal reserve system," he said, "and authorize it to accept for rediscount additional securities such as municipal and railroad bonds and, with proper safeguards, automobile paper."

The Chicago Woman's club has collected about $5,200 of a $6,000 fund to establish a shelter for homeless women at 2416 Prairie avenue.

President Myers of the board of education announced that he will recommend to the board today that in the future employment of women preference be given to unmarried unemployed women rather than wives whose husbands are already working. He branded as "ridiculous" reports that married teachers were to be shoved out and replaced by unmarried ones.

BATHHOUSE JOHN WIELDS GAVEL AT COUNCIL MEETING

John J. (Bathhouse) Coughlin, poet, race horse owner, and Democratic alderman of the First ward, yesterday experienced a thrill. He sat on the rostrum in the council chamber and, by gavel and caustic wit, presided over yesterday's session as acting chairman. It was the third time in his 38 years as an alderman that he has been chosen for this duty.

After the roll of the aldermen had been called Mayor Thompson turned to them and said: "Ald. Coughlin will be the mayor for today." Coughlin, dressed in customary frock coat and wing collar, ascended to the rostrum from the floor, bowed low, and replied: "I deeply appreciate the honor."

In routine fashion the council proceeded with its business, interrupted occasionally by aldermen who convulsed the gallery audience with quips on the chairman's noted aversion to prohibition and concerning the speed of his racing stable. Characteristic of these were the words of Ald. Thomas F. Byrne [15th]: "Hey, John, why don't you take the shoes off your hosses and put them out to pasture?"

NIGHT COUGHING

Quick and Safe Way to Stop It!

Whatever it is due to—cold, catarrhal condition of the throat, dust irritations or smoking — night coughing can and should be stopped! Nothing will pull you down faster, for it not only deprives you of needed sleep, but it tears you to pieces.

At the first sign of a cough, take good old "Piso's for Coughs." It does the five things necessary to stop a cough and repair the damage done. It checks the cough spasm, loosens the mucus, opens the air passages and soothes the inflamed tissues. At the same time, it has a tonic value that tends to build up what the cough tears down. Only Piso's supplies these five vital effects and it contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach. Safe to give even to babies. All druggists sell Piso's in 35c and 60c sizes. Be sure you get "Piso's for Coughs."

Put That Cold on the Run

Get Results in 6 Hours!

Any cold that runs beyond 24 hours can run into something serious! But now you don't have to depend on any "maybe" remedy. Darol, a new-type cold and headache remedy, routs any cold in 6 to 12 hours. Two tablets every three hours with a full glass of water does the work. Changes the system from an acid condition to alkaline condition, in which cold and grippe germs do not thrive. Relieves headaches, also, and the pains and aches of neuralgia and neuritis. All without any bad effects on heart or stomach. Depend no longer on old-fashioned remedies that may leave the cold half-cured. Half-cured colds are a source of great danger. Get Darol and get rid of a cold completely and quickly. All McKesson Service Druggists and other independent drug stores sell Darol with a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. A McKesson & Robbins product.

FALSE TEETH

Can Not Embarrass

Most wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their teeth dropped or slipped at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little Fastetth on your plates. Makes false teeth stay in place and feel comfortable. Sweetens breath. Get Fastetth at Walgreen's or any other good drug store.

Stomach Pain! Nearly Died

Pain Ended Quick by Modern ACIDINE

"Was in a terrible state for years with acid indigestion," writes Mrs. Nellie Crouse of Kansas City, Mo. "After eating had such terrible pains in my stomach I thought I'd die. Would get nervous and numb, and my heart would nearly stop beating. Nothing helped until I tried ACIDINE. Now I can eat, sleep, enjoy life again."

That's what thousands say about this amazing prescription, ACIDINE. Entirely different from other known remedies. Contains the marvelous digestant, called Japtase. In laboratory experiments Japtase has been tested on certain starchy foods which cause so much stomach distress. It digested 800 times its weight of such foods in only 30 minutes. Five other scientific ingredients neutralize burning acid, soothe irritated stomach lining, stop gas and headache from acidity. End pain like a flash.

Don't run risks of serious and more painful stomach troubles. Costs only a few cents. Watch acid indigestion, burning stomach belching, pain, heartburn, bad taste, heaviness, gas and headache from acidity vanish. Eat, drink, smoke all you like. Results guaranteed. If not delighted, maker refunds money.

WINTER BRINGS NEW DEMANDS ON GOOD FELLOWS

Snow Adds to Hardships of Needy Families.

Winter is here.

The great majority of Chicago's children, sons and daughters of the employed, were out of doors yesterday laughing and shouting as they enjoyed the snow. Yet there were thousands of boys and girls, undernourished and ill clad children of the unemployed, who shivered in unheated homes.

On the eve of Thanksgiving, there is holiday cheer in most Chicago homes as families of the employed look forward to tomorrow's festivities. Yet in thousands of homes there are cold and hungry men, women and children to whom Thanksgiving is looked upon as merely emphasizing want.

Good Fellows Double Happiness.

Good Fellows, those with jobs who are helping those without jobs, will enjoy the holiday tomorrow with double pleasure, thankful for what they have and satisfied with what they are doing for others. And in 243 homes, there will be special thanks to the Good Fellows from 1,200 persons, mostly women and children, members of the destitute families who are being provided with necessities and helped in their struggles to become self-supporting.

Few of the Good Fellows are sending Thanksgiving baskets to their temporarily adopted families. With so much demand for the necessities of life, the Good Fellows don't encourage expenditure of charity funds for baskets that mean no more than a day or two of table delicacies for folks who want for bread.

With the arrival of winter weather, charities yesterday were flooded with appeals for help. The cold weather is also stimulating contributions. Thirty-one donations were received in the day's mail at the Good Fellow headquarters, in THE TRIBUNE offices at Dearborn and Madison streets. Every penny will reach some destitute family whose needs and worthiness have been carefully investigated. THE TRIBUNE pays the expenses of administration.

Wide Range of Donations.

The donations ranged from a Lake Bluff matron's check for $100 to the dollar bill wrapped in a piece of paper on which was written "from a housewife's allowance." They also included a $100 check from a Chicago women "to help feed the hungry"; $20 representing the proceeds of a card and bunco party given by the Lambda Omega Alpha sorority; $5 from "a bridge foursome"; and $1.50 from "girls of E. Lowitz & Co."

Tonight, the Seosa sorority of south side girls will give a benefit dance, open to the public, at the Chicago Beach hotel. All proceeds will go to the Good Fellow fund. Miss Charlotte Hubbard, president, assessed the members to pay the expenses of the ball. The hotel management donated its profit from the rental of the hall.

Twenty-five baskets, containing enough provisions for a week, will be distributed tomorrow to 25 needy families in the Irving Park police district, as a result of the efforts of Capt. Ira McDowell, and district merchants. Capt. McDowell raised funds through donations from his men and merchants contributed provisions.

Thanksgiving Jobs

"Help the jobless to have a job Thanksgiving," was the plea yesterday of Sally Joy Brown of THE TRIBUNE, who is helping the unemployed by turning over offers of work to the Illinois free employment service at 116 North Dearborn street.

"Send me a man who knows how to dry pick chickens and geese for the Thanksgiving rush," ordered Mr. B., whose butcher shop is in West 10th street.

Many others were insured Thanksgiving dinners by offers of work that came to Sally. Mrs. E. H., in the 7300 block on North Hoyne avenue, said she wanted some one to prepare and serve Thanksgiving dinner.

Offer Work for Women.

L. S., in the 6000 block on Ridge avenue, asked for a woman who would clean her apartment and cook her Thanksgiving dinner. She said she would pay 50 cents an hour and carfare.

Mrs. L., living in the 4100 block on Greenview avenue, offered 50 cents an hour, meals, and carfare to some one who would prepare a Thanksgiving dinner. Mrs. E. W., in the 5900 block on Winthrop avenue, said she wanted some one to help her cook the turkey dinner and to wash the dishes later. She offered 50 cents an hour.

Two women wanted cleaning done in preparation for Thanksgiving, making jobs for two more. Mrs. P., in the 7700 block in South Shore drive, said she would pay 50 cents an hour to some one who would wash her woodwork. Mrs. M., in the 1400 block on East Marquette road, wants her floor and windows cleaned and her apartment put in order tomorrow and will pay 50 cents an hour.

Other job offers were received by Miss Brown. Mrs. B., in the 3900 block on Fillmore street, found that she could employ a plumber at 50 cents an hour.

Calls with Another Job.

Mr. R., who lives on Pratt boulevard, offered a job to a man to polish his car recently. Miss Brown turned it over to the employment service, which sent a man. Mr. R. called again yesterday. The man did such a good job of it, he said, that his friend, Mr. D., wanted his car polished.

Storm windows—suggested by yesterday's snowfall—will be made for Mrs. S., in the 5800 block on Warwick boudevard, and the job will give another man money for a Thanksgiving dinner.

A job was created by Mrs. B., who wanted a boiler made ready for winter. Mrs. B. lives in the 5700 block of North Winthrop avenue.

A permanent $100 a month stenographer's job was offered by Mr. A. H., on West Adams street. The W. P. beauty shop on East 75th street asked for a barber to work three hours a day at $2 a day. Mrs. B., in Kenilworth offered $18 a week and room and board for a maid. The job will be permanent.

PLOT: TRAGEDY; LINES: COMEDY; SCENE: AUTOMAT

Broadway's Poverty Wears Spats.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Jack Frost has opened on Broadway and there is a wintry chill around the twenty-one vacant theaters that used to keep at least half a dozen dynamos busy illuminating their electric lights. There also is an icy wind whipping the shoe leather worn pavement in front of the Palace, where the jobless actor folk long have gathered to tell tall tales of great expectations, and they are moving on to new fields—but not far—only across Longacre square.

There in front of an automat restaurant on a wind guarded segment of sidewalk, poverty struts in spats and toasts its patent leather pumps on steaming grates. The hams, the mummers, and the stars of yesterday pass that spot and linger—for misery loves company and long endured adversity has softened even the hardiest of the troupers. But they are cheerful even in hunger.

20,000 Actors Idle.

"Hard luck?" queried the fellow in the brown checked suit with the turned up coat to hide a decaying collar. "Well, I slipped my last 5 cent piece into the pie slot in there (the automat) and, boy, was I hungry. What do you think happened? Two midgets hopped out. They are bunking in there. My racket? Sleight o' hand, but I had to eat the rabbits."

That is the way the jobless actor takes his trouble. It is just a gag. Various agencies estimate the profession has from 15,000 to 20,000 idle in New York.

They are floating in from the provinces, for there is no road business to speak of any more. When a New York show folds up it hits the road to Cain's—and Cain's is a theatrical scenery warehouse, the graveyard of the flops. Most of the out of work stage folks long ago have lost their warm hotel rooms and a lot of them lost their trunks about the same time.

Subway Circuit Dead.

In 1927 on Thanksgiving week there were sixty legitimate shows running in the Broadway sector and six on the subway circuit. Last Thanksgiving week there were fifty-eight shows running and thirteen openings. The same week this season finds forty shows struggling along, with only four openings scheduled and the subway circuit virtually dead.

An indication of the letup in activity may be found in the fact that 900 members—practically half—of the Stage Hands' union are idle. There are fifty chorus girls for every job, as there are a third fewer big musical shows this year than last, and so far as choruses are concerned the night club show, with about three exceptions, is on the blink.

SEE RED RUSSIA AS TRADE ALLY OF FASCIST ITALY

Big Economic Merger Predicted in Rome.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Nov. 25.—Business is business and in its name the Fascisti and bolsheviki, between whom Premier Mussolini has said time and again that there will some day be a struggle to death, can lie down in peace together, it seems.

Such is the quasi official apology put forth here today in explanation of the "love feast" at Milan yesterday between Foreign Minister Dino Grandi of Italy and Maxim Litvinov, Russia's commissar of foreign affairs. It is boldly stated by diplomats that the conference resulted in an agreement for the closest economic coöperation between the two countries. Observers agree that Russia has raw materials to burn and Italy has none, so what would be more logical than the most active trade relations with the soviet colossus on the Black sea and the rising of Fascist power on the Mediterranean!

This is the argument.

Italy expects lumber and wheat from the soviets. Russia will get automobiles and other manufactured products on long term credits in return. Russia is seen using Italy as an outlet for raw materials and Italy sees in Russia a rebirth of Italian trade and industry so she can regain a sound financial standing.

The fact that the bolsheviks and the blackshirts are getting together in this way is not at all astonishing, the Giornale d'Italia says tonight in an editorial as follows:

"One's raw materials cannot be blockaded in the Black sea by any other nations. It is natural that Italy's economic life should seek integration with Russia by means of an active exchange of products. Italian industry, unlike others, has remained isolated from every vast source of raw materials in spite of victory in war and the results of bad peace."

BRAZIL'S DEPOSED PRESIDENT ELECT SAILS INTO EXILE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAO PAULO, Nov. 25.—Former President Elect Julio Prestes, accompanied by his son, sailed today from Rio de Janeiro as an exile for Lisbon, Portugal, on the steamer Highland Princess.

Senhor Prestes, who had been a refugee at the residence of the British consul general at Sao Paulo, left last night under police escort and arrived at Rio at 8 o'clock this morning. A strong police guard accompanied him to the British embassy where he stayed until shortly before 2 p. m., when he was taken on a police launch and placed aboard the Highland Princess, which sailed immediately.

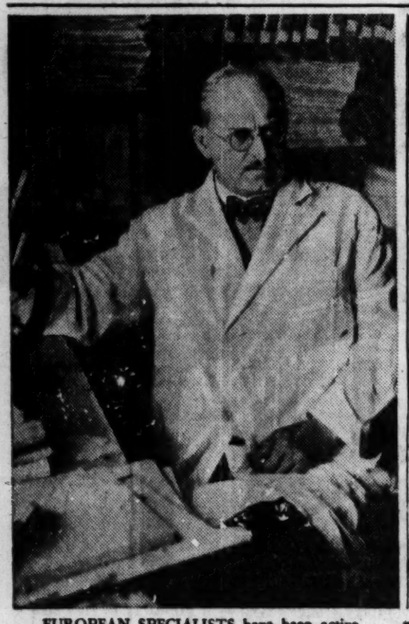
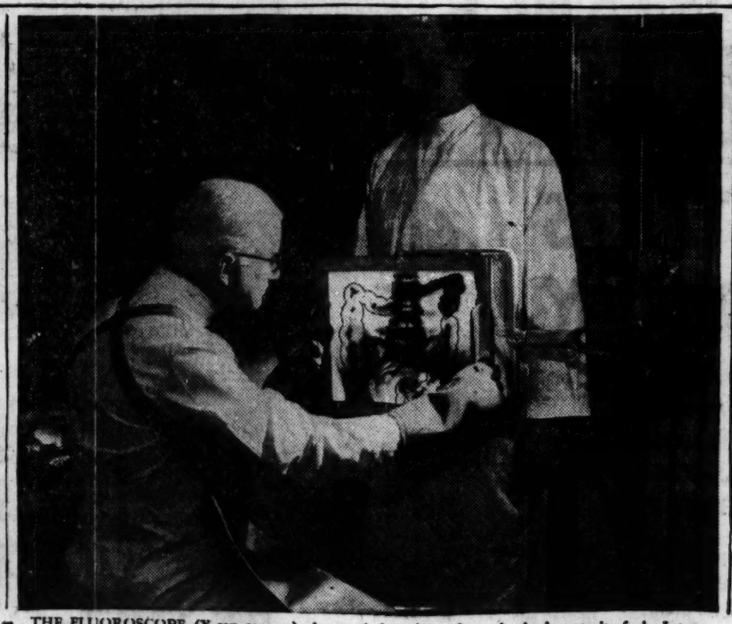
He Tells Thousands ✣ How to Keep Healthy and Well ✣ By Eating Yeast



EUROPEAN SPECIALISTS have been active in developing treatments for Intestinal Fatigue.



THE FLUOROSCOPE (X-ray camera) shows vital region where the body gets its fuel. Intestines must be kept clean and healthy, or waste matter gathers and dangerous poisons breed.

© 1930, Standard Brands Incorporated

FRESH YEAST cleans and tones up the intestinal tract by natural means. Eat 3 cakes daily.

Look at Yourself through the Fluoroscope

Here's where 90% of our commonest ailments begin...read why!

LET'S TALK a moment about your health. Your body. The way you feel.

Begin by studying the picture in the center, above. It's a fluoroscope in actual operation and it shows the intestinal tract, slightly retouched to make the photograph clearer.

Notice, in the picture, the shape of the intestines. All the food you eat must pass through this tube. You can imagine how easy it is for particles to become clogged. Instead of fresh, new food, the intestines have only waste matter from which to absorb nourishment. Fermentation sets in. And then, instead of nutritive elements, poisons are fed through the system.

You lose color. Your skin grows sallow and blemished. Reserve strength disappears, and you grow susceptible to colds and headaches. Appetite grows dull. You realize elimination is irregular, and vainly turn to cathartics and laxatives to correct an evil condition.

Doctors have long devoted study to this problem. And now they bring the welcome word that an old, old remedy . . . a remedy first scientifically tried 75 years ago . . . may be counted on to correct this evil.

This remedy is fresh yeast, the yeast in the familiar foil package with the Fleischmann label. Eaten as a food, three times a day, yeast accomplishes gently what cathartics and laxatives attempt violently. It moistens and softens waste masses. It stimulates intestinal action. It helps clean the intestinal tract by natural means. And vitality increases, reserve strength grows, energy returns.

You know glowing, abundant health once more! A clear skin, clear eyes, happiness from renewed vigor!

Eat Fleischmann's Yeast any way you like . . . so long as you eat it . . . 3 cakes a day. Begin it today and see how much improvement a few months will make. You can get it at grocers', restaurants, soda fountains. Directions on label. (Contains three vitamins—B, G and D.)

three times a day

Remember, it's important to ask your grocer for Fleischmann's fresh Yeast (with the yellow label) . . . the only yeast that contains the Sunshine Vitamin D! Every cake is "irradiated" to give it this added element so important for sun-starved indoor workers. It is rich in Vitamins B and G, too.

"We invade a new field with vastly improved cars at the lowest prices in our history"

BY WILLIAM J. McANEENY
President, Hudson Motor Car Company

WE have built these models up to and beyond the 1931 standards of performance and quality in every way, and have never in our history offered so many improvements. Quality is greater down to the last detail. Every phase of performance has been greatly improved, and the luxury we have built into the cars is substantially greater than ever before. Motors are larger and more powerful. An efficient system of oil cooling is introduced. A marked improvement in carburetion increases flexibility and economy. Bodies are longer and wider. These cars possess the finest, easiest riding qualities. For the first time, such comfort is available at these low prices. Only great manufacturing economies and the fact that our large resources permit us to take the fullest possible advantage of reduced commodity prices have enabled us to offer the public the greatest combination of quality and low prices in our entire history.

Owner-Management Permits Exclusive Value Advantages

Owner-management enables Hudson-Essex to give you outstanding advantages in quality and price. The men who are now guiding its destinies have been with the company since its inception twenty-two years ago. Its department heads and principal distributors are its controlling owners. Their independence is backed by unusually large resources in capital and plant facilities. It enables Hudson-Essex to lead in design and engineering quality. It permits economies in manufacture and distribution that bring exceptional quality direct to the public at distinct price advantages.

HOOVER DENIES CUSTOMS RULE AIMED AT SOVIET

No Conflict Over Convict Made Goods, He Says.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—President Hoover today issued a denial of current reports that the newly framed customs regulations against convict made goods were aimed at soviet Russia.

No trade conflict with Russia was intended, the President declared. Commerce with Russia, he said, was expected to continue normally as between any two nations.

From two sources, however, evidence came to light today to show that the Russian trade qestion may not be so simply settled.

Await Action of Amtorg Co.

Whether the Amtorg Trading corporation, the chief soviet commercial agency in this country, will react favorably to the new customs regulations, accepting the White House explanation, or whether it will choose to boycott the United States, cutting down the $75,000,000 a year trade with this country under the new soviet manifesto, remains to be seen.

In the light of this situation today's revelations before the house communist investigating committee assumed added meaning.

Visited U. S. Proving Grounds.

The committee, of which Representative Hamilton Fish Jr. [Rep., N. Y.] is chairman, listened with interest to the story told by Basil W. Delgass, former president of Amtorg, who had been recalled to give further testimony.

Agents of the soviet government, entering the United States as innocent business men, Delgass asserted, had negotiated the purchase of 400 Liberty motors which they secured by buying them from private citizens.

He told how one Baranoff, whom he described as chief of the soviet military air forces, and Khalepsky, chief of the technical department of the soviet general staff, had come to the United States posing as business men and had visited arsenals and army posts, chief among them the Aberdeen proving grounds, where they procured a sketch of the new American 75 mm. rapid fire gun. And he told how another Amtorg official, named Petroff, had toured the aviation fields of the country.

SPANISH CABINET GETS SHAKING UP; MINISTER OF INTERIOR RESIGNS

MADRID, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Changes in the cabinet of Premier Berenguer caused by the resignation of Gen. Enrique Marzo from the post of minister of the interior were approved today by King Alfonso.

Gen. Marzo said he resigned because he felt unprepared for the task of convoking the parliamentary election scheduled for March 1. His handling of the recent strike disorders in Spain has been criticized by the press.

In his place Premier Berenguer appointed Leopoldo Motos, who had occupied the post of minister of public improvements. José Estrada, minister of justice, was appointed minister of public improvements, and Montes Jovellar, undersecretary of the interior, was made minister of justice.

Maj. Ramon Franco, trans-Atlantic flyer, who walked out of an old jail yesterday morning and has evaded the police since, is hiding behind a new set of whiskers, the authorities now believe, and plans to slip out of the country under cover of their disguise.

Fear New Strike; Call Police.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

MADRID, Nov. 25.—Extra police have been drafted to patrol Madrid streets on the order of the new home minister, Leopoldo Matos. This order is believed to be the result of the ministry's receiving information that another general strike throughout Spain is planned for next week.

KING OF NORWAY CELEBRATES 25TH YEAR OF REIGN

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 25.—(AP)—King Haakon VII. and Queen Maud today celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their ascension to the throne of Norway with a simple commemorative service at the capital's principal church and a round of festivities at the royal palace.

Prince George of England, who is Queen Maud's nephew, King Christian and Queen Alexandra of Denmark and other royal representatives attended.

Platoons of cavalry escorted the king and his guests from the church to the palace between lines of thousands of cheering Norwegians, but the public buildings were bare of decoration, for the Labor party in control of the city council had decided that the municipality would not participate in the celebration.

Many gifts have reached the royal pair from all over the world. The Shipowners' association, representing Norway's great mercantile fleet, donated a large painting depicting Haakon's entrance into Oslo 25 years ago.

No emissaries of the Swedish royal family were present except those who are blood relatives of the Norwegian royal figures, such as the Princess Ingeborg, who, although wife of Prince Carl of Sweden, is a sister of King Haakon.

Although relations between Norway and Sweden have never been more friendly, and there is the warmest feeling between the Swedish and Norwegian royal families, the Norwegian people could not expect any member of the Swedish royal family to come to Oslo to celebrate the anniversary of dissolution of the union between Sweden and Norway.

The dissolution cost the Swedish royal family its rights of inheritance to the Norwegian throne.

YOUR INSURANCE PROTECTION MUST NOT LAG

MODERN business is restless with ambition. Never still, never satisfied, it constantly seeks new methods, new appliances, new uses. A ceaseless reshaping of practices, readjustment of facilities.

Not only has modern business required new forms of indemnity, but new manufacturing processes and new buildings of undreamed proportions have brought new fire hazards.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

has not only met the insurance requirements, but by research, engineering and laboratory tests has discounted the new hazards to such an extent that its average cost has constantly declined for more than twenty years.

Under the system of establishing fire insurance rates, Stock Fire Insurance company engineers have surveyed practically every commercial building in the United States, whether insured or not, and have on file minute details of construction, occupancy, protection, exposure and other information relating to fire hazards.

Stock Fire Insurance surveys buildings and their contents—studies neighborhood and community conditions—offers advice — makes recommendations — points out hazards—establishes facts by which risks are measured.

To this end it maintains Underwriters' Laboratories, where thousands of materials and devices are tested for safety purposes, and, when approved, are so labelled.

In many other ways it contributes to commercial stability by providing standards of safety.

Sore Throat Stopped In Three Minutes!

Amazing New "10-Second Germicide" Does It!

Any oncoming sore throat may be stopped in three minutes with McKesson's Extol. Three garglings of one minute each does it! As a germicide, Extol acts faster than any mouth wash or gargle heretofore known. Also more penetrating, which is equally important. It penetrates the folds and crevices in the mouth and throat. It penetrates the mucous membrane and reaches the germs that lie hidden underneath the outer layer of mucosa. In other words, Extol "gets" the germs that other antiseptics miss. That's why it clears up sore throat and head colds so quickly and thoroughly. That's why, also, if used daily, it will protect against infections and let you go through the Winter unscathed. Extol is utterly harmless, delightful in flavor, refreshing in effect. More economical, too, than other mouth washes. It not only costs less but may be used in more liberal dilution. Real protection for children as well as adults. Don't let your child miss a day in school on account of colds or sore throat. All McKesson Service Druggists and all independent drug stores sell Extol. Get a bottle today for your family's health security. Note the name, EXTOL—a McKesson & Robbins product.

Want to Look Young?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you 90 per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver, and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Can You Use 1500 Indian Relics?

ANTIQUES—COLLECTION OF 1,500 pcs., arrow heads, shining stones, battle axes, war clubs, Indian pipes, civil war guns, revolvers, etc. M. Blank, Hesperia, Mich.—From Art & Antiques.

Perhaps one of the most interesting hobbies is the collection of antiques. In certain sections of the country men make their living by supplying collectors with authentic historical relics of every age and period and of many races of man.

Relics of the American Indians are highly prized everywhere. Actually, the origin of the American Indian is still to be proven and associated with other races of the earth. Many persons believe them to be of Mongolian descent while others believe them to be a race unto themselves. Therefore relics that might help establish their identity with another race are highly prized.

"PEE WEE GOLF," NEWEST PASTIME, IS MONEY MAKER

One Contractor Revamps Business to Make New Profits

News writers, cartoonists and punsters have had much fun, and created much merriment with wise cracks about "pee wee golf," but the tremendous popularity of the miniature game has developed a much more important place for itself than as a vehicle for witticisms.

Miniature golf has become an entirely new source of profit for enterprising business men, and a new field for manufacturers. The popularity of this game has affected many established lines of industry. Real estate values for lots heretofore vacant, and held only as an investment, have taken on a new value as sites for golf courses. Iron pipe manufacturers have special shapes departments who do nothing else but turn out forms for hazards and putting greens. Saw mills have found a new outlet for sawdust, and rubber goods manufacturers have found a new market for low priced golf balls.

Opportunity for Small Investor

For the men, and women, too, who have a small sum of money to invest, a miniature golf course offers many possibilities for larger profits than many regular forms of investment offer. A golf course, attractive enough to keep patrons coming back for more, can be purchased and installed for as little as $600. Of course, lot rentals and employes salaries are extra.

Contractor Changes Business

Recently a general contractor, whose business had felt the recent depression, was induced to turn his talents, capital and staff into the more profitable channels of designing and installing miniature golf courses. Skeptical at first, he finally consented to place a want ad in the Tribune Want Ad Section, Business Directory. Response was immediate and almost overwhelming. Since that time he has been able to keep his staff of employes in jobs, and make for himself profits he had not thought possible just a few months before.

Look in the Business Directory

If you really want to know the proportions to which miniature golf has grown, just turn to the Business Directory Column in the Sunday Tribune Want Ad Section. Equipment of all types for golf courses is offered there—courses, greens, decorations [for indoor and outdoor courses], etc. Perhaps those things listed will suggest an idea to you either that you can turn your business toward making equipment for golf courses or to install a course of your own.

The indoor golf season is just starting, and therein lies the opportunity for many persons to earn a good income this winter. Why not think of this game seriously and consult the Business Directory in the Tribune Want Ad Section for equipment?

"Largest Want Ad" Tells of Auction Sale of Alton R. R.

One of the largest want ads to be run in the Tribune for some time past was the legal notification to the public of the sale at auction of the Alton railroad lines. This large want ad occupied six full columns and three inches more of another column, totaling 2,872 agate lines [14 agate lines to the inch], and appeared in the November 19th edition of the Tribune Want Ad Section. If you can't afford to buy a whole railroad, perhaps you can buy a Pullman car, and be sure that you'll always have a lower berth!

Late Flivver Arrives in Time to Win the $3 Prize

Miss Eileen Connolly, Cherry, Ill., and her old "Jalope" are on time for once in their lives. The old crate brought its owner around just in time to pick up $3. Eileen found a place to sell her wreck, and we hope she gets more than $3 for it.

P. A. Considine, 1211 Atkinson avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., evidently doesn't know that we have so many theaters here in Chicago that the loss of one would not be noticed until it was found in someone's safety deposit box. As for the envelope, well, we always make 'em bigger and better in Chicago!

The Magic that is Chicago; What Made It Possible?

Compare the low, drab buildings of the Chicago of 1849, when the Chicago Board of Underwriters was formed, with the towering skyline of today. Compare those dreary streets with proud Michigan Boulevard and other thoroughfares.

Man has wrought wondrous things in this magic city, but he had to have the service of credit, financial stability, sound protection, for his constructive activities. Stock Fire Insurance has made possible the steady, substantial growth which gives us the splendid Chicago of today.

The Chicago Board of Underwriters—representing the many services of Stock Fire Insurance in Cook County—is the oldest trade association in Illinois. As a result of the work of its engineers, its Fire Insurance Patrol, its constant effort to improve the city's protection against fire, and its regulation of insurance underwriting practices—the average cost of this protection has steadily declined.

In the membership of the Chicago Board of Underwriters are many Representatives of Stock Fire Insurance companies, well equipped to counsel with property owners concerning fire insurance problems, who will place your insurance in companies offering sound protection at a definite and clearly understood cost.

INCREASE ARMY, FINAL WARNING BY SUMMERALL

Insists 165,000 Men Are Needed for Safety.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Gen. Charles P. Summerall, retired chief of staff, warned today in his final annual report to the secretary of war that the strength of the existing regular army is entirely inadequate to facilitate a general mobilization of American troops in event of a grave national emergency.

Gen. Summerall said the proper strength of the American army if it is to serve efficiently and adequately as the basis for the mobilization of a war time army should not be less than 165,000 men, or an increase of 46,250 men over the present establishment. He pointed out, however, that the national defense act set 280,000 men as the strength which the regular army should have to insure proper preparedness for war.

Further Arbitrary Reductions.

Gen. Summerall stated that at the expressed wish of President Hoover he had recommended further "arbitrary reductions" in the war department budget for 1932, the one which will go to congress next week. The chief of staff did not state whether these reductions would require a further cut in the personnel of the regular army which has been slashed from the 280,000 men contemplated in the national defense act of 1920 to 118,750.

The Summerall assertion that the size of the regular army has been cut to a point where it no longer is adequate to fulfill national needs was but one of the high lights of a far-reaching report that dwelt in detail on the history of the American military establishment, its present defects and advantages, and its prospective future. His conclusions, based on forty-two years service in the army, four of which were served as chief of staff and two on the battlefields of France, are that the regular army must remain the heart of the American military system and that the infantry will remain the basic combat arm.

Other summarized conclusions and observations made by Gen. Summerall in his report follow:

1. That partial mechanization of the American army now is taking place and fighting machines will play a continuing greater, but not predominant rôle in American national defense in the future.

2. That it would be "extremely hazardous" to stop preparations for chemical warfare and trust for defense from gas attack solely to international agreement.

3. That the American army is extremely deficient in anti-aircraft defenses although offensive aviation has been greatly developed.

4. That the pay received by army personnel is so low as to make it impossible to maintain proper standards of living in the army.

Gen. Summerall said it was possible that developments in the international peace situation made it safe to maintain a smaller military establishment than was contemplated by the national defense act. He added, however, that the past decade has seen no reduction in the mobilization forces of European nations.

"It is possible, of course," he said, "to take the view that developments in the international situation in the past ten years have been so favorable that the state of readiness implied in the maintenance of a regular army of 280,000 men, as provided in the national defense act of June 4, 1920, is no longer necessary. If it is accepted that this situation exists, a temporary reduction in the forces considered necessary to a reasonable state of immediate readiness may be justified on the ground of governmental economy and the general national interest."

Gen. Summerall added, however, that in the past decade there "has been no reduction in the mobilization forces of foreign nations in trained troops," while the "number of men under arms throughout the world is greater than at any previous epoch in the peace time history of mankind."

Does Your Automobile Insurance Policy Say What YOU Think it Does?

Most motorists believe that if their car should be burned or stolen, their insurance company will pay them the amount stated in the policy. The fact is, however, that the amount named in the policy is a valuation used to determine the cost of the insurance, the rate for fire and theft insurance being a certain price per hundred dollars of valuation.

The policy says that in the event of a total loss you will receive an amount not to exceed the actual loss sustained, the settlement to be agreed upon by you and the adjuster for the insurance company. If you fail to agree, the claim will be arbitrated. This is the usual policy, which is known in the insurance world as the "non valued" form.

Then there is the "valued form" policy. Under the terms of this policy you are paid the face value of the policy, the amount on which you have paid premium, should you suffer a total loss.

The Inter-Insurance Exchange of the Chicago Motor Club issues a VALUED FORM POLICY.

This policy also covers loss of spare tires and accessories, without additional charge.

Subscribers who have claims deal directly with the home office. There is no delay in waiting for authorization for payment of a claim. Red tape forms no part of the organization. It is not necessary for the motorist insured with the "exchange" to wait for the decision of a "higher up" in a far distant city. Home office service makes for speedy settlements.

During 1929 the Inter-Insurance Exchange of the Chicago Motor Club sold automobile insurance amounting to $3,894,706.04, which is more than any other company, stock, mutual or reciprocal, writes in Illinois. During the year the "exchange" returned cash savings to subscribers amounting to $711,332.11. This service, as well as other services rendered, is available only to members of the club.

Other services of the club are: Free mechanical first aid and towing service at any hour of the day or night, home district service, which attends to special conditions around your home, such as seeing to it that refuse is promptly removed; accident prevention work, which seeks to cut accidents, especially among school children, by means of safety posters and by fostering schoolboy patrols; travel service, which provides you with maps, logs and the most complete and up to the minute advice on road conditions; and bail bond service, which guarantees your appearance in traffic violation cases, where a bond not in excess of one hundred dollars is demanded.

PROBLEMS OF BAIL.

Judges are properly vested with a large discretion in applying the principle of bail and the fixing of bonds in accordance with the offense charged and the circumstances of the defendant. It would not be conducive to the efficient enforcement of the laws to make rigid rules, but it is also undesirable that judges should permit themselves to be governed by narrow or conventional formulas. The Illinois Supreme court in a recent case has quite properly pointed out that bail should not be fixed with the purpose of defeating the right of bail—that is, at a sum so great as to be clearly impossible for a defendant to secure it. This, of course, would in effect be repealing the statutes which grant the right of bail to persons charged with certain crimes and putting them by judicial act in the class of unabailable offenses.

Nevertheless, the vesting of the discretion in the judge to fix bail imposes upon him the duty to use that discretion so that the right of bail shall not be abused. Some of the critics of recent high bail have not considered this aspect of the question. Habitual crime—organized, commercialized law-breaking—has financial resources unknown to the individual criminal, who was our chief problem until recent years. This fact should enlighten the discretion of the judge. It is also a fact that notorious malefactors use their liberty, obtained under bail, to coerce or even to remove witnesses against them, as in the attempt to murder Sergt. James McBride. The man Maddox, who, Judge David believes, if he is correctly quoted, is merely a petty thief, is believed by McBride and by the prosecuting authorities to have been one of those who attacked the latter with the object of preventing him from testifying in a murder case now pending. This is not the act of a mere petty thief, and the gravity of the offense, as well as the danger to McBride or other witnesses, clearly calls for a very high bail, and, in our opinion, indeed, should not be bailable at all.

Statute law can never be expected to keep up with changes of conditions, but it is the duty of an enlightened judiciary to use such discretion as the law vests in it, broadly in the light of existing conditions, to prevent the defeat of justice. If it is unlawful for a judge to so use his discretion as to deprive a defendant of a right of bail secured to him by the law it is nevertheless his duty to exercise his discretion so as to prevent so far as is possible the abuse of the right of bail and the defeat of justice. No doubt the whole subject of bail bonds is in great need of thorough review by the legislature to meet existing conditions. We think this subject should be studied by the bar association and by other civic associations, notably the Chicago crime commission, so that well considered recommendations may be presented at the next session of the legislature. But meanwhile the judiciary is in duty bound to take judicial notice of conditions and to make the fullest use of its lawful discretion to correct as far as possible without new legislation flagrant abuses and weaknesses in the procedure of bail.

THE BRIDGE NUISANCE.

The report of the city harbor master on bridge openings deserves the attention of the council, the federal authorities and a community which has found its appeal for relief rather grudgingly heard. Especially striking is the report of bridge tenders that the craft which open the bridges oftenest are the four sand barges. Their owners evidently have a strong political pull. We welcome real ships engaged in commerce and do not favor regulations which unreasonably restrict their proper use of the river. But the sand barges are not interstate commerce but local conveniences like trucks and the building material they load can and should be carried in craft so constructed as to go under the bridges and thus avoid the economic loss and public inconvenience for which their service does not compensate the city. Sand can be and should be conveyed in low barges. If this involves some increase in expense it is far offset by the loss to the public which the use of the present carriers involves.

The recent change in bridge hours has only slightly relieved the situation and further relief is needed.

CHARLES H. MARKHAM.

Charles H. Markham, chairman of the board of the Illinois Central system, was the latest, if not the last, of the great railroad builders of the west. Perhaps it would be more accurate to speak of him as the founder of a new school of railroad builders, for it was his task not so much to lay rails in virgin territory as to refine and modernize the equipment of an existing system.

Though the kind of construction which marked his administration differed from that of an earlier day, he shared with the greatest of his predecessors their confidence in the future of the country and their determination to share in it. Accordingly, we find him encouraging the establishment of new industries in the south, particularly at New Orleans, by expanding the Illinois Central's terminal and port facilities. Again he is constructing the Edgewood cutoff in Illinois to shorten and cheapen the north-south freight haul. Again he is the first and the only railroad executive in the Chicago area to grasp the value of electrification in building suburban traffic, in creating good will, and in adding to the value of the railroad's real estate holdings.

Mr. Markham's influence on his own railroad and the region it serves has been profound. We can hope that the success which attended his pioneering efforts will encourage executives of other railroads to show a similar initiative and a similar confidence in the future.

THE AMERICAN.

The interview granted THE TRIBUNE correspondent, David Darrah, by the provisional president of Argentina, Gen. Uriburu, contained a statement which, in our opinion, is of very great significance. Gen. Uriburu said: "I think there is sure to be an evolution of a new race and a new type on this side the Atlantic. It is arising from the mingling of races and their having to confront new conditions and is producing a new mode of living and thinking of a more vigorous character."

This expresses a faith which THE TRIBUNE strongly holds and has frequently expressed. That it should be asserted by one of the leading men of South America renews our confidence in it and is a welcome augury of the future of our western world. The differences of economic and social conditions throughout the two great continents, differences of language, culture, and modes of thought and living, are in fact relatively superficial factors. Against them runs with increasing scope and force the main current of our common American life, which in truth, as this distinguished Argentine points out, is creating a new race, a new type of mankind, the American. It is this deep and powerful current which is drawing Americans of the south and Americans of the north together in a common destiny. Our varieties of race and cultural heritage are elements which will blend in due time and not divide. They will enter the main current to broaden, deepen, and enrich it. Our effort should be to develop mutual understanding and appreciation and above all a basic sense of our common Americanism, our common task of evolving the new type, the American.

AT THE GARFIELD PARK CONSERVATORY.

A friend of horticulture writes THE TRIBUNE the following comment upon the flower show at Garfield park, with which we cordially agree and would have our readers share:

"The pleasing spectacle of 75,000 of our citizens visiting a flower show on three successive Sundays is quite in contrast with activities which appear to appeal to many others, but which, we are sorry to say, are not as elevating or enlightening. The chrysanthemum exhibition that is being held at the Garfield park conservatory is known from coast to coast for its superior excellence and should be seen by every Chicagoan. It offers an opportunity to find solace in the allurements of nature for those in need of it; the soft quietude that is found beneath the luxuriant foliage of tall palms is both soothing and appealing. Flowers are our friends and no citizen is too high or too low to enjoy them. The conservatory is one of our notable institutions and the west Chicago park commissioners are to be congratulated on bringing joy to thousands. Primarily it is operated for the pleasure of our people, but it is filling a great need in making it possible for school children, students, horticulturalists, and flower lovers generally to spend many hours amid exotic vegetation. Four and a half per cent of Chicago's 3,500,000 population will see this remarkable exhibition, but it is our hope that every one will do so, and especially now, when discord, intrigue, unhappiness, and dissatisfaction appear to prevail. A visit to this place is good for the soul."

The show is in its last week and a visit should not be postponed.

AFRICA IS COLLEGIATE.

A current African sound picture might prove of considerable interest to persons concerned with higher education in the United States, particularly that part showing the tribal ceremonies preparatory to a lion killing. They are unquestionably collegiate. In these days of rapid interchange of ideas it would be only a guess, without a careful study, whether the African lion hunters got their ceremonies from the American colleges or the colleges got them from the Africans. They might come from broadcasts of football games picked up on the chief's radio or they may be truly primitive and imitative in the American institutions of higher learning.

The resemblance is a close parallel in sound and motion, and, unless it is Hollywood in Africa, the rah, rah is African and the cheer leader is as natural as the jumping impala. Before and after the lion hunt the native behavior is as collegiate as anything which can be observed of a Saturday afternoon on any well organized football field, with one exception. The selected males of the tribe, trained and disciplined for this samural game, are themselves the principal actors in the ceremonial proceedings, while the football players are noted for a detachment from the ritual. They appear to hold themselves notably aloof and to be unpreceptive of the mechanics of putting the occasion in the heat.

If the colleges are getting their behavior from primitive Africa the players in later years will come to take part in the dance and chants. The first team which makes itself the core of the preliminary ecstasies may turn loose a perfect dervish irresistibility. When the players get into the ceremony the big show will be bigger and better.

A PERSISTENT SURPLUS.

[Sioux City Journal.]

Chairman Legge of the federal farm board has explained that it is impossible to stabilize farm markets affecting a particular crop when there is a persistent surplus year by year. Seasonal surpluses, he admitted, could be handled with some success, and by this he meant that the farm board could step into the breach when an unexpected heavy yield affected the market.

The main obstacle, in Mr. Legge's opinion, is the continuous surplus accumulation. It is one that constantly is growing larger, and it must be apparent to any one, even the farmers, that there always is a limit to which federal aid could be carried. Therein lies the danger of anything approaching a subsidy.

Thus one sees why Mr. Legge, since becoming a member and chairman of the federal farm board, has importuned farmers to reduce acreage and make the adjustment on the farm rather than to appeal to the government to make it in the market by absorbing surpluses in whole or in part. Control of production is the secret of successful farming, as it must be the success of any business. That is what Mr. Legge has tried for more than a year to tell the country. When surpluses are constant and funds in the hands of the federal farm board are not, it must follow that their absorption cannot go on indefinitely. The law of supply and demand, or a close approach to it, is safer and more sensible.

CATCHING COLDS.

Of all the diseases of the human animal the common cold is the most frequently suffered and from some angles it is the most important. Dr. Blanton says that people average 1.7 colds each year. Most of these come during the late autumn, the winter, and the spring. In Dr. McLean's study the cold rate began rising in the autumn and reached its peak in December. Then the rate of primary colds commenced a decline which lasted until June.

The prevalence of colds among those who are "all the time catching cold" did not follow the same curve. Dr. Smillie, who has studied colds in many parts of the world, has found that there is a very low prevalence in the summer. Then follows a rise to a peak in October, then a fall, followed by a January rise. After that there is a fall to reach the June level, but it is characterized by a number of small rises—the line has a wavy effect.

In the tropics the people have many colds, but they are mild and rarely are they complicated by middle ear diseases or sinus infection, pneumonia, or bronchitis.

Dr. Blanton gives the average duration of disability due to a cold as four days. This seems rather longer than most people experience, but the sum total of days of incapacity or low efficiency caused by coryza is very much greater than is that caused by any other disease. For each three hundred colds there is one death, usually from pneumonia or some kindred disorder, according to Sydenstricker. The experience of the United States army about coincides with that of Dr. Sydenstricker.

Among the conclusions of a study made by Dr. McLean in Birmingham, Ala., are these:

Weather conditions had little or no effect on the prevalence of colds.

Colds come in waves or epidemics, but we know little about the cause of these waves.

The rate of colds among people who are not "cold catchers" varies according to season.

The "cold catchers," those very subject to repeated colds, have about the same amount of trouble in the different months and seasons.

The removal of tonsils and adenoids is not much protection against catching cold. This is true of the repeaters as well as of the incidental performers.

POLLEN CAUSES HAY FEVER.

Mrs. L. Y. P. writes:

Please tell me the cause of hay fever. In July I began sneezing early in the morning, then my nose would close and hot water pour from my nostrils until noon. When all cleared I did not seem to have a cold until the next morning, when it started in again. Now my nose stays closed most of the time. I have to breathe through my mouth, which causes my throat to become irritated and my chest has begun to hurt.

REPLY.

Hay fever is caused by inhaling excessive doses of some pollen to which you are sensitive. The most frequent offender is the pollen of ragweed. I cannot tell you at long range what pollen causes your trouble.

DIET SHOULD HELP.

Mrs. W. W. writes:

1. What should I do with my nine month old baby, who has an awful time with constipation? Castor oil and other medicines have little effect. When I give this at night I have to give an enema some time the following day. Are these harmful if given each day?

2. What method would you suggest in weaning a bottle baby and at what age?

REPLY.

1. Your baby is old enough for malt sugar, molasses, butter, and vegetable soups. As his diet becomes more varied he should be able to establish proper bowel habits. Of course, you have made matters more difficult by overdrugging. Cut out the drugs and rely on a soapstick, and discontinue that when you can.

2. Your child is old enough to wean now. Start with one meal a day other than breast feeding. Feed from a spoon or cup as much as possible.

HALL LIGHTS.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is the landlord obliged to keep all the lights burning in the hall after 11 o'clock. I live in a three flat apartment on the third floor. After 11 o'clock there is only one small light left on the first floor, the other two above it being pitch dark. The landlord says he cannot keep all the lights lit, but I claim it is a provision of law to do so.

E. R.

In 283 Ill., 271, 275, the Supreme court held an ordinance requiring light invalid on the ground that the city has only delegated powers which do not include this subject matter. It is the general rule that in absence of such an ordinance or statute the landlord is under no legal obligation to furnish light [36 C. J. 26 and 214].

SIDEWALK DISPLAYS.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—[Friend of the People.]—May I call your attention to the objectionable habit of the merchants in the 4600 block on North Rockwell street of using the sidewalk to display their merchandise? Besides being unsightly, a large number of people are inconvenienced, as the walk is quite narrow. Some merchants also utilize a portion of the walk near the curb as well as that adjacent to their stores. F. A.

Notices have been served on merchants referred to to desist from displaying their wares on the sidewalk. Assurance has been given there will be no further cause for complaint. JOSEPH J. BUTLER, Superintendent of Streets.

A QUESTION OF RESIDENCE.

Rapid City, S. D., Nov. 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Have I lost my residence in the state of South Dakota and title to legal transactions? I lived abroad for two and a half years, annually registering with the American consul, signing my residence as Rapid City, S. D. If I have lost this privilege, how long will I have to reside here to regain it again? Also how long does it take to establish a residence in Paris?

A. D.

Residence is largely a question of intention. The facts that you state would not be conclusive. We could advise to better advantage if you had stated the facts on which your question arises.

JUST FAWNCY!

Virginia Lee Corbin, one of the squawkie queens, has returned to Hollywood with the startling announcement that when the pictures began to talk she knew she must do something about it; so she went and lived in England for a year and now has a perfectly lovely English accent. We've known lots of American gels who went across the pond to get an English accent, but when they came back they still talked right through their cunning little snooties, and all the English accent they had was: "I say," "my word," "how perfectly ripping," and "well, rawthah," which is our notion of zero in English accents.

UPON HEARING RAVEL'S BOLERO.

It starts a plaintive, simple,
Melodic sort of phrase,
Which flute and horn and trumpet
And then the bassoon plays.

Clarinet and trombone
Pick up the melody
And play and play and play and play
The same monotony.

And then when harp and saxophone
Repeat it till I'm weak,
I can't help but suspect Ravel
Composed with tongue in cheek.

According to the critics,
In this unvaried theme,
There's delicate deception
And a master's scheme.

I only know that baffled,
And unaware of treasures,
I'm bound and gyved and fettered
By a few brief measures—

Until the maddening climax
Has slyly left me numb,
Mangled by an oboe,
Shattered by a drum.

And then for weeks and weeks and weeks
I'm crazy as a loon,
I eat and sleep and work and breathe
To that damned simple tune.

DAVIDA.

THE STORY CAME from Washington yesterday (it must have been rather a dull day down there) that since the beginning of this great country of ours ninety-eight men named Smith have been members of congress while during the same time there have been forty-seven congressmen named Jones. This looks like dirty work by the Joneses.

WE CAN'T for the life of us understand why the G. O. P. is moving heaven and earth and the other place, even talking of falling in line behind Sen. Norris' Muscle Shoals bill; anything to avoid a special session. But didn't the seven eminent Democrats say they wanted peace and harmony and would act nice and not start any rough house when the new congress assembled? We fear that the G. O. P. is just a tiny mite suspicious that some of the new Democratic senators and representatives are going to be very, very naughty little boys and sass teacher and throw paper wads and turn out to be perfect little hellions just as soon as they get a chance. And we shouldn't wonder if the fears of the G. O. P. have quite a little bit of foundation. Tck! tck! tck!

IF IT'S ABOUT DAN'L—

A young man from the publisher's office called on us last week and gave us a copy of Janet Fairbank's new novel, "The Lion's Den," but he swore us on Mr. Webster's dictionary that we would not breathe a word of the story until Dec. 5, when the book is going to be turned loose. He scared us so that we're afraid even to open the book until Dec. 5. But anyhow, if "The Lion's Den" is about the Dan'l that was thrown in the lion's cage we're not interested. Daniel gives us a pain in the knee; for hundreds of years people have shrieked how noble Dan was when he wouldn't squawk and say it was a bum rap even when they chucked him in with the lions. If Dan'l had to drive around now in an auto wondering whether a dry enforcement officer and a driver full of bootleg gin or a couple of bandits or a motor cop were going to get him before he got two blocks further he would have had something to worry about.

BIRTHDAY SONG FOR ROBIN MY NIECE.

She is a Princess in a Castle
Of Little-Girl-Land,
And over her country
Is spread the gay-gold light
Of nine o'clock in the morning.

Her blue eyes from under
The bangs of tawny colored hair
Survey a realm
From which the sweet mists of Babyhood
Have rolled away,
Revealing a day that casts no shadows,
Where Mysteries are only
The far off Purple Hills
And there are no creeping Fears,
For now, she stands
At nine o'clock

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 26, 1914.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Gen. Lucio Blanco, the man whom Villa and the convention had expected to maintain peace in Mexico City until Villa could reach the national capital with Provisional President Gutierrez, has fled. Emiliano Zapata, supposed by Villa and Gutierrez to be a supporter of the convention, has entered Mexico City after a brisk battle, has taken possession of the capital and has repudiated both Gutierrez and Villa.

LONDON.—Forty thousand Germans—an army corps—and possibly more have been wounded and captured by the Russians in the vicinity of Lodz, northern Poland, according to several news sources. The news sources from which the reports of this tremendous victory for Russia come say that the Teutons are in places in panic stricken flight.

LONDON.—An official statement from Paris asserts that the allies have made gains at many points along the battle line in Belgium and France. It says that the Germans asked for and were refused an armistice following a repulse of an attack by their forces northwest of the great French fortress of Verdun.

CHICAGO. — Old Doc Hodgens [Isaac Walton Hodgens], king of quacks, was found guilty of operating a confidence game by a jury in Judge O'Connor's court. The punishment is a term of from one to ten years in the state penitentiary. Hodgens and his co-worker, Doc Charles Dupuis, were indicted recently by the grand jury on charges of conspiracy and confidence game. The trial jury freed Doc Dupuis but convicted "King" Hodgens after being out twenty minutes.

CHICAGO.—Here is good news for the army of straphangers! Subway planning sprang into life yesterday in the city hall. The service betterment subcommittee of the council committee on local transportation recommended reopening the subject for consideration.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 26, 1900.

PARIS.—In direct opposition to his cabinet, President Loubet has espoused the cause of Paul Kruger by giving him an official reception at the Elysée. While secrecy is maintained as to what passed between Loubet and Kruger, it is known that the latter appealed in strong terms in favor of intervention in behalf of the Boers. Loubet expressed deep sympathy and intimated he would use his influence to aid Kruger's cause.

CHICAGO.—George Scott of the wholesale and retail dry goods firm of Carson Pirie Scott & Co. died of typhoid fever at his home in Lakeside, Ill., after an illness of six weeks, at the age of 71. He became a partner in the firm in 1859. Another death of the day was that of William Hillard Wood, for over 40 years trustee of the Ira Couch estate, who died at his home, 308 Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, at the age of 78.

CHICAGO.—John Graves, alias "Red" Graves, alias John O'Brien, was formally charged by the police with the murder of Harry Farress, nonunion foreman for John A. Gauger & Co. Mr. Gauger declared: "We are positive Graves killed Farress and equally certain that members of the Amalgamated Woodworkers' union are responsible for the killing."

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 26, 1880.

CHICAGO.—Thanksgiving day was celebrated throughout the country as Thanksgiving days usually are. Many prayed and more feasted. Nonchurchgoers either stayed at home or came downtown to sample the eggnog.

PARIS.—Great uneasiness is felt in English and American circles here as it is feared that many Englishmen and Americans were passengers on the steamer Onkle Joseph, which was sunk in a collision with the steamer Ortigia near Spezzia with a loss of 250 lives.

LONDON.—During the eight hours' fighting which preceded Dervish Pasha's occupation of Dulgieno the Albanians made a resolute stand in the olive plantations outside of the town. A Ragusa dispatch says that the Albanians lost 20 killed and 50 wounded and that the Turkish loss was considerable.

CHRISTMAS SAVINGS.

Niles Center, Ill., Nov. 18.—The articles reporting that $24,000,000 will soon be released by the banks through the Christmas savings club medium recall to the memory of the writer the original purpose of the forming of these clubs to encourage the saving of moneys regularly each week during the year so that at Christmas time the people would have ready cash with which to buy Christmas presents, and would not feel the pinch of paying for the Christmas presents out of current income in addition to regular living expenses, or have Christmas spoiled by the worry of having to straighten out charges months after Christmas. But how much of the money saved in these Christmas savings clubs is now spent at Christmas time for the buying of Christmas presents? Not much, thanks to the greed of the bankers. They're not satisfied with using the money eleven months of the year with small interest to the savers, but they entice the savers with visions of making money on these lump sums by selling them bonds and keep the money in the bank. Within the last three years one of the banks had as high as $141,000 withdrawn from its Christmas savings fund in a single day, but last year it showed withdrawal of only $19,000 as its peak in one day. Why? Not hard times last year; the money had been saved, but the bank sold bonds to the club members.

The idea of normal buying is being promoted constantly in the daily papers. Let the bankers take heed; they were the first to cramp normal buying.

RIGHT YOU ARE.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—I believe that if all property owners would make an effort to have their buildings and premises cleaned, painted, and repaired, and unsightly, dilapidated, decaying buildings and sheds demolished and rubbish hauled away, it would not only enhance the value of their property but beautify the city and provide a great amount of work for idle people.

FRANK MOSCOW.

THE BAIL BOND BUREAU.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Why the added expense of a bail bond bureau when we can't pay our school teachers on time? Let the judges get the appraisals from the board of assessors, or refuse all mortgaged property. Furthermore, with a bail bond bureau a prisoner with legitimate bail may have to wait a week for release, while the habitual criminal with his tricky lawyer will get around these things. You know how.

HENRY NITSCHE.

WHERE THE GOLF FEES GO.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—At the beginning of the 1929 golf season the rates at both the Jackson and Marquette park courses were doubled. A few weeks ago I noticed in your paper an article stating that business had been very good at the courses and that some of the money was already being spent on improvements.

The Jackson park eighteen hole course has always been kept in far better condition than the Marquette course. Its fairways and tees are very much better and are kept in good shape all through the season. I notice also that it is now being improved with all new greens and other things.

Why isn't some of this money being spent on the Marquette park course, too? It certainly is very much in need of repairs, much more so than the Jackson park course. The fairways were never good—how could they be when the grass and the few trees planted on them are always starved for want of water and care? The tees were always poor, uneven, hard, rocky—really not fit for use by the golfers. As yet I see no signs of any improvements at all being made on the Marquette park course.

The fees are the same at both courses. I and many others who play golf at the Marquette course would like to know why it has been and is now being neglected.

HIGH SCHOOL BEHAVIOR.

Chicago, May 19.—May I suggest that, when the next high school semester begins, a course in discipline be added to the curriculum?

I ride the West 63d street car in the evening, being on the car when the students from the Lindblom High school board it at approximately 4:50, and I often wonder what the parents of some of these girls and boys would think of their offspring were they to see how they act. They push through the cars and have absolutely no regard for age, and when they themselves cannot make the front of the car they knock the other riders with their brief cases. They are, without a doubt, the most ill bred children that I have met, and I would like to know if they are allowed to act in this same manner in the school building.

Waukegan, Ill., Nov. 19.—In the 25 years ago column for Nov. 19, 1905, we read of "carnival of crime," "cells of the station houses full," "holdup men and housebreakers active," etc., etc. That was twenty years before prohibition, the mother of all crime. How come?

Edward Moore Writes of Music and the Musicians

By Royal Command

BY DORNFORD YATES

SYNOPSIS.

Richard Chandos and his wife Leonie, former grand duchess of Reichtenburg, are visited at their estate near Littai, in Austria, by George Hanbury. A telegram arrives from Petra Salm, countess of Dresden, an expected guest, stating that she dare not come. Prince Paul, ruler of Reichtenburg, had hoped to marry Leonie and was incensed at her marriage to Chandos. Fearing for Marya's safety, because of her friendship for Leonie, Chandos and Hanbury, with their servants, Bell and Rowley, depart for Vigil, capital city of Reichtenburg, where Marya resides. Because of the enmity of the prince they must enter the country in stealth. They drive to the frontier and leave Rowley with the car at a farm and proceed by foot. Attempting to find a passage across a raging mountain stream, they stumble across two men engaged in a furious fight.

INSTALLMENT III.

A FORTUNATE ENCOUNTER.

The heavy rustle of the water smothered what noise the fighters made, and the seeming silence of the struggle lent it the air of the fights that are shown on a screen. Indeed, it was like to have ended as some of these do, for all of a sudden I saw the flash of a knife.

At once I sprang forward and seized the one that had drawn to find he was uppermost and had his man by the throat.

Bell had a torch in his pocket and I called for a light.

Both men had the look of gypsies, and the one I had seized was cross-eyed. This blemish was certainly against him, but no excellence of feature could have redeemed his looks. I have never seen evil so written in any man's face and he eyed me with a malignancy that made me tighten my grip. Yes, I confess, with repugnance, for I might have had hold of some beast, so big and so thick was the hair which covered his arm like a close fitting sleeve. He showed no sort of surprise, but only a snarling resentment of my interference with his plans, and he never so much as loosened his grip on the other's throat.

"Let go," said I sharply, "and drop that knife."

For a moment we eyed one another. Then the man spat in my face.

"No, sir," said Bell, rising. "His heart's all right."

I suppose he was blind with rage, for he must have known that I was powerful and that he was at my mercy if it pleased me to strike.

Be that as it may, I hit him on the point of the jaw with all my might and then stepped over his body to bathe my face.

When I got back the other was sitting up and answering George's questions humbly enough. He was twice the age of his assailant and though he still looked a fine fellow, was obviously past his prime.

"Smugglers," said George shortly. "I can't understand half he says, but it seems that he brought the money and Lord Chesterfield didn't bring the goods. Sheer robbery with murder, of course. What's much more to the point, you've killed the right man. This wallah comes out of Riechtenburg, and he's perfectly ready an' willing to lead us back."

"I haven't killed him," I cried.

"No, sir," said Bell, rising. "His heart's all right."

"More's the pity," said George. "He'd be greatly improved by death. Never mind. Chuck the knife in the water and let's get on."

Two minutes later we were again under way.

It soon became clear that we were approaching a fall, and when we had covered a mile, we must have rounded some shoulder for the noise became suddenly louder and the air began to grow chill. Five minutes later we saw how the water came down.

This was by one great leap from a cliff some fifty feet high, and even by night the sight was very handsome—a mighty sheaf of white foam against the black of the rock.

Our way lay under the fall.

I will not dwell upon our passage which I think took a month from my life. Though I daresay there was no danger the path was narrow and ragged and drenched with spray while the darkness and the monstrous concussion made fair to dishevel the wits. When I was across I was shaking like a leaf, and it is still a mystery to me how any man heavy laden can pass that way.

So we entered the country which we had sworn to avoid.

Our way was now much more simple, for while we could still hear the fall we struck the bridle path which we had left at the bridge, and, just as the sky was paling, we came out on a pleasant upland to see open country below us and far in the distance a tiny pinprick of light.

I knew this at once for the level crossing at Vardar because I had been by that way.

"What could be better?" said George. "You go through Vardar for Vigil. Now all we want is a road. I think we can stick to the roads till half past five."

Our guide brought us down to a road in ten minutes' time and would, I am sure, have led us to Vigil itself, for, though he was a man of few words, he was plainly deeply grateful for what we had done. When we bade him good-by he uncovered and, pointing to heaven, said quietly that God would always save us if He would only be gracious to hear his prayers. Then he told us that his name was Ramon and that he was a smith by trade, with a forge in a village called Gola, some three miles off: "and there," said he, "you will find me if ever you stand in need, for from now I am at your service by day as by night."

We thanked him and bade him tell no one that we had met, and, with that, we shook hands and parted full of good will for honesty sat in his eyes and a child could have seen that he meant every word that he said.

We had now two hours before we must make ourselves scarce, and these, by the map, we were twenty-six miles from Vigil, we started along the road as hard as we could.

It was light ere we came to Vardar, and this made us think it was foolish to show ourselves in a village which might be awake. We therefore took to the fields and were lucky to attract no attention but that of a little girl who was herding some cows.

We had passed beyond Vardar and had come to the railway line when the murmur of an oncoming train suggested a means of progress of which we had never thought.

On all sides the world was stirring and in less than an hour now the sound of village and country would have begun, and though had we kept to by-roads I am sure that we should have been safe, the importance of concealing our presence from those it might interest magnified every risk. Add to this that we were weary and footsore, for though we were all very strong and "as hard as nails," in the ordinary way we did but little walking but spent our time in the saddle or on the front seat of a car.

When, therefore, I saw the metals which would lead us directly to Vigil, still more than twenty miles off, the idea of obtaining a lift leaped into my mind. Could we but board some freight train, to leave it again before it ran into the city we could then withdraw to some wood and take our ease: then, with a quiet mind until it was dark, for so an hour after nightfall we could be at the countess' house as ready as rest could make us for whatever should then befall.

When I made this proposal to George he leaned against the rough fence and wiped the sweat from his face.

"It's dazzling," he said. "My feet weren't made for walking: they're not the right shape. I want to lie down and stay down for several hours. But not yet. I must have some more miles behind me before I rest. And that's not the will to win: it's arithmetic. I don't know how far we've come and I don't want to, but I know that the next stretch I do has got to be done. I can go on now—somehow. I suppose I've got into my stride. But this is the sort of effort I can't repeat. Damn it, my legs'll come off."

I think he spoke for us all, for the thought of another forced march was scarce to be borne. But when I pursued my suggestion he cut me short.

"All sorts and shapes go by train. Why don't we go to a station and damned well take our tickets in the ordinary way?"

"Because," said I, "because in this cursed country every station platform is a regular beat of the police."

"So it is," said George. "I'd forgotten. Well, show me a slow going train and I'll do what I can. But I don't want to get run over."

I climbed the fence, made my way through some bushes, and looked up and down the line.

THE CAST:

Cherry Malotte ..... Evelyn Brent
George Balt ..... Louis Wolheim
Boyd Emerson ..... Joel McCrea
Fraser ..... Raymond Hatton
Mildred Wayland ..... Jean Arthur
Fred Marsh ..... Gavin Gordon
Quseenie ..... Blanche Sweet
Wayne Wayland ..... Purnell Pratt
Thomas Hilliard ..... William Davidson
Svenson ..... Ivan Linow

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

Sin, socking, suspense, a siren, and salmon are what this film is made of.

"The Silver Horde," adapted from Rex Beach's melodrama of Alaska, sings of how a noble hearted scarlet lady [Cherry Malotte] helps one Boyd Emerson compete successfully in the salmon fishing and canning business with an ornery and successful cuss who desires to wed the girl to whom Boyd is engaged.

Evelyn Brent's restrained and sympathetic performance is easily the best thing about this piece. Louis Wolheim scores next as the lady's bodyguard. Can't say much for the other members of the cast with the exception of Blanche Sweet, who has a brief but effective entrance. Jean Arthur is decidedly "ham"—if a pretty girl can be said to be "ham."

The picture has water and mountains, and provides informative views of what happens in fish factories . . . such as you have seen over and over again in the news reels. Sound, photography, and dialogue are passing fair.

There was a time in the history of the flickers when "The Silver Horde" might have been regarded as sumpin'. Today it's a little better than "just another movie"—but not much.

See you tomorrow.

NEW SOCIAL REGISTER ALSO IS NOTABLE FOR ITS SEVERAL ERASURES

New York, Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Perhaps there are headaches and heartaches on Park avenue today.

The reason?

The 1931 social register was mailed out and the author, it was disclosed, has made arbitrary changes in the lists of those who belong and those who do not. For instance:

Young William J. Willock Jr., who gave the blue bloods a frightful start when he married Adelaide Ingebreitsen, maid in his family's Syosset, L. I., home, found himself snubbed.

Eleanor H. Hutton, the daughter of the Edward H. Huttons, who went from Park avenue to Broadway when she eloped with Preston Sturges, author of "Strictly Dishonorable," was also left out. Eleanor's kinsfolk, the Franklyn L. Huttons, were also neglected.

Dr. Joseph A. Blake, who married his nurse, Florence Drake, after he had been divorced from Clarence Mackay's ex-wife, the mother of Mrs. Irving Berlin, also found his name out of the 1931 lists.

Although they are said to have been divorced in Mexico, Florence Rice, daughter of Grantland Rice, the sports writer, and Sidney A. Smith are listed as Mr. and Mrs. Smith of 340 Park avenue.

Gene Tunney and the former Polly Lauder are not mentioned, although Tunney had a brief fling in the summer register when he married the Lauder heiress.

London Savant Talks Here Tonight About the "Peking Man"

Dr. G. Elliot Smith, professor of University college, London, who is to lecture at the University of Chicago tonight on the discovery this year in China of the skull of the "Peking Man," said last night that "Sinanthropus," as he is known, is the first of the prehistoric "men" for whom science has been able to fix a definite geological date.

The skull, the age of which is estimated at 1,000,000 years, is almost intact, according to Dr. Smith, who made a special trip to China to analyze it.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Frank D. Mitchell, late superintendent of the Home for the Incurables, was not national president of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, as was stated in an obituary notice in THE TRIBUNE Nov. 18. According to Tracy C. Drake, honorary president, the national active president is Felix A. Jenkins of New York. Mr. Mitchell, it is pointed out, was at one time president of the Northwestern Alumni association of the fraternity.

Panels Artist Gave to Dancer to Come Here for Exhibition

Two panels, each nine feet square and insured for $35,000, are on the way from the National Museum of the Louvre, Paris, for exhibition in the Art institute of Chicago.

The panels were painted by Toulouse-Lautrec, who died in 1901, for a street fair in Paris in 1895. They were his gift to the most famous dancer of her day, La Gouloue, "the greedy one," who died last year in poverty.

The parts, reassembled, will be exhibited here for three weeks beginning Dec. 23.

Expert Urges Better Chances for the Young

Psychiatrist Hints Society May Act Insanely.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

"Man is an organic fragment of an organic universe."

Upon this, his personal creed, Dr. Abraham Myerson, psychiatrist and neurologist of Boston, whose studies in inheritance among the feeble-minded soon are to be published by the commonwealth of Massachusetts, lectured last night before the annual meeting of the Illinois Society for Mental Hygiene at the Chicago Woman's club.

His subject was inheritance and environment, and its effect on personality. From his many years of observation and study in hospitals and institutions, he has come to regard personality as an interplay of these two great forces. He cannot tell how far one overreaches the other, but for all practical purposes society at present must work upon environment.

"Euthenics is eugenics," he said. "People write about crime and say nothing about the adjustment of society, a better social system. All else is playing around the edges. Wages, houses, sex relationships, entertainment, schools—these are the things to work with. Any program for mental hygiene can for the time being profitably concentrate on environment.

"Heredity is an inner force in the germ plasm. Environment is everything in the universe. They interpenetrate at all times.

"Quality is the result of hereditary power which has been fostered and altered by environment. Environment may allow it to express itself, act as a gardener tending his seeds.

"Man has the potentiality of being able to focus environment on the germ plasm and change its very nature. This is too dangerous to contemplate at present, for we have not sufficient ethical sense.

"There is no mystical substance hiding in the body. When one considers the size of the seed of man, one ten thousandth of an inch, and then considers the immensity of the universe, it makes too much responsibility for the germ plasm to carry all of personality.

"Character is not inherited. Right environment is necessary. Certain material is inherited which under certain conditions may produce results. Environment may be focused on the germ plasm to render this effective. Experiments show that ova may be influenced by diet and infections, and give less sperms and an infected character for several generations. There is a peculiar elective affinity to the toxic processes of the germ plasm, and it adapts itself to environment, and may develop immunity to these injuries.

"The mutation rate of new species is the only way to explain evolution. Radio active substances focused on the germ plasm have multiplied this rate. Environment, then, is the basis that creates new species.

"Personality is the sum total of mental and physical characteristics, a dynamic organization. It is something like a painting. We cannot tell how far it depends on heredity and environment. Intelligence, like every living function, grows with use and atrophies with disuse. The part played by environment is all important. The prevailing mores [customs] determine the direction of the intelligence. Emotions are explosions of the visceral machanisms. We do not laugh nor cry as much as we should.

"We are socially controlled. The stolid Slav peasant becomes an elert, nervous American in Chicago. The power and mate drives are enormously involved in the environment. The sex purpose is completely blocked. Do you suppose a lion, in seeking his mate, would stop and say that St. Leo the Great 2,000 years ago said it was wrong? Yet that it what a man does. His environment dates back to the earliest book ever written.

"Environment is responsible for the choice of life work. The whole social system is a primary, twisting, pressure which may destroy, thwart or foster the inheritance. All the machinery of life alters the personality trends. Man is an organic fragment of an organic universe, a thickened note in the environment. As he is, we see gases go in and out, and foodstuffs, cycles of chemical substance from him to the universe. Mentally, he is swept and penerated by thoughts, ideas and emotions. Insofar as we know anything about them, they are organic. We can change him with a drink of whisky or by cutting the thyroid glands. Words, even, are organic sound waves. How they get their meaning I do not know."

MARSHALL AS 'OTELLO' SHARES PRAISES WITH MUZIO, VANNI MARCOUX

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Ever since Charles Marshall joined the Chicago Opera company, ten years ago, that organization has had the distinction, shared with only a few other companies, of being able to put on Verdi's "Otello" in not only a fitting but striking manner. Columns have been written about him in the name part of this work, and most of their contents were true. It is far and away his finest performance, considered either as character or as singing. Even his voice seems to become of different quality when he gets into the part. The whole rôle gets rather gigantic.

In last night's performance at the Civic Opera house he was not a single star, but one of three with first magnitude written all over them. Claudio Muzio was the Desdemona and Vanni-Marcoux the Iago, the first time that he had done it in Chicago.

Perhaps Desdemona does not rank among the greatest of the soprano rôles, but there is a tremendous difference in the performance when there is one who knows how to do it and when there is one who does not. Miss Muzio knows how. Some greatly effective music falls to her, but mostly the rôle in voice and bearing becomes distinguished when it is done with gracious, aristocratic dignity. And in voice and in bearing Miss Muzio was nothing short of superb.

As for Mr. Vanni-Marcoux, I came away from the opera house with a conviction that he was the finest Iago I had ever beheld.

I have been present for quite a few. Without the slightest bit of posing, he becomes a fine singer, because every word is so clearly and understandingly projected. He has studied the score to excellent effect, but he has studied the libretto even more thoroughly. Apparently he knows what Shakespeare meant as well as Verdi.

Never was subtle scheming disguised under a more supple and suave exterior, a bearing that flashed into lightning activity and congealed back into immobility almost in the same breath. His feeding the poison of insinuation to Otello was as crafty and smooth as the approach of a cat, his "Credo" was a furious, blasting storm.

Most of the rest of the performance was a fitting background for these three great artists. Giuseppe Cavadore was miscast as Cassio, but most of the other minor characters ranged from passable to excellent. The chorus sang in vigorous melody and most of the time refrained from trying to act. Conductor Roberto Moranzoni became another great artist, carrying the performance along both dramatically and poetically. There is room for both kinds in the score of "Otello."

Mr. Stock presented Karol Szymanowski's symphony, "The Song of the Night," to the Tuesday afternoon audience of the Chicago Symphony orchestra yesterday, taking it this time without the tenor solo that was included a few weeks ago. For reasons that have nothing to do with the performance, the excision was an improvement. Szymanowski's symphony sounds rather better when approached as absolute music than when tied to a program, even a program as exotic as a poem from the second divan of Maulana Palal-uddin Rumi.

The program was entirely symphonic. The Szymanowski work, of entirely modern atonality, was preceded by the clean outlines of Mozart's "Symphony in E Flat," and followed by the sentimental romance of Dvorak's "From the New World." In each case the orchestra gave an accurate response to the mood as well as the notes.

Sinclair Lewis Feted; Leaving Soon for His Nobel Award

New York, Nov. 25.—(AP)—American authors don't take their work seriously enough; they have a tendency to become a bit abashed in the presence of washing machine and carburetor magnates, Sinclair Lewis told a gathering of writers tonight.

The first American winner of the Nobel prize for literature was guest of honor at a dinner given by the P. E. N. club. He sails for Stockholm Saturday to receive that award.

Will Irwin was master of ceremonies, and Fanny Hurst and Alice Duer Miller were in the seats of honor at Lewis' right and left.

New Barrymore Has New York Debut on Stage

Ethel II. Fifth Generation of Acting Stars.

New York, Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Ethel Barrymore was generously acclaimed by a typical Broadway "first night" audience tonight when she appeared as a Negress in "Scarlet Sister Mary."

The production also marked the debut of Ethel Barrymore Colt, daughter of the star and representative of the fifth generation of the famous Drew-Barrymore stage families.

Miss Barrymore appeared in the title rôle, while her daughter portrayed that of Seraphine. The cast, except for a group of Negro singers, was composed of white players, including Estelle Winwood, Beatrice Terry, Georgie Drew Mendum, Anita Rothe, Walter Gilbert, Horace Braham, William B. Mack, John Roseleigh, Leo Kennedy, and others.

The play was made by Daniel Reed from the Pulitzer prize winning novel written by Julia Peterkin. Lee Shubert was the producer.

Some of the critics were not as generous as the audience, and in their reviews found plenty to condemn. For instance, J. Brooks Atkinson in the Times says:

"Most of us will never understand why Ethel Barrymore has chosen to appear in 'Scarlet Sister Mary' which brought her back to New York at her own theater this evening. As a novel of native Negro life, despite the Pulitzer laying on of hands, it was a profitless narrative.

"As a play it is singularly uninteresting. Acted by a company of white performers in blackface, it merely reminds us that the Negroes are the best actors of plays about Negro life. Everything about this chronicle of the Gullah Negroes is artless. But Miss Barrymore is an artist. Although she may smear her classical features with chocolate-colored grease paint, the Barrymore breeding will out, and you recognize her to be no vagrant Negro wench with a string of far-roaming lovers, but a lady of pride and dignity.

"Daniel Reed's adaptation of Julia Peterkin's novel is a faithful transcript of incidents and characters. In five scenes it follows Sister Mary's fecund career from the tardy wedding day to the day twenty years later when her first born child dies in her arms. Sister Mary's husband runs after Sinnin' Cinder on his wedding night and he departs permanently after Mary's baby is born. Sister Mary mourns him for several months.

"But finally she comes bounding back to life ecstatically, has man after man, child after child, and a fabulously productive career. Even her children inherit her prowess. Her oldest daughter gives birth to a baby before the marriage vows are spoken, her oldest son brings her a grandchild to raise and dies himself. 'Scarlet Sister Mary' scatters her sons far and wide.

"As the play closes Sister Mary's affirmation of faith at her son's death bed is the one striking scene in the play and discovers Miss Barrymore acting with fullness and authority. But like the novel the play is curiously insecure and impulsive, dominated by no strong idea. At least to this commentator the characters are too casually introduced and developed to stimulate a theatergoer's curiosity."

Of Miss Colt the Times reviewer says: "Miss Barrymore's daughter, Ethel Barrymore Colt, makes her New York debut as Mary's daughter. Like her mother, she is strikingly beautiful, as much as the grease paint mask permits to filter through; she has an excellent voice and she acts with grace and a disarming touch of modesty. There is every reason to look forward with great pleasure to her career."

Recalls Other Barrymores.

New York, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Another Barrymore, comely and tall and nineteen, came to Broadway tonight—the first stage recruit of her famous theatrical family in twenty-seven years.

Ethel Barrymore Colt, on the stage of a theater named for her mother, shared with that mother the applause of a first night audience.

Some in the audience recalled that not since 1903 had Broadway seen a new Barrymore. Then it was John, playing a part in some long forgotten play called "Glad of It."

For her mother tonight's premiere was exactly two months short of the thirty-sixth anniversary of her stage debut at Broadway's Empire theater on Jan. 23, 1894, as Julia in "The Rivals."

Carol Deis of Dayton, R. W. Dennis, S. D., Are Radio Winners

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Miss Carol Deis, Dayton, O., soprano, and Richards W. Dennis, Sioux Falls, S. D., tenor, were announced today as the winners of the mid-west district radio audition contest conducted by the Atwater Kent foundation.

They will represent their district in the national finals at New York on Dec. 14.

Miss Francis de Voice, Minneapolis, contralto, took second place in the woman's division, and Honorine Otley, Fayette, Ia., soprano, was awarded third place.

Second place in the men's division went to Hubert Kochritz, Cincinnati, baritone, and third position to Bromley House, Indianapolis, baritone.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Nov. 25.—Mrs. Marjorie Oelrichs gave a luncheon at Sherry's yesterday. The guests were Mrs. William Jay, Mrs. Eugene Sugny Reynal, and Mrs. William P. Douglas.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont will remain in Paris until the early part of the winter. They had planned to return with the last westward trip of the Majestic.

Mrs. Charles B. Alexander and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. arranged for today an afternoon reception for Mrs. Rosevelt's debutante daughter, Miss Grace Green Roosevelt.

Mrs. James T. Harahan gave a luncheon at the Hotel Pierre for former Senator and Mrs. Gilbert M. Hitchcock.

Insull Opera Plan Theme for Honor Dinner

BY THALIA ——.

The Bohemians of Chicago, whose dinner last winter for Dr. Frederick A. Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, was attended by more than 900 Chicagoans, are now planning their second annual affair. This year's banquet is to be in honor of Samuel Insull in recognition of his unselfish devotion and liberal contributions to the cause of grand opera in Chicago. It is to take place on Sunday evening, Jan. 4, in the ballroom of the Palmer house.

The Bohemians plan to give a dinner each year in honor of some famous musician or of one of those men who, like Mr. Insull, have contributed much to the advancement of music. Herbert Witherspoon will again be toastmaster, and Edward N. Hurley and Mr. Insull are to be among the speakers. Civic opera artists will give a program after dinner. Invitation and subscription blanks are to be dispatched about Dec. 1. All moneys made by the Bohemians are added to a fund, the interest of which is distributed for the aid of needy and indigent musicians. The Bohemians were founded about two years ago and constitute a society for the furtherance of music, improvement in the ethical and social life of the musicians, and for the establishment of the fund heretofore mentioned. Dr. Stock is president of the organization, which now numbers about 300 men.

Foregoing elaborate decorations, favors, and professional entertainment, the young people dancing and supping at the Bachelors and Benedicts' annual subscription supper dance at the Congress hotel this evening will have the comfortable assurance that they are insuring a substantial contribution to unemployment relief and charity.

Wives of the committee members who will receive during the evening will include Mrs. Keith Carpenter Mrs. Dexter Cummings, Mrs. James H. Douglas Jr., Mrs. Luther S. Hammond Jr., Mrs. W. Paul McBride, Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr., and Mrs. Robert S. Pirie.

Hostesses at dinner parties before the dance include Mrs. Darrow B. Fulton, Mrs. Douglas, Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, and Mrs. Thomas C. Dennehy Jr. The Edison Dicks [Jane Warner], who are still on their wedding trip in Europe, will be the only absentees of the committee, of which Henry A. Knott Jr. is the chairman.

The beguiling clack of castanets and the swish of silken skirts will alleviate the sound of purse strings unloosening at the dinner Henry H. Porter is to give at his residence next Tuesday evening in behalf of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society.

Before or after the serious discussion of financing the needs of the society is gone into by the hundred guests who are bid to the dinner, Miss Tess de Soriano, daughter of the Marquis and Marquise d'Ivanrey, is to dance. Were it a more public affair, Spanish tradition would forbid Miss de Soriano to perform, but since it is a select gathering and for a worthy cause, she has been prevailed on to do what is known as a skirt dance, a diversion practiced by Spanish women only within the privacy of their own dwellings. Miss de Soriano, whose mother arrived on Monday, will come on from the east toward the end of this week.

Mrs. William A. Yager, chairman of the linen committee for the Passavant Memorial hospital, has concocted a bright scheme for replenishing the hospital's ever yawning linen closets.

She has sent out cards for a tea at the Casino next Tuesday afternoon, indicating on the invitations that the affair is to be a linen shower for the hospital. An unusual decoration for a formal engraved card is the inscription in the corner of the "Sizes used: sheets, 72x99; pillow cases, 38x45 and 32x36; tray cloths, 14½x20. Other items very acceptable."

The guests aren't necessarily expected to arrive at the party with sheets and pillow cases under their arms. If they prefer to, they may make a monetary contribution. Since a new floor of the hospital is soon to be opened the need for linen is accentuated at this time, according to Mrs. Yager. Receiving with her at the tea will be Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman, president of the hospital; Mrs. Francis J. Johnson and Mrs. Harry Shearson, vice presidents, and Mrs. John F. Jelke, who has been one of its most generous donors. Presiding at the tea tables will be Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Mrs. J. Hamilton Lewis, Mrs. Howard Gillette, Mrs. Charles Garfield King, Mrs. John F. Jelke Jr., and Mrs. Wilhelm Ludwig Baum.

Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick and Mrs. Jacob Baur are to give a debutante luncheon at the Casino today for Miss Anne Ashcraft and Miss Betty Oldfield.

The White Elephant Rummage shop is to hold its Christmas gift and toy sale next Wednesday. Mrs. Frederic W. Upham is in charge of the gift sale and will be assisted by Mrs. Harry H. Shearson, Mrs. Frederick H. Rawson, Mrs. Joseph E. Otis, and several others. Mrs. Sangston Hetler, chairman of the Junior auxiliary, and a committee of auxiliary members will be in charge of the toys.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Jelke Jr. have returned to Lake Forest after a ten day visit to New York City and Middleburg, Va.

The Henry J. Pattens are moving into town next Monday from Lake Forest, having occupied the old Harry Durand house for the last month, and are to be at their apartment at 180 East Delaware place until early January. They plan to depart on the fifth for Egypt.

Envoy Urges British, Yankees Lead in Peace

New York, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Guest of honor tonight at a dinner of the English Speaking union of the United States, Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador, called the relations between Great Britain and the United States the most pacific in the history of their separate political existence.

The ambassador defended his country's policy in India and urged extension of the principles of the London naval treaty to further the cause of international disarmament of every kind.

In his optimism over Anglo-American relations Sir Ronald was joined by a fellow speaker, Alanson B. Houghton, former American ambassador to the court of St. James. Sir Ronald's defense of Britain's Indian policy was elaborated on by Sir Harcourt Butler, a former high British official in India. John W. Davis, president of the English Speaking union, presided and about 800 persons attended.

Great Britain learned 150 years ago that liberal democracy was a thing to be exported as well as defended at home, the British ambassador said.

Former Ambassador Houghton urged immediate and open discussion of American and British naval relations.

"Parity, so-called, does not touch the underlying problem of our naval relations," he said. "It is possible, entirely possible, that at the moment no agreement covering this problem can be reached. An effort to solve it, if it did nothing else, would serve to make clear at what precise points and for what precise reasons we differed.

"What do we gain by not facing that problem frankly?"

In his talk on India, Sir Harcourt Butler said: "India is the creation of the British. The British, through their language, law, and prolonged peace have given the beginnings of a feeling of unity in India."

Society at the Opera

The box tiers of the Civic Opera house wore a more than usually lustrous and colorful appearance for the performance of "Otello" last night. The variety of hue and fabric in the gowns worn by the women kaleidoscoped into a delicate rainbow.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Reynolds had as their box guests Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Field and Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Swift. Mrs. Field wore ciel blue crêpe, ornamented with crystals; Mrs. Swift was in sapphire blue velvet, with a V shaped décolletage, and Mrs. Reynolds' gown was of black chiffon, with the neck banded in crystal and jet trimming.

The Charles H. Swifts had such a large group of guests that only the women could be accommodated in the box. The men listened to the opera from the main floor. In the group were Prof. and Mrs. William A. Nitze, Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Thornton Wilder, Mrs. Waller Borden, Lotte Lehmann, who is to make her last appearance with the opera company this season in "Meistersinger" tonight; Mrs. Robert M. Hutchins, and Guy Hardy.

With Col. and Mrs. William Nelson Pelouse were Col. and Mrs. Clifford Corbin and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O. Watkins. Guests of the James R. Offields were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Bendelari, Mrs. Bendelari's sister, Mrs. Rode A. Arnspiger, who is visiting her; Mrs. Albert H. Wetten, and Frank McNair.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Cross had with them Dr. and Mrs. Albert Lundgren and Dr. and Mrs. W. Garnett Winn, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brown, Miss Rose McDonald, and Jack Stewart were with Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Buettner.

Mrs. William L. Hodgkins was hostess in her box to Mr. and Mrs. John A. Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. William B. Greenlee. Mrs. Chapman's gown was a lovely one of aquamarine mirror velvet.

Union League Backs Speech, Poster Contests for Washington Day

Commemoration of George Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, 1931, will be the theme of two contests for students of the senior high school in Cook county. There will be one in poster design, another in public speaking. The finals are to be in the Union League club on Feb. 21, 1931.

To win first honors in each a student must survive three stages of competition; his own school contest, one of the four divisional contests and the finals at the club. An etching or some other art object for the winner's school to be engraved with winner's name will be awarded. Each finalist will receive a bronze medal.

Each senior high school has been requested, with the approval of W. J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, to arrange Washington's birthday programs. School representatives for each contest must be determined prior to Feb. 14.

The speeches must be the original composition of the participants and not take more than seven minutes to deliver. The only posters considered in the design contest will be those which make the most effective use of design, picture, color, and lettering to attract favorable attention at the greatest distance. Each competition will be judged by a committee of school principals and club representatives.

Handicrafts Revived Among Mountain Women of Kentucky

How the handicraft of colonial days is being revived among the mountain women of Kentucky was revealed last night by Mrs. Anna Ernberg. She is director of fireside industries at Berea college. She recently was named by Ida Tarbell, writer, as one of the fifty foremost women in America.

OXFORD HONORS FOR J. P. MORGAN MARK SERVICE TO LETTERS

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

OXFORD, Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Wearing the cape and hood of a doctor of civil law, J. P. Morgan stood before the crowded convocation at Oxford today and heard himself praised as "an ornament to New York—an illustrious and worthy son of an illustrious father."

The financier was receiving the honorary degree for having saved the historic Buttrell Psalter and the Bedford Book of Hours for the Bodleian library. There were no other recipients of degrees and the ceremony was a unique tribute. Mr. Morgan was escorted into the Sheldonian theater by a colorful academic procession headed by beadles in ancient robes.

"You see before you the head of the world's greatest banks, who is renowned among his own people no less for his generosity than for his goodness," said the public orator, Dr. A. B. Poynton, in Latin. "You see a lover of antiquity with singular judgment, intelligence, and power of selection in choosing printed books and manuscripts."

Poynton referred to the Morgan library in New York and the advantages he offers in the research of learned men of all nations. He told of the great services Americans have given to British libraries and universities.

Charity Events Tonight.

Charitable events scheduled for tonight's calendar include the annual benefit ball of the junior auxiliary of the Hinsdale Infant Welfare society to be held at the Hinsdale club; the annual charity ball of the Evanston Junior league to take place at the Shawnee Country club, and the benefit supper dance to be given by the Auxiliary of the Sacred Heart academy at the Palmer house.

Here's Challenge to Young Women from Man Reader

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Here's a challenge for you girls who would shift the blame of blushing episodes on male shoulders: "A man's expectations in love making," writes "File Clerk," "are governed not by what girls deliberately attempt to arouse but by what they passively permit. Not one man in a thousand will make further advances than were forcasted in the step just preceding. The men who cause your correspondents' 'rotten experiences' would probably be perfect gentlemen with a different girl.

"Women often forget that courtship is a coöperative enterprise and that their own momentary whims are only one side of the team. There is a kind of dignity that forestalls not only a kiss but even the request for it. But there is a familiarity in dancing, for example, that is simply a promissory note for a petting party later. The girl who signs that note and then defaults is just as much a cheat as one who stops payment on a check. Yet many pretend that to kiss or not to kiss is a matter of feminine choice alone and call it a rotten experience if the holder attempts to collect.

"That silence gives consent is nowhere so true as between the sexes. Psychologically the initiative is with man, the power of original veto with woman. But the girl who'll kiss on Monday night and won't on Tuesday, or who attempts to get by with a good-night kiss the week after a hectic petting party deserves no mercy and little sympathy.

"A man values women not by the standard of aloofness they set but by their courage in living up to the one chosen. He tries to get them classified the first night out and usually does, which ends the argument. In so far as the natural straight shooters are concerned. Of course, there is driftwood now and then that wandered a bit too far downstream and when it tries to swim back to a previous pedestal there is doubt of its sincerity and quite likely a pull against the current.

"Most of the complainants against our sex have permitted preliminaries, but wouldn't go through with the promise. They claim exemptions which they do not deserve."

CAN MAKE THIS EXCLUSIVE CLAIM

FRESH from the original vacuum pack. EASILY opened with the key. LOOK for the Arab on the can.

Cereal cooks without lumps if stirred into the boiling water a little at a time. Hills Bros. Coffee has a fine, unvarying flavor because it is roasted a few pounds at a time—never in bulk.

WHEN it comes to making claims for goodness, Hills Bros. Coffee has one no other coffee can make. It is the only coffee roasted a few pounds at a time by the patented, continuous process—Controlled Roasting. The distinctive, delicious flavor created by this process cannot be equaled by bulk-roasting methods.

When you open a can of Hills Bros. Coffee it is just as fresh as when it came from the roasters. Air, which "flattens" the flavor of coffee, is completely removed and kept out of the can by Hills Bros.' vacuum packing process. No coffee packed in a so-called air-tight tin will ever remain fresh.

Make up your mind to try Hills Bros. Coffee. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab on the can. Sold by grocers everywhere.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Dogs and more dogs; little dogs and big dogs; sober old family friends and pert young puppies hardly out of their basket; dogs of several breeds, sizes and color but dogs all of them, without a bark, greet you in the exhibition which opened yesterday afternoon in the Carson, Pirie, Scott gallery. Marguerite Kirmse is back after a year with her second annual exhibit of etchings and drawings of dogs.

Last year this exhibition was a delight and a snare to the feet. While it was on no matter where we had intended to go, we found ourselves invariably in the gallery looking at the Scotties or Sealyhams for the umpteenth time. The exhibit this year is no less of a fascination. Miss Kirmse brings new pups to be adored. There are a few of those whom we met last November, but our familiarity with them makes the show more entrancing. We had forgotten exactly how cunning or how superb these earlier dogs were.

Marguerite Kirmse was born in Bournemouth, England and spent most of her childhood feeding buns to bears in the zoo so that she could draw them. From zoos she graduated to dog shows and horse shows. From that she has come to owning her own kennels and raising her own models. An occasional dog from the hunting field serves her purpose during the hunting season and sometimes a visiting dog of a different breed from her own beloved Scotties and wire haired, sits for her. Chiefly though we find her portraying the little long bodied, rough coated dogs she thoroughly delights in.

In her new series of eight etchings there is one fine head of a dog breasting the stream bringing back a duck in his mouth. There is another of a procession of Scotties in the snow, their muzzles white tipped. There are two pups stealing milk out of a bucket with rapid red tongues and another of a big dog sheltering a sleepy foreign pup. All of the etchings are masterfully handled and all come up magnificently to the standard Miss Kirmse has set for her work.

The exhibition will continue to Dec. 26.

This Bath Snips Off a Cold Right at Its Beginning

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

When you feel awfully frayed around the edges and wish that you could run off to some health resort for a week, why don't you try a home made Turkish bath. It's really quite a sedative for raggedy nerves; also it puts a nice new bloom on the complexion as well as in life.

You need a quiet afternoon or a nice long evening. Either will do, according to your occupation. If you happen to be one of the current "sniffler" regiment, you may kill off the cold in its incipient stage with this treatment. For treatment of colds however, we respectfully submit your care to medical hands. But this home bath will help discharge toxins from the system as only a good, healthy perspiration will.

If you have the time for a regular Turkish bath, given down town, by all means take one when you are feeling low from fatigue or from nerve stress. But don't act as many are guilty of doing—don't rush out right after the bath rites are completed. Take to one of the comfortable cots you find in well run establishments and let at least one good, solid hour elapse before you dream of dressing. Stay two or three if you can.

But to get back to the home treatment, which you can make time for. Have a tumbler on hand and when you get yourself into the tub filled with as hot water as you can stand, sip a glass of hot water. Sip another if you can. Take still another glass of hot water before you leave the bathroom. Then roll yourself up in blankets. Leave one arm out for more water sipping. Then stay under the blankets until you perspire freely. Try to consume three glasses of hot water during the bath.

I nearly forgot to tell you to cream your face by way of getting a good massage treatment at the same time. Cleanse it first, then cream it and keep the cream on during the bath. After you have had a good perspiration go back to the bathroom and take a warm shower or plunge. If it is an afternoon performance, let the cold water run on you, too. If an evening rite better not let the water run too cold, unless you know you can stand the cold water and get sleep later. The value of the treatment lies in the fact that you perspire freely.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

F. D.: TRY PUTTING ON A THIN coating of cold cream before you use your lipstick. It will not become caked and streaked but will go on evenly and smoothly.

B. T.: WEIGHT MAY FLUCTUate a pound or two from day to day. This is due largely to water in the tissues, and is not important. However weekly changes in weight should be looked into and he appetite governed accordingly.

Hands Up!

Has their beauty been scared away by the work they have to do? You can win it back promptly with Pacquin's. Rough, coarse, discolored hands are quickly made beautiful. Use it after housework or exposure to keep your hands youthfully soft and white.

Pacquin's HAND CREAM $1.00 a jar, or 50c a tube, at all leading department and drug stores.

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

This pretty frock is delightfully wearable and easily copied. Its diagonal lines are decidedly slimming, and just enough flare to be chic is given the modcrately full circular skirt, by insets each side of the front. Black Canton crêpe with turquoise blue for the collar and cuffs and dark brown wool jersey with beige are smart suggestions.

The pattern, 2820, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Couturiers Consider the Business Woman

BY BETTINA BIDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—There's a plum in the Paris fashion pie for every one this season. Every possible type has been provided for, from the woman of wealth to the woman who must count the cost.

It is smart to look dignified and ladylike, and so the woman of conservative taste can find glad raiment just as easily as the joyous flapper.

Separate coats and dresses, you know, are being shown in quantities by all the Paris couturiers and this is a boon to women too busy to make the art of dressing their prime occupation. A long, dark, cloth coat, trimmed with fur, may be worn with a number of different frocks with equally smart effect. You may have a plain one in chiffon, broadcloth, or delustered satin for early afternoon and a lamé, lace or chiffon one for the cocktail party or restaurant dinner. Your hat, gloves, and accessories may also be chosen to increase or reduce the formality of your effect.

The Germaine Lecomte coat shown above is a good example of this adaptable type of daytime coat. She makes it of off-black brown broadcloth. It is princess and is fitted to the figure by cleverly cut incrusted sections, which decorate it while accentuating natural curves in a becoming fashion.

The slender sleeves are cut in one with the upper part and have a seam running down the outside of the arm The unusual shawl collar and cuffs are of broadtail. Germaine Lecomte makes them in dark brown to match or in white, which is naturally more conspicuous, but most chic, with white bag, gloves, etc. With a separate brown leather belt it is suitable even for morning wear.

At Thanksgiving... more than ever... our minds turn to Pies, Puddings, Candies... and don't forget CRANBERRY SAUCE

Beyond a doubt the most popular relish served with the Thanksgiving turkey is cranberry sauce

WHAT would Thanksgiving be without desserts, jellies, preserves and cranberry sauce? And how could these delicacies be made if it were not for refined sugar?

Americans are truly fortunate to have a feast day like Thanksgiving — also to be able to enjoy the goodness of refined sugar at such an unusually low price as it is today.

Winter diets demand fuel food and a restful variety of dishes. There is no single food product that can fill these needs better than refined sugar. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with refined sugar. The Sugar Institute.

Baby's Eyes Must Be Shielded from the Glaring Sun

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Reading references on the physical care of the child will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

At various times readers have written, begging me, "Won't you write a warning to mothers and nursemaids about allowing the sun to glare into babies' eyes as they lie in their carriages outdoors?"

So here it is—though it ought not to have to be written.

Now there are some things that an inexperienced or careless mother might not be able to imagine in the care of her baby, as, for instance, that it is not well to take a young baby out in a strong wind, or that if he is out in a high wind in his carriage that the covers must be built up to protect him because he has difficulty in breathing with the wind blowing into his nostrils.

But it shouldn't require much imagination for a mother to realize that it is uncomfortable for a baby to lie back and have the sun shining directly into its eyes. But it evidently does require imagination, because in yards and gardens and parks, at beaches and in the country many little babies lie for hours with eyes unshielded from the glare, facing toward the sun.

A good guide in general for gauging a baby's physical comfort is to think of what our own feelings would be under the same circumstances. This holds true, for instance, in the matter of sun in the baby's eyes. Just as shade is restful to our eyes, so it is to the baby's.

When the baby is in his carriage, it can be turned with the side or back toward the sun so that he faces away from it. In giving sun baths he can be arranged so that the sun will fall on his cheeks, but escape his eyes and the top of his head. If he is laid on the sand or grass for his nap, a parasol or umbrella can be tilted at just the right angle over him.

In summer or winter the baby's eyes should be shielded from the glare of the sun.

South Shore Dance.

The South Shore Country club will hold its annual Thanksgiving eve formal ball this evening.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

His Side of the Story.

On my way home from the city one evening, I was sitting beside a portly gentleman who took up about two-thirds of the seat. As we approached the suburbs, he made a movement as if he were going to get off, and so I turned about a little to let him through. Instead of passing me as I expected him to, you can imagine my embarrassment on hearing him say in a voice that could be heard from one end of the car to the other:

"I'd like to get off here, lady, but I can't get up while you are sitting on the tail of my coat." C. A. M.

Food Talk.

Small hot breads are a favorite in almost every home. Their appearance at the table is greeted with shouts of joy by children and adults alike. They add distinctiveness to the meal and the touch of difference that distinguishes the efforts of the ingenious housewife from those of the stolid one. Best of all, they are easy to prepare. Most of them can be made in a jiffy and baked while the rest of the meal is being prepared.

Popovers are one of the popular members of the quick bread family. Flour, salt, milk and eggs are always used. Baking powder and butter are sometimes present. The ingredients can be thrown together in a mixing bowl and beaten vigorously for three or four minutes. Pour the batter into hot greased muffin pans, preferably iron ones, which have been prepared beforehand. Bake in a hot oven. Thirty minutes later you have a batch of delicious popovers ready for the table.

Good popovers are delicate. They are crisp and crusty, with centers that are hollow, moist, but not wet.

Some people may object to hot breads on the score of indigestibility. But if the bread is thoroughly baked the danger of incomplete mastication and subsequent distress is minimized.

Popovers may be served in a number of ways. For breakfast, Sunday night supper or lunch, they are delicious with honey or maple sirup. With marmalade they do service at tea. And with a creamed chicken or fish filling they become a main dish.

POPOVERS.

1 cup flour.
Scant cup milk.
2 eggs.
½ teaspoon melted butter.

Mix salt with flour that has been sifted before measuring. Add milk gradually in order to obtain a smooth batter. Add eggs beaten until light and then add the butter. Beat two minutes vigorously with a rotary egg beater. Turn into hissing hot buttered iron gem pans and bake 35 minutes. The first 15 minutes bake in a hot oven (450 degrees Fahrenheit) and the last 20 minutes in a moderate oven (375 degrees Fahrenheit).

PINEAPPLE UPSIDE DOWN CAKE.

½ cup granulated sugar.
1 egg yolk.
½ cup milk or fruit juice.
1¼ cups pastry flour.
2½ teaspoons baking powder.
1 egg white.
3 tablespoons butter.
¾ cup brown sugar.
1½ cups sliced canned pineapple, cut in pieces.

Cream the ¼ cup butter with the ½ cup sugar, add the beaten egg yolk and the milk or pineapple juice, as preferred, alternately with the flour mixed with the baking powder. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg white and add the vanilla. Melt the three tablespoons of butter in a spider, add the brown sugar, and when it is melted spread on the pineapple. Pour the batter over this and bake it in a moderate oven 20 to 30 minutes. Remove the cake from the spider onto a plate so that the fruit is on top. Serve the pudding cold with whipped cream.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover was the luncheon guest today of Mrs. Wilbur, wife of the secretary of the interior, in the Wilbur apartment at the Mayflower. The other guests were the cabinet hostesses, with the exception of Mrs. Lamont, who still is abroad, and Mrs. Adams, who was ill.

Mrs. Hurley, wife of the secretary of war, assisted Mrs. Ernest Jahncke, wife of the assistant secretary of the navy, for aviation, at the reception Mr. and Mrs. Jahncke gave this afternoon to present their daughter, Adele Townsend Jahncke, to Washington society. Miss Jahncke is the great granddaughter of Edwin Stanton, a secretary of war in President Lincoln's war cabinet.

Wake Up!

... full of Renewed Vigor and Nerve Force every morning ...

J. B. Smith of Michigan, says:
"My wife has been nervous for years, and at night just could not rest or sleep. After taking Effervescent NERVINE she is able to sleep like a child. We want to thank you for the wonderful relief you brought to our home."

Relax Tense "NERVES" at Night
Enjoy Sound, Restful, Invigorating Sleep

Do you greet the morning with a smile? Do you open your eyes to the new day with that joyous feeling of renewed power and vigor that comes only when you have slept sound and rested well?

Surely you know how sleep benefits the body—but do you know how serious the loss of sleep is . . . what destructive effect it has on your health and happiness?

In most cases, sleeplessness is caused by nervousness. Tense, overworked "NERVES" mean a sleepless night ahead . . . turning, tossing, frenzied, wakeful hours of mental unrest when you need sleep. Are you one of the thousands of people whose overworked "NERVES" keep you awake at night? Then here's a new delightful and harmless way to quiet your "NERVES" and get refreshing relaxation and rest.

When "NERVES" keep you awake—just drop a Dr. Miles' Effervescent NERVINE Tablet into a glass of water before you go to bed. Watch it bubble up like sparkling spring water—then drink it. In a few minutes your irritated nervous system is soothed — tense "NERVES" relax and nature brings you sound, restful sleep so that you wake up in the morning completely refreshed.

You will marvel at the effective relief you get from this harmless, delightful Effervescent drink —just like thousands of people do who suffer with "NERVES" at night.

Dr. Miles' NERVINE is made in both Effervescent Tablets and Liquid form. For 50 years Dr. Miles' NERVINE (in liquid form) has brought grateful relief to thousands of nervous people. Now this same time-tested formula is also offered in handy Effervescent Tablets. In the tablets the NERVINE formula is combined with bicarbonate of soda and citric acid—which tend to correct hyper-acidity —a frequent cause of nervousness.

20 RELATIVES SHARE $200,000 HERMIT HOARD

Heirs Appeal Ruling on Flynn Estate.

Probate Judge Henry Horner yesterday announced his decision on the division of the $200,000 estate of the two Flynn brothers, Park Ridge hermits. The judge ruled that 20 relatives shall each received $10,000.

Appeals were taken, both by the victorious heirs, who are divided into two groups, and also by some of the 180 other claimants, so the legal battle which has been carried on for four years will be continued in the Circuit court.

Under Judge Horner's ruling two groups of relatives will divide the estate. Two of the beneficiaries will be James Butler, 70 years old, of Bird City, Kas., and Eugene V. West, 68 years old, of Marias, Mont., brothers adopted by different families in childhood, who were reunited in Judge Horner's court after a separation of 32 years, by the estate proceedings.

Other Heirs in Ireland.

The other group which will share in the estate consists of 18 second cousins of the Flynn brothers on their paternal side. Most of these reside in Ireland.

The four year search for heirs to the estate has been made by the public administrator's office through Attorney Werner Schroeder. In December, 1924, John Flynn, 72 years old, succumbed to pneumonia in his secluded Park Ridge home. His brother, James, 70 years old, shot himself to death a few hours later.

A search revealed a fortune in currency hidden in the house.

The two Butler brothers in tracing their descent went back to St. Mary's church, Granard, Ireland, on Aug. 9, 1851, when John Flynn Sr., a sergeant in the revenue service at Dublin, married his captain's daughter, Henrietta Goodliff. The couple came to America and settled in Park Ridge. Two years later they were joined by Mrs. Flynn's sister, Charlotte, and her husband, Alfred H. Butler.

Brothers Are Identified.

Attorney Otto F. Ring, representing Butler and West, produced records to prove that they were the children of Alfred H. Butler. Witnesses identified the brothers.

Judge Horner at the hearing yesterday said that a third group of claimants, composed of thirteen members of the Monaghan family, had a fair claim to the estate, but that they had not presented sufficient proof of heirship.

LEARNS $70,000 DEBTOR IS DEAD AND FOLLOWS HIM

New York, Nov. 25.—[Special.]—The discovery that a man who had owed him $70,000, for which he held unsecured promissory notes, had died a week ago threw Arthur Levine into a state of mind so desperate that he buried himself from a window of the seventeenth story of a Times square building today. He was instantly killed.

Levine, owner of a store on Second avenue, had had extensive business dealings with Solomon Algase, a real estate broker and operator. Algase went to Levine and borrowed $70,000, giving him a series of promissory notes which were not indorsed and, so far as can be learned, unsecured.

A week ago Algase died suddenly. Levine today went to Algase's office to discuss the debt and learned for the first time that Algase was dead. He jumped from an open window.

GERMANY TO ASK LEAGUE TO HALT POLISH OUTRAGES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 25.—Germany is preparing to appeal to the league of nations for the protection of the German minority in Upper Silesia, Poland, under the provisions of clause 12 of the minorities agreement. This announcement was made tonight after the cabinet received a detailed report on the cases of alleged terrorism against Germans in the Polish elections from Baron von Gruenau, German consul general at Kattowitz.

Despite the wealth of material submitted by the consul, tension was somewhat eased in Berlin today when it was learned that Poland under pressure of the Swiss arbiter, Dr. Felix Calonder, are beginning to prosecute the terrorists. But Germany wants definite assurance that these outrages will not be repeated in the future.

According to Warsaw dispatches, the mayor of Johenbirken and a schoolmaster have been suspended as the result of attacks on persons belonging to the German minority. It is also stated that citizens of German descent, who were victims of the disorders, have been voted a special grant of $400.

The "steel helmet" organization of war veterans today sent a message to President von Hindenburg from German Upper Silesia complaining of the lack of protection for Germans. They demanded that "our field marshal take steps to end the pogrom against Germans in Upper Silesia." Otherwise, they threaten to resort to "measures of self-protection."

DOCTOR BARLOW, HINES HOSPITAL OFFICIAL, DEAD

Dr. Nathan Barlow, 54 years old, chief of the medical staff of the Hines veterans' hospital at Maywood, and long identified with the government public health service, died Monday night at the Memorial hospital after an illness of two months, it was learned yesterday. He was a lieutenant colonel in the army reserve corps.

Dr. Barlow was named medical chief of the Hines hospital just a year ago. Previously, he was dean of the post graduate school of the United States department of health at Washington, D. C. He was considered an authority on tuberculosis, and devoted much of his efforts to this disease in public health hospitals. He entered the government health service in 1919 with the reserve rank of captain.

Winnetka Youth Succumbs Without Using Respirator

Elmer Baker III., 16 year old Winnetka youth, who had been taken to the St. Luke's hospital afflicted with infantile paralysis, succumbed to the disease yesterday. The paralysis had partially affected the muscles of the chest wall and he was taken to the hospital to be near the respirator machine there. It was later decided that respiratory treatments would be of no aid. The case aroused much speculation as to whether Miss Frances McGaan, nurse, who has been using the machine for two months, could be removed long enough for the youth to use the machine. Young Baker was the son of Elmer J. Baker, Chicago publisher.

L. FRACHTENBERG, PALESTINE FUND DIRECTOR, DEAD

Dr. Leo Joachim Fractenberg, 1310 East 54th street, anthropologist, regional director of the Palestine Foundation fund, died yesterday in Waterloo, Ia. He was stricken with pneumonia while there on a trip for the fund.

Dr. Frachtenberg was 47 years old, and a native of Austria. In 1919 he served as assistant United States commissioner of immigration, and a year later was named chief of the foreign population census of New York City. Recently he had been making researches among the Indians.

Surviving Dr. Fractenberg are his widow and two children. Burial will be in Brooklyn.

Marriage of Girl of 13 Is Sanctioned by Judge

MSGR. KALVELAGE, FREEPORT PASTOR 55 YEARS, DEAD

The Rt. Rev. Clemens Kalvelage, oldest priest in northern Illinois, for 55 years the pastor of St. Joseph's parish at Freeport, Ill., died yesterday at the home of his cousin, Mrs. Angela Kettenhofen, 5527 Gullom avenue. He was 85 years old.

MSGR. KALVELAGE.

Msgr. Kalvelage was born in Lohne, Germany, and came to America in 1858. He was a student for five years at St. Francis' seminary, Milwaukee, and for four years at St. Mary's on the Lake, Chicago, and was ordained in 1869.

His first appointment was as pastor at Ottawa, Ill., where he remained until 1874, when he went to Freeport, where he had remained ever since. He was widely known throughout the Rockford and Freeport district, and built a hospital and an orphanage at Freeport. He was elevated to the rank of monsignor in July, 1919.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow at 5527 Cullom avenue and later at Our Lady of Victory church, Agatite and Laramie avenues.

THE NAST PUBLICATIONS

A REAL ECONOMIC NEED

FROM the very beginning, VOGUE, VANITY FAIR and HOUSE & GARDEN were definitely planned, and have always been edited, to fulfill a real economic need. Style, based on beauty, has consistently been the prime element in that need . . . style in dress, style in surroundings, style in art, entertainment and amusements . . . style even in ways of thinking and living.

Twenty years ago, when any general appreciation of beauty was at a low ebb in this country, Condé Nast sensed that the people of the United States were on the threshold of an era of quickened appreciation of beauty and good taste.

He realized that, with the sudden development of our material wealth, the desire to create and acquire beautiful things must develop rapidly, and that this combination of a new wealth and a new appreciation of beauty was bound to expand into a factor of broad commercial importance. Impressed by these portents, Condé Nast set about establishing his present publishing enterprise, with the purpose and the hope that VOGUE, VANITY FAIR and HOUSE & GARDEN would lead and inspire this new cultural development, become its outstanding vehicles of expression and its chief source of information.

This foresight has been amply justified. Style has become a merchandising factor of incalculable importance in America today; and VOGUE, VANITY FAIR and HOUSE & GARDEN have at every turn been its prophets and its interpreters—the dependable sources to which style-conscious Americans have consistently turned for their style information.

These periodicals have acquired and maintained the leadership in their respective fields, because, from the day when style and good taste were adopted as their foundations and keystones, the editors, artists and contributors to these magazines have consistently sat in the secret councils of every new movement affecting public taste. As a result, they have attracted a class of readers whose tastes, needs and inclinations, combined with their aggregate wealth, constitute an economic force probably unequaled anywhere else in the world.

VOGUE

VOGUE was purchased in 1909 in anticipation of a greatly increased interest among the women of America in fashions and the mode. Since that time, VOGUE has so directed and moulded the tastes of the smart women of America that it has not only established new fashions and introduced new styles, but has become a prime economic force in the annual merchandising of millions of dollars' worth of women's apparel.

VANITY FAIR

VANITY FAIR was started in 1913 because of a similar recognition of the rapidly growing interest among American men and women in the cultural diversions of life. Since that time, VANITY FAIR has become a recognized authority in matters of art, music, drama, literature, sport, etc. The great influence which it has exercised has helped materially to alter and improve the taste of the American people.

HOUSE & GARDEN

HOUSE & GARDEN was purchased in 1915 in prophetic anticipation of the nation-wide development of taste in building, decorating, and landscaping of American homes. From that time on, in pace with HOUSE & GARDEN'S inspiration and its presentation of the highest standards of beauty, millions have been expended annually on the designing, decoration, and building of American homes. HOUSE & GARDEN has helped to set a new standard of taste, and living comfort.

This is the last of a series of ten advertisements, some of which have appeared in Chicago and some in the New York newspapers. These statements have discussed the fundamental principles of advertising, and should be of informative interest to every merchant who is spending money for advertising, whether or not he has any intention of using space in the Nast Publications. We shall be pleased to send a complete set of these ten discussions to anyone who may be interested in receiving them. BLACKHAWKS BEAT BRUINS, 4-3, IN OVERTIME

CENTER STARS IN FIRST YEAR AS A REGULAR

Gets Chance to Win Tribune Award.

Bob Clark, center on Northwestern university's football eleven, was elected the team's most valuable player by his teammates at a dinner at the North Shore hotel last night. He will be the Wildcats' candidate for THE TRIBUNE'S award to the most valuable player in the Big Ten conference.

Coach Dick Hanley, who was unable to attend the dinner because of illness, expressed himself as highly pleased with the selection, saying that Clark was one of the most likeable players on the squad.

Hanley Likes Choice.

"I am glad that Clark received this honor," Coach Hanley said. "He showed rare promise in his sophomore year and improved remarkably throughout his career. During his first two years he was a substitute center because a more experienced man had the call on the job. But he never complained.

"When it came time to step into a regular's position this fall he responded with a brand of ball that surprised and pleased all of us. After the first few weeks of practice there was never any doubt about who had the call on the center job.

"Criticism never feazed Clark. He played football because he liked it; he had a spirit which a coach always looks for in a player and seldom finds.

Clark Passes Flawelessly.

"This season we felt secure at all times regarding the center position. Clark played great defensive as well as offensive ball. I do not recall his making a poor pass all year, which is unusual even with the best of pivot men. On forward pass defense he showed uncanny ability to diagnose the play. There was hardly a game all year in which he did not intercept a pass and every game found him knocking down passes all over the field.

"He had the respect of every player and coach; his cheerfulness helped keep our chins up when the going was rough and I feel we all owe a lot to this chap for the success we enjoyed."

Clark is a product of Detroit where he starred as a football and basketball player at Northwestern High school. He is a senior in the school of commerce and a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Will Get Gold Footballs.

Following the election of Clark the squad was informed by K. L. Wilson, athletic director, that the athletic committee had approved the awarding of gold footballs to members of the team as testimonials for their winning a share in the Big Ten football championship.

The footballs will be awarded at the annual football dinner to be given the team by the Chicago Club of Northwestern Men at the Stevens hotel Dec. 6. At that time winners of varsity and freshman letters also will be announced.

PURDUE PICKS STEARS

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—George Stears of Chicago, sturdy left guard on Purdue's football teams of the last three years was selected by his teammates as the most valuable man to the squad during the season just closed, which brought the Boilermakers runner-up honors in the Big Ten race.

Members of each Big Ten squad are naming the man they consider the most valuable on their team and from ten players thus named, a committee of officials and football authorities will pick the one to receive the annual TRIBUNE award.

Seldom publicized, largely because he was the bottom of most of the pileups that kept the center of Purdue's line virtually impregnable, Stears has earned the admiration of every knowing football man, as well as that of his teammates for his consistently steady play. He played in every game of the season with the exception of the Butler game, in which none of the regulars was used.

He Can Block, Too.

Stears' defensive ability has always stood out, but his brilliance as a blocker on offense, although missed by the casual spectator, will always be remembered by his teammates. In the Purdue offensive system the guard is a fifth half back, who pulls out of the line on most wide running plays and precedes the runner as a blocker and interferer.

Although Stears weighs 203 pounds, his speed made him unusually valuable as a blocker and enabled him to get down the field under punts after fulfilling his duties in protecting the kicker.

Oregon State Arrives for Shrine Game

BY FRENCH LANE.

A battle in the snow and in very cold weather is the outlook when the football teams from the University of West Virginia and from Oregon State come together at Soldiers' field tomorrow.

This intersectional struggle and another game between the old grads of Notre Dame and Northwestern are being staged as a gridiron carnival by the Shriners to create a fund for the crippled children of Chicago.

While a blanket of snow settled over Soldiers' field yesterday afternoon the Oregon boys, who arrived at 11 o'clock in the morning, were running through a very lively practice drill on Stagg field at the University of Chicago. The snow didn't seem to bother them in this rehearsal.

But what will the result be this morning when the boys from Oregon roll out of their beds and get ready for another drill after so much exercise in Chicago's snow yesterday? They are not accustomed to snow in Oregon, although those cold drizzles harden them up for just such conditions as existed in Chicago yesterday, according to Coach Paul Schissler. The Oregon coach hails from Nebraska and knows just as much about Nebraska snow and sleet as he does of the cold drizzles in Oregon.

May Attract 75,000.

The West Virginia Mountaineers are to arrive in town this morning at 8 o'clock.

As the snow came down and a typical winter's day was hovering over the loop, friends of the Shriners began to think more than ever of the crippled kiddies for which this gridiron spectacle is being staged. They were buying tickets right and left. The sales neared the 60,000 mark. They may go to 75,000 today.

Work of clearing the snow away from Soldiers' field will begin today, and if there isn't a steady downfall of the white flakes today and tonight playing conditions will be good.

The loop will hear the first battle shouts of the far western and the eastern gridiron forces at an early hour this morning. At 8 o'clock, when most good citizens of the loop are getting their beauty sleep, the band and the rooters from Oregon will march down to the Baltimore and Ohio station and meet the football team, the band, and the rooters from West Virginia.

Stage Parade Today.

They will parade through the loop at that early hour. They will stage another parade this afternoon. The Oregon State forces have established headquarters at the Sherman hotel. The West Virginia crowd will be assembled at the Stevens hotel.

Will H. Wade, general chairman.
Melvin A. Traylor, civic chairman.
Judge Walter Steffan, games chairman.
Leon L. Loehr, tickets chairman.
Edwin Mills, finance chairman.
Thomas J. Houston, past potentate chairman.
George N. Mahlstrom, bands chairman.
George T. Donohue, stadium chairman.

125,000 TO SEE NOTRE DAME AND ARMY BATTLE

Expect Record Crowd for Game Saturday.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 25.—Attendance at the Army-Notre Dame football game Saturday at Soldiers' field will break all records. This was the statement today of J. Arthur Haley, who is in charge of ticket sales for the clash between the undefeated rivals.

"One hundred and twenty-five thousand will see Saturday's game," Haley said. "We have only 500 tickets left and there is an equal number unsold in Chicago. One hundred and nine thousand tickets have been purchased. Approximately 15,000 more will attend. This includes ushers, police, ticket forces, other employes, reporters and field passes.

Set Record in 1929.

Sell outs are no novelty to the undefeated Irish. Capacity houses watched them beat Pittsburgh, 35 to 19, run over Pennsylvania, 60 to 20, and defeat Northwestern, 14 to 0. The attendance for two eastern trips totaled 142,000. Saturday's estimate of 125,000 brings the three game attendance to more than quarter of a million. And 88,000, another full house, will see Southern California and Notre Dame at Los Angeles on Dec. 6. All of which indicates the decline in interest in collegiate football.

Preparations start tomorrow for the Army. All players are expected to be in shape for Saturday and, of course, this includes Tom Kassis, right guard; Bert Metzger, left guard, and Marty Brill, right half back, who were banged up badly before the game with Northwestern and whose injuries were aggravated in that game.

To Leave for Coast.

When the Irish leave South Bend Saturday morning they will not return until Dec. 10. The squad will remain in Chicago at the Auditorium hotel after the Army game until Monday afternoon at 3:30, when it entrains for Tucson, Ariz., the only stop en route to Los Angeles. Notre Dame will practice Wednesday and Thursday next week in Tucson, leaving Thursday night for Los Angeles and arriv-

Horween Says He's Off the Gridiron for Good--This Time

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Arnold Horween, the Chicago boy who made good in a big way as a player and coach with Harvard's football teams, may finally have renounced the coaching chore at his alma mater for the family leather business, but he's still willing to call time out from the latter activity for an hour of conversation about Harvard and football.

It's a long holler from the Charles river and Soldiers' field at Cambridge to the Chicago river and the dusty, cluttered factory district of the northwest side, but that is where Horween will be found henceforth. There will be no more ten week hookey stretches from the senior Horween' tannery, as there has been every autumn since 1926, when Arnold signed to coach the Crimson.

Horween, who still looks capable of inflicting considerable damage on a Yale line, made his retirement final yesterday when he came out in shirt sleeves to the front office of his father's leather factory from some mysterious inner place wherefrom strange odors emanated.

It's Final This Time.

"No, I won't go back next year," he said. "I must go on here. I've been saying that every year, of course, but they've always asked me to come back to Harvard. When I first went down there, it was understood that it was to be for only a year or two at first, but somehow I've gone back every season."

Horween said no definite successor for his job had been named, but mentioned Eddie Casey, Harvard's great running star of a decade ago, who has been assisting him with the Crimson back field, as leading the candidates.

During the five years of his coaching incumbency, Harvard won 20 games, lost seventeen, and tied three. His appointment as coach in March, 1926, came as a surprise. After he captained and played full back on the Harvard team of 1920, Arnold's next football appearance was in a Chicago Cardinal uniform. For four years he exams. I know of one fine player who attempted to pass the Harvard examination twice, failed, and went to another college, where he became a star.

"What's the biggest kick you got out of your work at Harvard, aside from winning games?" he was asked.

"Well, for one thing, it wasn't any particular play or game," he replied. "The biggest kick I got was my association with the players. There was never any question of discipline. There was a kind of unquestioning obedience. You told them to do something and they did it. You could probably ask one of them to walk off a ten story building and they'd do it. We never bawled them out for mistakes. The only mistake they could make was not to play hard enough. And that's all I asked when a man did decide to play football."

Would Keep Rules Intact.

Horween is not a member of the Association Against the Point After Touchdown and similar groups. Rather than change the rules every few years, he suggested that they be allowed to remain intact over a long period.

"Yes, I had my pet theories like any other coach," he said. "We've built up certain types of attack and defense to conform with one rule, and then just when it's in shape, the rule is changed. I would rather see the rules stand as they are, without further changes, for at least ten years."

Horween wasn't of a mind to name the greatest player he had ever seen, but he did name the greatest center, an important position with Crimson elevens. His choice was Ben Ticknor, captain of this year's team and an all-American choice last year.

The man who coached Harvard to three victories over Yale, its greatest opponent, during his five years' tenure, was asked what he would do with the present Harvard athletic system if it were turned over to him and he were allowed to do with it as he would.

Puts O. K. on System.

"Nothing," he said. "I think it fine as it is. Athletic control is in charge of a board composed of three faculty members, three alumni, and three undergraduates. Will Bingham, athletic director, is chairman of the board. There's no outside interference by alumni. A coach is not asked to produce a string of victories, but to give intelligent instruction."

Horween also told of a system which has long been in use at Harvard and Yale, and which he predicted would eventually find it way west. After the last curtailment of varsity candidates, a second varsity, class teams, dormitory teams, and 150 pound teams are organized from among boys who failed to make the varsity. Like the freshmen, all of these teams play similar Yale elevens, and all those playing in the Yale games are rewarded with minor letters. A Harvard football player doesn't earn his "H" unless he plays against Yale.

IN THE FALL REAL FAN'S FANCY TO FOOTBALL TURNS

So Turnstiles and Such Don't Affect Him.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

The Daily Northwestern of Northwestern university takes a gloomy view of the future of football, arguing that football, in the popular sense, is more an emotion than a game and that emotions cannot survive rational analysis. This is an idea which has been occurring to several college editors lately, although it does seem to have been suggested first in the adult commercial press and to have been taken up by the college papers only after it had been plausibly talked up elsewhere.

The goofy emotion of love has been subjected to similar inspection and disparagement from time to time, but it has never been more popular than at present, and the fact that jewelers, florists and dressmakers exploit it for commercial profit has not availed to abolish it.

It's Same with Football.

Similarly, the exploitation of the emotion of football for the pecuniary profit of a small element will prove no sufficient cause to neglect it to death. The conduct of a football season, like the prosecution of a successful romantic courtship, is subject to the conditions of the time. Formerly a pound of candy, a book or a ride to the end of the line and back on an open street car in summer was regarded as an attractive inducement to matrimony, and in football it was sufficient to put two teams on the field, blow a whistle and turn them loose at one another.

Life is more elaborate now and if a great team receives great publicity and draws great gate receipts the football emotion may remain as sturdy and as entertaining as that other incoherent fuddlement. The two seems comparable because both have a disturbing effect on their subjects, not to call them victims, and the gibberish that the football fan exclaims, of which the celebrated tocsin of the University of Illinois, "Skinny wow-wow!" is a fair example, is just as sensible as the confidential compliments which lovers exchange, but no more so.

Cites Bill Roper.

The Daily Northwestern cites Bill Roper, the retiring coach of Princeton, as a prophet of the doom of football, forgetting, however, that Mr. Roper has been the Billy Sunday of intercollegiate football, an exhorter

DICK HANLEY.

California Searches for Grid Coach

News to Hanley

DICK HANLEY, coach of Northwestern's Big Ten championship football team, yesterday insisted he knew nothing of rumors that he was to succeed Nibs Price as coach at the University of California.

"I haven't heard a thing about it," said Coach Hanley, who has been confined to his bed since the Notre Dame game Saturday because of a bad cold. "I haven't even been approached."

Coach Hanley is not under a signed contract at Northwestern, although he is known to have an unwritten agreement.

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 25.—(AP)—The University of California began today to look over the leading football coaches of the country to find a successor to Clarence (Nibs) Price, whose resignation was accepted last night.

The athletic council met to indorse candidates, but gave out no information. Its recommendations were to be considered tonight by the student executive committee, by whom the coaches are employed.

Names heard on the campus included Tad Jones, former Yale coach; Knute Rockne of Notre Dame, Dr. J. W. Wilce, former coach of Ohio State; Dick Hanley of Northwestern, and others from the east, north, and south.

Meanwhile the senior players of Price's squad framed a protest against acceptance of the coach's resignation, saying California's failure to win games this season was not the fault of the coach.

NO STATEMENT FROM WILCE.

Columbus, O., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Dr. J. W. Wilce, former football coach at Ohio State university, declined to comment tonight when informed he was among those mentioned as a possible successor to Clarence Price, who resigned as grid coach at the University of California. He said he would make no statement unless he receives a direct offer from the western institution.

Third period scoring — Boston, Galbraith [Oliver and Barry], 2:39; Chicago, Gottselig [Couture], 12:28. Penalties—Couture, 2; Abel, Shore.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 25.—(AP)—The Chicago Blackhawks continued their victory march tonight by squeezing the Boston Bruins out of a slam-bang overtime hockey contest, 4 to 3.

Ty Arbour gave the visitors the winning tally by slashing the puck through Goalie Thompson during a wild scrimmage directly in front of the Boston cage. Mush March had the first try and Arbour's score was made on the former's rebound.

Both teams scored a tally in each of the regular periods. Johnny Gottselig netting two pucks and Bill Adams getting the other. Clapper, Galbraith and Welland scored for the Bruins.

Abel Stops Bruins.

Taffy Abel, burly Chicago defense star, cut down many impressive Boston rushes and covered almost every inch of his team's territory.

After three minutes of rugged going Art Ross sent his second forward line into the fray and Dit Clapper picked up a loose puck inside of the Bruins' defense, barged straight down the middle, through Taffy Abel and Cy Wentworth and fired straight into Gardiner's cage for the opening score.

Then came some of the fastest hockey played here this season. Dutch Gainor and Mush March were penalized together and the teams, both a man shy, waged a determined struggle that continued unabated until Johnny Gottselig took the rubber inside of his blue line, sped down the left lane and fired at the Boston cage as he skated straight into Eddie Shore. The shot went under the Boston defense star's arm and, as Shore blocked Tiny Thompson's vision, winged its way into the Bruins' net to square the game.

Bruins Forge Ahead.

Bill Adams got the rubber in midice and wandered aimlessly down the left lane. Shore and Hitchman were slow in checking and the Blackhawk wing man took plenty of time on his angle shot at the Boston cage. It skipped slowly toward Goalie Thompson and landed inside the net as he took a wild swipe at it with his stick. Taffy Abel drew his second penalty of the game, a major, for tripping Owen when the latter on a solo dash tried to hurdle the big Chicago defense star. Just as Taffy entered the box Welland and Clapper staged a determined rush down the left wall. Cooney took his wing's pass and fired into the Chicago net to tie the score at two-all.

As the third period opened Barry obtained the puck when a Chicago rush was halted at the Boston blue line and sped down with his wings. He passed to Oliver as he entered Chicago territory and Harry returned it just as Barry broke through the Blackhawk defense pair and gained an opening in front of the net. Goalie Gardiner came out to stop Barry's shot and the rubber bounded to the left and gave Galbraith a chance to slash it into the vacant cage to put the Bruins on top.

Game Squared Again.

Taffey Abel stopped several promising rushes with timely checks as the rival forwards put on a dazzling exhibition of wide open hockey. The Bruins fought with fury to add to their score and several times, when one or the other of the Boston defense pair had made a rush a four-man affair, Gottselig broke loose and came within inches of scoring. Finally Johnny broke through with Couture and the former played the latter's rebound into the net and squared the game for the third time.

Both teams played cautious hockey for the first half of the extra session and the rival defenses were so tight that most rushes were halted at the blue lines. Galbraith finally broke through the Blackhawks' defense but had difficulty playing Barry's rolling pass. The rubber then went into Boston territory and Barry's poke-check spoiled Gottselig's try for goal.

A wild scrimmage was staged in front of the Boston net and during the jam Mush March got a straight shot which Goalie Thompson saved with his stick. The puck came back into the mob and Ty Arbour banged it back for the score that put the Blackhawks in the lead. The entire Boston team then went on the attack but the Blackhawks held firm until the final bell for victory.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

FOOTBALL POOLS.

THE WAKE previously has mentioned the growing tendency to football sweepstakes or pools conducted by prognosticators "just for the fun of the thing," but with a small financial reward to the winner at the expense of the other guessers.

There have been many methods of determining the winner, but points scored usually has been the basis. Because we think this thing will continue to grow and because we see no harm in it we have tried to think of the most equitable basis for deciding such contests. For those who approve we suggest this suggestion be clipped for next fall.

Let us assume twenty persons elect to guess on ten games. We would not make the test the closeness of the guesses unless winners were picked, which, after all, is the prime object. So if eight guessers picked eight or ten winners and the other twelve less than eight winners, those eight would be eligible for the pot.

Then our method would differ from most of those in vogue. It is customary for most pools to count the point difference between the actual scores of each team and the score guessed. For instance, if A guessed Notre Dame, 20; Northwestern, 7, he would be 6 points off on Notre Dame and 7 points off on Northwestern, or a total of 13 points.

To that system lies the objection that A in reality has guessed the relative difference between the two elevens correctly: that is, two touchdowns. Yet on the usual point system he has a poorer point score than B in guessing Notre Dame, 14; Northwestern, 7, or one touchdown. Yet B is charged only 7 points off.

So, with winners only figuring and losers discarded, we would subtract the difference between actual scores and estimated scores, and that variation would be the basis for the points charged against the guesser. Under this system A would have no points charged against him because he estimated a 14 point difference between the elevens. Doesn't that seem more rational?—if anything is rational in football guessing.

Point After Touchdown.

Dear Harve: Did you ever hear of Michigan losing a football game from failure to convert after touchdown? How many punts has it had blocked in modern football? Two. Is there any reason to believe Michigan has a corner on good kickers?

The point I wish to emphasize is that the point after touchdown is made possible not only by a good kicker but by good blocking on the part of the whole team. Good blocking receives little enough credit as it is. With a good line to give him plenty of time the water boy, after a week's practice, could do as well as the average kicker. With a poor line a good kicker is helpless.

Michigan Alpha, '30.

Editor's Note—Michigan Alpha's point is, in part, well taken. He implies Michigan has a good line and we agree, yet Michigan in Big Ten games this year made point after touchdown in only five of eight attempts. Illinois, in the lower half of the standing, kicked goal six times out of six attempts.

PETER VOLO GET AVERAGE $1,700 AT AUCTION SALE

Isolo Volo Brings Top Price of $4,500.

New York, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Backed by the reputation of their famous sire, ten prospective trotting champions sired by Peter Volo were auctioned off at a near record price today as the 36th Old Glory sale got under way at the Squadron A armory.

With horse fanciers from every section of the United States and several foreign countries bidding for another Peter Volo, a future Peter the Great or a second Dan Patch, the ten yearlings brought an average of $1,700 each. All were part of the consignment of Walnut Hall farm, Donerall, Ky., which is owned by Dr. Ogden M. Edwards Jr. of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Average Less Than 1929.

Thirty-eight yearlings consigned by Walnut Hall farm today brought $36,850, an average of $970. Last year the entire consignment of 78 yearlings brought an average of $1,205. Failure of Eva Taurida, a daughter of Guy Axworthy, to bring more than $750 held the Walnut Hall average below the one thousand dollar mark. Roy Miller, superintendent of the Kentucky Breeding farm, had expected the well bred filly to bring at least $2,500.

Eagan Tops Buyers.

Fred Eagan, Lexington, Ky., trainer, stepped into the sales arena to pay the top prices of the day, paying $4,500 for Isolo Volo and $3,000 for Raider, both of which were sired by Peter Volo. Eagan purchased the pair of future trotters for an unknown buyer, who is entering the harness racing game. The Lexington horseman also laid $2,500 on the table for Provoker, a black son of San Francisco.

W. T. Smith of New York City also got a son of San Francisco, but was forced to bid $3,000 before Williglow was knocked down to him. Ralph R. Keeler of Auburn, N. Y., paid $2,100 for Shiela, a brown filly sired by Peter Volo, while Harry Brusie of Danbury, Conn., bid $1,650 for another get of the country's ranking sire. E. J. Kirby of Goshen, N. Y. obtained another of the Peter Volo offerings when he bid $2,000 for the filly, Tartar.

MAROONS RACE OVER RANGERS FOR 5 TO 2 WIN

MONTREAL, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Continuing their rapid recovery of form the Montreal Maroons outplayed the New York Rangers tonight to score a 5 to 2 victory, their second of the National Hockey league season. Although the game was fought at a furious pace, only five penalties were given. Hooley Smith led the Maroons in scoring, sinking two goals on cleverly faked passes and quick shots.

QUAKERS BEAT LEAFS.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 25.—(AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs suffered their first defeat of the season and the Philadelphia Quakers won their first game in a National Hockey league match here tonight. Benny Leonard's team triumphed by a score of 2-1. Not only was it the first defeat for the leaders of the Canadian division, but it marked the first time this season they had been scored on.

In Fall Fan's Fancy Turns to Football

who could set blasé 205 pound seniors to blubbering in the dressing room between halves and send them out on the field in a frame of mind to die for Princeton if their dying could be of any slight assistance in the frustration of Yale or Harvard.

The debunking of sport in this country has been carried on so enthusiastically that the players have been made to appear as mere mechanics doing their respective jobs, whereas the truth is that even in professional baseball the athletes are animated by the spirit of the sporting hero.

Al Simmons of the Athletics, batting against Burleigh Grimes of the Cardinals in a world series game, may be just an employé competing with an employé of another firm in a business deal, but he is also a great player matching his skill against the skill of another master, and any one who insists upon regarding the two merely as employés to the exclusion of the sporting character of their rivalry simply denies himself the fun of the game.

Don't Take Beatings for Pay.

In football the players are mainly kids and even if some of them are being franked through school by wealthy alumni it seems foolish to imagine that they would take such beatings as they do merely to earn the cheap doles that constitute the athletic subsidies. The boys who were subsidized and then disowned by the University of Iowa could have earned much better wages than the university gave them with much less risk, drudgery, and pain if they had been thinking only of their pay.

The students who think they are wasting their time and suspending their intelligence to rise and sing the alma mater songs or bark the regular cheer for the team probably feel that their devotion is being imposed upon when it is turned into a profit for the coach and the others who make money out of football.

They're a Serving Commerce.

Yet the colleges are exalting commerce in their course and if football is the means of selling millions of dollars' worth of gasoline, tires, chrysanthemums, coonskin and oilskin coats, hotel and railroad accommodations, meals, and athletic equipment every season, then one of the great gods of the present civilization is being served.

I doubt that football will expire, although the football customs of the noncombatant undergraduates undoubtedly are changing. The final question will always be whether the student is or is not a sport fan, and if he is a fan he will forget, in the thrall of the game and college loyalty, that there are turnstiles at the entrances. The young editors are troubling themselves over no new problem. Loyalties have been exploited in much more greedy fashion before.

Woods and Waters by BOB BECKER

Two easygoing four-footed assistants by the name of Pauline and George, and a portable radio set were big features of our recent goose hunt on the Mississippi river sand bars not far from Miller City, Ill. It may seem that any time the goose hunting is so good that you and a partner can get two limits of honkers [8] in an hour and a half or two hours there apparently is nothing more to be said about the thrills and the sport of sand bar shooting. But the fact remains that Pauline and George, two cute, sleepy eyed burros, and the radio set played a big part in our recent trek across the sandy wastes along the Mississippi river.

The burros haul small two wheeled carts from camp to the blinds which may be anywhere from a quarter of a mile to a mile and a half from "mainland." In the carts are live goose decoys, duck decoys, lunch, guns, hunting coats, water bottles and other equipment.

Paul H. Davis, a Chicago goose hunter, owns Pauline, so this demure little burro with a moth eaten coat was hitched up the other morning to tote our duffel to our goose pit. George, a gray, slow footed burro, was pressed into service by Frank Miller of St. Louis. George, being trained to "heel" and follow the hunter, was just left to himself and he stalked along behind us like a well trained hunting dog.

As you can imagine, the little donkeys and their carts filled with long necked goose decoys, which held their heads high and honked every now and then, plus the marching hunters hustling through the sand in the light of the early morning sun, made quite a picture.

De Paul Coach Points Team for St. John's

With one more game remaining on De Paul university's football schedule, Coach Eddie Anderson yesterday held a long workout in an effort to eliminate offensive lapses experienced in the San Francisco battle.

De Paul's Blue Demons will close their season Sunday at Soldiers' Field against St. John's university of Brooklyn in a charity game for the benefit of St. Vincents orphanage.

Coach Anderson spent yesterday afternoon seeking a quarter back. Frank Hartman has been playing this position most of the season, alternating with Joe Dea. Kingsland was called into action Sunday and was used yesterday.

SHAMROCKS HOLD INITIAL PRACTICE ON STADIUM ICE

Dennenay Is Only Man with Serious Injury.

Manager Johnny Farquhar, Trainer Tom Dyer, and 15 Shamrocks arrived in Chicago yesterday and took their first workout at the Chicago stadium, where they open the American Hockey league season tomorrow night with the Tulsa Oilers, who finished second in the 1929-30 American playoffs. President Tom Shaughnessy was at the rink to witness the initial home appearance of his club. The Shamrocks speeded through a fast hour, the doffed their green and white playing togs until Thursday night.

Former Blackhawks will appear in the lineups of both clubs. With the Shamrocks there will be Ralph [Bouncer] Taylor and Bobby Burns, and with the Oilers Bob Trapp and Duke Keats.

Dennenay's Hand Fractured.

The Shamrocks open their home season in good shape. Capt. Corbett Dennenay's injury, incurred in Tuesday night's rough game with the Minneapolis Millers, has turned out to be the fracture of a small bone in the back of his hand which is not expected to incapacitate him beyond a week or ten days. Taylor and MacKenzie have stick cuts as mementoes of the Minneapolis series, but will be set to go Thursday night.

Oilers Arrive Tomorrow.

The Oilers are expected to reach Chicago tomorrow.

QUICKEST WAY TO KNOCK A COLD

Millions Say of This Proved Way You Feel Like a New Person Almost Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

"It happened in Cincinnati. For three days, I tested smokers in every walk of life. They sampled the four leading brands with names concealed . . . picked the one each liked best.

"One small group of 14 smokers turned in a verdict against OLD GOLD. But at Shipley's Restaurant, the Cincinnati Enquirer, the Times Star, Cincinnati Post, Crosley Radio Co., Advertisers Club and Cincinnati Club, OLD GOLD maintained its winning streak.

"Which only goes to show that, while OLD GOLD may lose in small tests, you can't defeat it in groups large enough to be truly representative of the American taste in cigarettes."

LIKE MR. ROCKNE, MULLEN SEEKS SPEEDY TALENT

So Walker Is to Fight Christner Friday.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Football and boxing are kindred sports, according to lots of folks, and the boys in the counting room at the Coliseum are hoping that this affinity prevails over the coming week-end to the extent that a goodly share of the 125,000 who are expected to attend the Notre Dame-Army game on Saturday will be in town Friday night and look at the Mickey Walker-K. O. Christner boxing show.

Jim Mullen, matchmaker for the show, yesterday gave out an interview in which he hinted that he had brought the two fighters together with the tastes of Notre Dame football fans in view. Mr. Mullen said in part:

"Knute Rockne selects his players not on the basis of beef and brawn but because of their aptitude in employing skill, cunning, and speed. Metzger, Mr. Rockne's star guard, is many pounds lighter than any guard he's fixed this year, but he's quick as a cat and knows his business, just like Mickey Walker.

Walker Gives Away Weight.

"Walker will be obliged to give away many pounds to his adversary Friday night and I know that this will appeal to all Notre Dame fans who will have brave little Metzger in mind when they see Walker in there battling that big star, Christner. I consider my matchmaking just at this time a master stroke and I hope the Notre Dame fans will appreciate what I have done for them.

"There's one other thing. I don't want to be knocking the Notre Dame-Army show but it looks like it will be pretty tough out there on the lake front, whereas everybody knows how cozy it is in the Coliseum. It may be that we'll arrange for holders of both fight and game tickets to stay right at the Coliseum and keep warm until 10 minutes before game time."

We always are a little timid about the use of pretty adjectives and such in writing advance stuff about fights. Fortunately, the public relations counsellor does not share our timidity. Just read this, for instance:

"An Astonished Gathering."

"Walker worked yesterday before an astonished and admiring gathering at the Chicago loop gym and will do so today and tomorrow. He is taking on all the big and best heavies the gym owners can unearth and the way he is swatting them about is making Jack Johnson's eyes pop out."

What, we ask you, what finer tribute to Mickey's preparatory activities could be paid than that contained in the foregoing temperate passage?

But lest we seem unfair to Walker's coming opponent, we hasten to quote another paragraph from the public relations counsellor:

"Christner drew a big crowd to the Arcade gym yesterday, where he is boxing with Manager Tiny Herman and all comers. The Akron rubber man with the iron fists looks fresh and fit for the Walker fight and is predicting that he will knock out the middleweight boss."

There was something, too, about battling Bozo coming to town in a toy auto, but we're a little afraid of those small auto gags.

Harrison Prep Quintets Defeat Faculty, Alumni

Harrison Tech's oasketball teams opened their season at the school gymnasium last night. The heavyweights defeated the faculty team, 28 to 18, and the lights downed the alumni, 16 to 14, in an overtime game. Capt. Eddie Odron led the heavyweight scorers with 8 points, while Football Coach Bob Daugherty featured for the faculty. George Sima's basket in the extra period brought the lights victory.

CARDS AND BEARS MEET FOR 20TH TIME TOMORROW

When the Bears and Cardinals clash at Wrigley field tomorrow morning it will be the 20th meeting of Chicago's National pro football league entries. The Bears have won nine games and the Cards six. Four contests have been ties.

The contest tomorrow promises to be one of the best ever played between the aggregations. Both teams have been playing their best in recent games. The Bears turned back the New York Giants and the Cardinals upset the Green Bay packers a week and a half ago.

Savoldi at Half Back.

Joe Savoldi, the bruising line crasher who has stepped from the University of Notre Dame back field to that of the Bears, is receiving considerable attention at the north siders' camp. Coach Ralph Jones expects to use the Three Oaks, Mich., performer at half back instead of full where he played with Notre Dame Nagurski will start at full, Brumbaugh at quarter and Red Grange at the other half.

Ernie Nevers, Gene Rose, Belden Boyd and Howard Maple comprise the Cardinals' back field. Linemen have had an opportunity to recuperate from injuries received in the Green Bay and Portsmouth games. Duke Slater was not used against the Memphis Tigers last Sunday and Herb Blumer, Kiesling and Jake Williams played only for a half. After taking a safe lead over the Southerners few plays were called through the line.

Expect Large Crowd.

At the first meeting of the Cardinals and Bears this year the latter eleven won, 32 to 6, but the Card's line was fatigued after having participated in five hard games in two weeks. Injuries also hampered the playing of both teams.

Tomorrow's game will start at 11 a. m. From the sales of tickets indications are that the largest crowd of Chicago's professional football season will attend.

SOCCER TEAMS IN DOUBLE HEADER AT SPARTA FIELD

A soccer double header is scheduled for Sparta field, 21st street and Kostner avenue, tomorrow. In the curtain raiser the Sparta second eleven will play the Macduffs in a major league game. The feature game will bring together the Bricklayers and Sparta A. B. A.

The gate receipts will be donated to a fund for the relief of Bohemian unemployed.

MICHIGAN CITY INDIANS WIN.

Record Crowd of 125,000 to See Notre Dame Meet Army

Undefeated in eight games, champions of the central west by their victory over Northwestern, the Irish will win a claim to eastern honors Saturday if they defeat the Army. Although the rivalry with the Cadets is of comparatively recent origin, beginning in 1913 when the Dorais to Rockne forward passing combination won, 35 to 13, it has become of major rank with the years. The teams have met every season since 1913, with the exception of the war year, 1918. Notre Dame has won eleven games and the Army, four. In 1922 the teams played a scoreless tie.

Rockne Doesn't Fear Army.

Rockne does not seem alarmed over the Army team. Nevertheless, the same veteran forwards who checked Notre Dame's offense completely last year again will face the Irish, but a new group of ball carriers will assault Notre Dame's defenses.

Late this afternoon a fine blanket of snow was spread on top of yesterday's precipitation, while a piercing western wind swirled across the white practice plains. Consequently the Notre Dame reserves, who face Vanderbilt reserves Thanksgiving day in a charity game at Nashville, Tenn., met with Rockne in the fieldhouse. Dan Hanley, the husky sophomore full back, now substituting for Larry Mullins since Joe Savoldi's dereliction, was included in today's drill. Hanley is getting every attention, for his playing may be a deciding factor against the Army and the Trojans.

The reserves were preceded by the old timers, whom Rockne sent through their session just as in past seasons he commanded them when they played on the varsity.

ARMY DRILLS IN SNOW

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Getting a taste of the weather which may confront the Army Saturday at Chicago, Maj. Ralph I. Sasse held the most strenuous scrimmage of the year this afternoon in a driving storm of snow and sleet. The wet, heavy ball and muddy field seriously handicapped the players, and many of the attack plays failed to click.

Bowman, quarter back; Carlmark, left end; Suarez, right tackle; Humber, left guard, and Malloy, reserve end, were on the side lines in order to prevent their injuries being aggravated.

The back field combination used this afternoon at the start of the workout was Carver at quarter back; Glattly and Kilday, half backs, and Stecker, full back. Another back field used included MacWilliam, Sebastian, Herb, and Fields.

Throw Passes in Wet.

A forward pass drill was held, but the heavy going slowed up the receivers so that Lieut. Born and Maj. Sasse were unable to obtain much information. Fields, Stecker, and Frentzel did most of the passing, with the ends acting as receivers. King, Burlingame, Malloy, and Fletcher received considerable attention from the coaches, and Fletcher was the most successful receiver.

In the line Armstrong worked at Suarez's slot at right tackle and Summerfeld was at Humber's position.

MISS KILLILEA, BASEBALL CHIEF, WED TO DOCTOR

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 25.—(AP)—In a simple ceremony at her home Miss Florence Killilea president of the Milwaukee American association baseball club, was married today to Dr. Michael H. Boley by Judge John C. Karel.

Her only attendant was the bridegroom's sister, Miss Ilse Boley. Dr. M. H. Sherwood was the bridegroom's attendant. Only the immediate families were present.

Dr. and Mrs. Boley left today for Detroit and Montreal, where Mrs. Boley will attend the meeting of minor league baseball presidents.

Nine Clubs Register for City Chess Championship

The Chicago City Chess club held its annual meeting last night at the Hamilton club. Nine clubs registered to play for the city championship starting Dec. 9. Two new members—the Commonwealth Edison and Marshall Field Apartment clubs are entered for the first time. The clubs represented are:

Hamilton club, Hawthorne club, Illinois Bell club, Nordic club, University of Chicago, Commonwealth Edison club, Mar hall Field Apartment club, Chicago Checker and Chess club, Northwest Chess club.

ICE SKATING WAR ENDS; GOVERNING GROUPS MERGE

Speed ice skating in the Chicago district again is under the control of a single association. After three years of divided authority during which two associations functioned, a consolidation of the warring organizations was effected last night at a meeting at the Norwegian-American A. A. clubhouse.

The new association, which is affiliated with the Amateur Skating Union of America, the governing body of all amateur speed ice skating in the United States and which holds membership in the American Olympic committee, was named the Illinois-Western Skating association. This name was evolved from the old Western Skating association and the Illinois Skating association.

Twenty Clubs Represented.

Twenty clubs were represented at the meeting, which was governed by a slate of officers made up of members of the two old associations. They are:

The organizations represented at the meeting were: Northwest Triangles, Sleipner A. C., Northwest Skating club, Norwegian-American A. A., Tribune A. A., Opal A. A., Henry A. A., Franklin S. & A. C., Hyde Park Post American Legion, Walton Arrows, Amphion A. C., Elcaya A. C., Winnemac Park A. C., Majestic S. C., Rogers Park S. C., Northwest Parks, South Chicago Skating club, municipal playgrounds, board of education playgrounds.

The settlement between the associations was made last week at a meeting of the officials of both the Illinois Skating association and the Western Skating association. At that time articles of alliance were drawn which included the new slate of officers drawn from the ranks of both groups.

Predicts Lively Season.

President Ellingsen after the meeting last night predicted the greatest speed skating season in history for Chicago fans. The new Illinois-Western association has more members than any other skating organization which ever controlled the sport locally and all of the clubs present last night indicated their willingness to promote derbies this season.

Michigan Names Hudson to Lead 1931 Grid Eleven

MARTIN ROY HUDSON.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 25.—[Special.]—Martin Roy Hudson, stellar back field man of the Michigan 1929 and 1930 teams, has been named captain of the 1931 team, it was announced at the annual football banquet tonight. Hudson succeeds James O. H. Simrall, who piloted the Wolverine 1930 eleven to share a conference title.

Hudson played quarter back for four years at the Girard, O., High school, and was made a half back when he came to Michigan. During the last season he played full back. He showed ability as a freshman and in spring practice of 1929 was awarded the Chicago alumni trophy as the most promising of the crop coming up from the yearling ranks.

Used at half back early last year, he faltered when the team went bad and returned to form only in the Harvard game, when he split the Crimson line for 20 yards and the winning touchdown. He fractured three ribs in that engagement and was of no more use to the team during the remainder of the campaign.

Placed at full back this year, he demonstrated speed and power, which, combined with his 190 pounds, made him useful as both a plunger and runner. He carried the ball oftener than any man of the team and, with Wheeler, was the team's best ground gainer. He scored 30 points in major competition, six each against Ohio State, Illinois, and Harvard, and 12 against Chicago.

16 MAROON GRID PLAYERS RECEIVE MAJOR LETTERS

Sixteen players on Coach A. A. Stagg's University of Chicago football team received major letters yesterday. Old English letters were awarded nine players. Three members of the Japanese baseball tour were awarded major letters. They were Harold Plaume, Arthur Cahill, and John Gray.

Among the sixteen awarded major letters, eight have earned their letter before. They were Andrew Brislen, Thomas Cowley, Sam Horwitz, Walter Knudson, Paul Stagg, Walter Trude, and Errett Van Nize.

Art Abbott, Stanley Hamburg, Louis Kanne, Kenneth Mackenzie, and Bernard Wien received major letters for two years' service. Robert MacNeille and Alvin Relwitch saw service for three years and were awarded a letter.

MUNN LEADS GOPHERS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. —(AP)—Clarence Munn of Minneapolis today was elected captain of the 1931 University of Minnesota football team. Munn, who had played at guard this season, has been one of the best punters Minnesota has had in years.

ELI NAME BOOTH.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Albert J. Booth Jr., for two years star quarter back of the Yale football team, was tonight elected captain of the 1931 squad. The election was held at a banquet which officially concluded the 1930 season.

BRUINS BATTLE ROSENBLUMS IN OPENER TONIGHT

Charley Murphy, Loyola's all-American center; Pat Herlihy, Ray Kennedy and the remainder of the Chicago Bruins come home to the Chicago Stadium tonight to open the American league season against the world's champion Cleveland Rosenblums.

CHARLES MURPHY.

Instead of two preliminary games between amateur teams there will be only one throughout this season. In that the Taylor Trunks will meet the opposition available. In tonight's opener, the Trunks will play the Harvey girls' team. The Trunks have the same lineup which rolled up a long string of triumphs last year. Ella Smith, the outstanding star, again patrols back guard.

The Bruins' start against Cleveland will see Murphy making his first appearance as a regular. Murphy reported too late to get in condition for extensive service in the first two games of the year, but three practice sessions at Fort Wayne and last night's game have convinced Coach Frank Morganweck that the former Loyola star is ready to take up his forward duties regularly.

Cleveland comes to Chicago with the same team which won three consecutive world's championships, but which has been beaten a number of times this season.

FORT WAYNE, 25; BRUINS, 16.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Fort Wayne won an American league basketball game from the Chicago Bruins, 25 to 16, here tonight. The first half was closely contested and marked by great basket shooting on the part of both teams. The Hoosiers led, 14 to 11, at the intermission. Both teams were held to two baskets in the second half.

WHEAT MARKET BEHAVES AS IF IT IS OVERBOUGHT

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Bullish news attracted little attention from wheat traders, as the market acted somewhat overbought yesterday. All rallies brought in persistent selling. Relative weakness in foreign markets had a depressing effect and, while there was a rally at one time to above the finish of the previous day, the close was at net losses of ⅞@1⅝c with old December at 76c; March, 78@78¼c; May, 80¼@80¼c and July, 76⅛@76⅝c, the latter showing the most decline. Weakness in corn was a factor in making the break toward the last.

Price changes in wheat were decidedly rapid at times, with considerable evening up under way for the Thanksgiving holiday. Shorts covered freely on the bulges, but commission house buying failed to follow the upturns. When selling orders appeared, the market eased quickly. There was buying of futures during the day that appeared to be completing the close of a fairly large spread with Winnipeg, and the action of the latter market in closing 1⅞@2⅜c lower for the day tended to confirm this view.

Russian Situation Mixed.

The American wheat trade is unable to understand the various reports being received regarding the situation as to Russian exports. According to press cables received yesterday there had been a sharp advance in grain prices at Constanza, Rumania, due to the arrival of vessels for cargoes which had found it impossible to secure grain at Russian ports. This was in line with the statement of a soviet trade delegation made at Hamburg, Germany, to the effect that Russia was not exporting at present. On the other hand, a cargo of Russian wheat for December shipment was sold to England on Monday.

A sale of 25,000 tons of flour, equal to 1,000,000 bu wheat, has been made at the Pacific coast to go to the orient in the last week, according to a message from Portland, Ore. The demand for Manitobas yesterday was much less active. According to brokers the stabilization corporation had buying orders in the pit to take the May at 78c and 79c, but at no time did the deliveries come close to that price. Liverpool closed ⅝@⅞d higher while Buenos Aires was ½c lower.

Corn Market Weakens.

Corn market was a distinct disappointment to the trade. There was evidence of scattered commission house liquidation on the bulges, as well as closing of spreads between oats and corn, the latter being sold. Buying was not aggressive. The best support came from holders of bids and from local bulls with the close at net losses of 1¼@1⅜c, old December being 75⅛@75¼c; March, 77⅛@77⅜c; May, 79⅛@79⅝c, and July, 80⅛@80¼c.

Weather conditions over the main corn belt were generally unfavorable for the movement, but despite small arrivals the local spot basis was only steady, while the eastern demand took 45,000 bu. There is a strong bullish sentiment in some quarters, but as yet the trade is not broad enough to absorb selling which develops when other grains weaken.

TWO MIDWEST LEADERS SEE STEEL PICKUP

Cleveland, O., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Increased employment and improved earnings were predicted for the steel industry tonight on the strength of opinions by two of the most prominent steel men in the middle west.

The fact that the country is using more steel products than mills are producing was taken by B. C. Fairless, first vice president of the Republic Steel corporation, as proof that increased production is near at hand. E. J. Kulas, president of the Otis Steel company and of the Midland Products corporation, said higher production will be accompanied by higher prices.

The increase in prices of steel products has "simply got to come," Kulas said. "Steel companies are not making money and large consumers of steel in forcing prices down have created a serious situation for many of the producers."

Kulas pointed out that the steel industry is committed to a policy of high wages as being an essential to restoration of normal business conditions. "It is important also to pay dividends," he said. "The prices of ore, limestone, and other things that go into the manufacture of steel, as well as taxes, are not coming down, so the only thing we can do is to raise prices. The present condition is for greater business."

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Wheat prices are going through a readjustment period. There is evening up at all leading points and the trade would be fairly bullish, it is said, with a little more encouragement. Friends of the market believe that the latest reports from Russia, suggesting that the soviet is about through shipping, if true, will improve the condition of the foreign markets and eventually have a strengthening influence. For the present the disposition is to buy on all breaks. It was said that one of the largest traders, who recently was credited with covering a large line of shorts, was over on the buying side.

The Chicago Board of Trade is buying its memberships at $10,000, having secured five within the last two weeks. The accumulative funds for the purchase of memberships is $250,000.

New members elected by the directors yesterday are David L. Barsalour, Jr., secretary-treasurer of the Electro Gas corporation and Paul T Barnes, lawyer.

The nominal stabilization price for old December wheat is 73c and for old May wheat is 78c. There have been rumors that the price was advanced which were authoritatively denied.

COTTON AVERAGE LOWER

A narrow and lower range of prices, with a moderate trade, featured the cotton market yesterday. Liverpool was fairly strong and closed 4 to 5 points higher, with spot sales 4,000 bales. American markets were not affected to any extent by light precipitation and freezing weather over a large part of the central area and as far south as Vicksburg. Closings were around the lowest of the day. Chicago futures were 4 to 12 points lower, with other markets off mainly 3 to 12 points, the distant months leading in weakness. Spots in New York were 5 points lower at 10.80c, New Orleans lost 5 points to 10.45c, Galveston 10.55c, and Houston 10.50c.

Receipts of cotton in Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, and Louisiana so far this season to Nov 14 aggregate 1,431,601 bales less than for the same time last year with aggregate deliveries of 3,060,664 bales this year, against 4,492,265 bales last year. Prices follow:

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

A moderate export demand prevailed for Manitoba wheats at the seaboard with sales of 250,000 bu estimated in all positions. A Portland, Ore., message said 25,000 tons of flour, equal to 1,000,000 bu wheat had been sold to the Orient in the last week. Further business is expected, as firmness in the cash wheat market has been met by lower ocean freight rates.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Tuesday: Wheat, 4 cars; corn, 81 cars; oats, 11 cars; rye, 1 car.

PRODUCTION OF OIL CUT 22,700 BARRELS DAILY

Industry's Battle Is Bearing Fruit.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The vagaries of business and industry in the present period of lull were reflected in yesterday's news. Perhaps the best news came from the petroleum industry, which has been waging a long fight against overproduction, while the most disappointing news was a considerable decline in railroad traffic. And in between were items from the automobile and copper industries.

A decrease of 22,700 barrels a day in the country's crude oil output was effected last week, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. This brought total production down to 2,281,830 barrels a day. Smaller output in fields east of the Rocky mountains, with Oklahoma leading off with a reduction of 22,150 barrels a day, more than offset an increase of 5,400 barrels a day in California.

Refiners took about as much crude oil last week as in the preceding week and operated at 64.1 per cent of capacity, compared with 64.2 per cent. Stocks of gasoline declined 731,000 barrels to a total of 36,532,000 barrels, while gas and fuel oil stocks declined 545,000 barrels to a total of 129,254,000 barrels.

Commission Issues Order.

The Texas railroad commission issued an order, effective for 60 days from Nov. 27, curtailing the allowable output of the state to 680,238 barrels a day. The present allowable production is 750,000 barrels a day, although the commission was given evidence that the actual output was about 780,000 barrels daily.

With the holiday buying season approaching, a lull in general trade marked the second week of this month, judged by the movement of commodities by the railroads. Loading of revenue freight for the week ended Nov. 15 totaled 829,251 cars, a decline of 52,150 cars from the preceding week and also a decrease of 153,675 cars from the corresponding week in 1929. Miscellaneous freight fell 65,563 cars below a year ago, while merchandise, forest products and ore also showed large recessions. Grain and grain products showed a small increase.

As everybody knows, the automobile industry has been in the doldrums. So the monthly report of the commerce department showing only 150,044 cars produced in October came as little surprise. It was the lowest output in the United States for any month in recent years and compared with 216,017 cars in September and, 380,017 cars in October, 1929.

Sales were at correspondingly low ebb last month. The first thirty-seven states to report new passenger car registrations showed a total of 109,771, compared with 200,535 in October, last year. However, both production and sales were adversely affected by the fact that the trade was awaiting the bringing out of new models, which comes earlier this year than usual.

Johns Copper Movement.

The Anaconda Copper Mining company and its subsidiaries, constituting the leading group in the industry, yesterday joined the copper curtailment movement by announcing a cut of 10 per cent in production. The Anaconda group includes the Andes Copper, Chile Copper, and Greene Cananea Copper companies. The curtailment movement among the larger producers and the fact that smaller companies have reduced output as much as 40 per cent under last year's flush production figures has inspired some hope that producers may be able to maintain their price of 12 cents a pound for the metal, although substantial concessions have prevailed for several days. The St. Joseph Lead company was reported to have reduced its output by 25 per cent.

"We approach the Christmas season with retailers' stocks well below last year and with wholesalers' supplies inadequate to meet a normal holiday demand," the Central Trust Company of Illinois warns in its monthly review. "Holiday buying will be in smaller volume than last year, regardless of what the buying power of the public may be. It will be remembered that the holiday buying of 1929 was much larger than was expected and merchandising concerns were hard pressed.

"This year, with much smaller stocks and with depleted sales forces, it will be physically impossible to handle more than 85 per cent of last year's buying, even though it should appear. Wholesalers are somewhat similarly situated through having smaller sales organizations and reduced service staffs. The holiday trade promises to be all and more than can be efficiently handled."

Fiscal Net of Walgreen Drug Chain Is $1,591,356

The Walgreen company reports for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 net profit of $1,591,356, equal to $1.55 a share on the common stock. The company has changed its fiscal year to end Sept. 30, instead of Dec. 31. For the year ended Dec. 31 last net profit was $3,130,465, or $3.29 a share. Net sales for the first nine months of the year were $39,128,245, against $33,189,625 for the same period of 1929.

Butter Prices Break on Mercantile Exchange Here

Butter prices yesterday dropped to a new record for this time of year on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Both cash and future deliveries were affected by the break. Carried on a wave of almost frantic selling, November futures fell to 27 cents a pound, a low record by 1½ cents. December deliveries fell to 26⅝ cents and January to 27¼ cents.

Says Decentralization Means Spreading of Cities

BY SCRUTATOR.

Decentralization tendencies in industry, much talked of in the last few years, have certain limitations. It is entirely possible that a good many small and medium sized communities have been nourishing hopes for manufacturing enterprises, based on the assumption that great cities are due to break up, that will never be fulfilled.

At present concentration, rather than spreading out, of the means of producing industrial wealth is the striking fact. A few figures, compiled and made public by the National Industrial Advertisers association in cooperation with the department of commerce, serve to illustrate this.

They show that, while there are 3,073 counties in the United States, 345 of these political subdivisions produce 83 per cent of the industrial wealth which is estimated at sixty-four billion dollars annually. Twenty-one of the largest counties turn out 39 per cent of the total annual industrial wealth. Each of these twenty-one produce goods valued in excess of 500 million dollars a year.

Cook County Ranks First.

It may or may not be news, but Cook county, in which Chicago is located, is the most important industrial producing county in the country. Its products, valued annually at $3,844,401,346, exceed those of New York county, which includes Manhattan, by a narrow margin. The New York county total is $3,813,495,044. These two counties are pretty well in a class by themselves. Wayne county, Michigan, including Detroit, is third with $2,215,882,075, and Philadelphia county fourth with $1,861,501,951.

With Cook county and New York county between them sending out nearly 12 per cent of the manufacturing production of the entire country, decentralization apparently had not gone very far up until the end of 1929. A further bit of statistical information is that seventy-one of the more than 3,000 counties in the country consume 60.7 per cent of the total volume of materials, supplies, fuel and power sold each year to American industry.

It is accepted as axiomatic that the great cities of the world were built up around the steam engine, and it has been claimed that greater mobility of power would tend to put the smaller community back into the running. Electricity is the most mobile form of power; yet its limitations of movement are considerable. It costs as much to build 200 miles of transmission line for a given capacity as to build a steam plant of that capacity.

Cites Governing Factors.

Mobility of power has aided decentralization, but it has been a decentralization of the more crowded industrial areas rather than a breakup and a shifting of their activities to far away cities. Chicago industries as they expand tend to move outward, in many cases passing county boundaries and even crossing state lines. Power through electric wires is virtually as plentiful in Gary and along the western edge of the Chicago switching district as in the city. Factors like ease of transportation, cheaper land and absence of congestion govern more than power.

There has, of course, been a movement of textile firms into the south. Low priced labor was the goal there; a consideration that for a time at least will suffice to overcome certain disadvantages. For most industries proximity to markets or low transportation rates for raw materials in and finished goods out are more important than anything else. New York and Chicago have these advantages and in addition labor which, if higher paid, nevertheless produces more for the money.

It is no more than a guess but it will be surprising if ten years from now 345 counties fail to hold 83 per cent of industrial production. Decentralization will continue to mean, as it has in the past, a spreading out of cities instead of an abandonment of them for the small town.

CHAIN STORES MAKE GOOD RECORD FOR YEAR TO DATE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 25.—National Steel corporation directors have voted to purchase the property and assets of the Michigan Steel corporation at Ecorse and assume its liabilities. A meeting of the stockholders of the Michigan corporation will be called shortly to pass on the proposal. The assets of the merged corporations will total around $140,000,000.

Details of the proposed merger have not yet been announced, but it is understood that Michigan Steel stockholders will receive cash and securities for their stock on the basis of $50 a share, with an option to secure stock in the National corporation equal to one-fourth of the consideration received by them.

The Michigan Steel company was organized in 1922 by George R. Fink, president of National Steel corporation and his associates. The plant has been repeatedly enlarged and now manufactures a diversified line of steel products in addition to steel sheets for the automobile industry, which first called it into be... Earnings in 1929 were nearly 400 times those for 1924, the first year for which earnings were reported. At the end of 1929 it had total assets of $6,638,019.

National Steel corporation was organized in 1929 through a merger of the Great Lakes Steel corporation, Weirton Steel company, and certain properties of the M. A. Hanna company. It is a complete unit in the steel industry, owning ore lands, vessels, coke ovens and blast furnaces in addition to mills. At the end of 1929 it had total assets of $120,828,758.

The Great Lakes plant went into operation a short time ago. When completed next summer, it will represent an investment of $25,000,000. The consolidation is interpreted as a move toward centralizing in the Detroit area a large share of the business of making steel for automobiles.

Half Dozen Big Companies to Make Extra Payments

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 25.—Notwithstanding the approach of the final curtain on what has been regarded as a lean year from a standpoint of earnings, stockholders of at least a half dozen large corporations were favored today with extra distributions in the form of stock and cash bonuses.

Directors of the International Business Machines corporation approved today a 5 per cent stock dividend in addition to the regular quarterly cash payment of $1.50 a share. In making this announcement, Thomas J. Watson, president, stated that a more widespread appreciation of the value for the company's products and not census business had been responsible for making the company's earnings for 1930 a new high record. He added that the additional business obtained by reason of the census work had amounted to less than 1½ per cent of the total business for the year.

Pays 5 Per Cent in Stock.

The Allied Chemical and Dye corporation has declared a stock dividend of 5 per cent, or one-twentieth of a share of common stock on each junior share outstanding. Regular quarterly dividends of $1.50 on the common and 1¾ per cent on the preferred were also announced.

The second extra dividend within a period of one year was announced by Loew's, Inc., when directors voted a bonus of $1 a share in addition to the regular quarterly of 75 cents. This action had been predicted in Wall street circles, in view of the substantial increase in net earnings for the year ended Aug. 31.

The company is controlled by General Theaters Equipment through the latter's control of Fox Film corporation, which owns 660,900 shares of Loew's. Harley L. Clarke, president of Fox Film, attended his first meeting as a director of Loew's.

Directors of the Utilities Power and Light corporation announced an extra dividend of 15 cents a share on the class A and the quarterly dividend of 50 cents, making total disbursements of $2.15 a share for the year. Dividends on the class B and common stocks were increased by 2½ cents to 27½ cents for the current quarter, bringing the year's payments to $1.02½ on both classes. Stockholders have the privilege of accepting stock in lieu of cash.

The Humble Oil and Refining company declared an extra dividend of 50 cents a share and the regular quarterly of 50 cents. A dividend of $1 a share was announced on the stock of Penn-Mexican Fuel company on May 20, and Aug. 22 of the current year similar payments were made.

Defer Action on Preferred.

Directors of the Republic Steel corporation at their monthly meeting deferred action on the preferred dividend until the December meeting. The regular directors' meeting of the Gleaner Combine Harvester corporation to consider dividend action due at this time has been postponed pending the return of S. H. Hale, president.

Texon Oil, controlled by Continental Oil, voted an extra of $1, in addition to the regular 25 cents quarterly. Gillette Safety Razor declared a dividend of $1 for the last quarter of 1930.

Directors of the Brillo Manufacturing company declared a quarterly dividend of 15 cents on the common stock, placing the issue on a 60 cent annual basis. The only dividend paid on the common prior to the present declaration was a dividend of 30 cents Jan. 2 last.

Directors of Nichols Copper company declared 43 cents each on the class "A" and "B" shares. Three months ago a dividend of 75 cents a share was declared on the two classes of stock.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 25.—Some body who thought the current advance was going too far must have raised the cry of "wolf, wolf" in the late stock exchange dealings today for the market, after a steady show of courage, suddenly crawled into its hole and pulled the hole in after it.

Up to the late afternoon upset things had been humming along quite nicely with gains of from 1 to 5 points the rule throughout the list. Steel and railroad equipment issues had shown the way and virtually every group except the amusements, which were weak-kneed from the first, and the oils, which were soft-hearted, had moved along with every show of an intention to do something worthwhile before the day was over.

But Selling Appears.

Then selling began to appear—evidently by traders wishing to be out of the market over Thanksgiving. The hands began to wonder anew if that

THREE BANKS CLOSE DOORS IN NORTH ITALY

ROME, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Three moderate sized banks with a capital reserve of $1,209,000 have closed their doors in northern Italy.

The largest is the Credito Veneto with headquarters in Padua, with sixty-five small branches. The institution, which closed yesterday and asked for liquidation of its affairs, has capital of $526,000. The branches are small, in many places being manned by only one person.

The other two banks which closed were the Credito Polesano of Rovido, with a capital surplus of $368,000, and the Banca Della Venetia Giplia of Trieste, with a capital surplus of $315,000. All three asked for liquidation, the Trieste bank proposing a 40 per cent settlement.

In financial circles tonight it was said that the closing was of small importance and was rather in the nature of the house cleaning recently advocated by Premier Mussolini, who said that unsound institutions should be closed.

No $2.50 Gold Pieces in Toe of Xmas Sock

There will be no $2.50 gold pieces available for Christmas gift purposes this year, the Federal Reserve Bank in Chicago notified all banks in the seventh federal reserve district yesterday. The reserve bank pointed out that coinage of the pieces was discontinued by act of congress on April 11, 1930, and that since there is no supply of the old coins available it will be unable to supply them to the banks, as has been the practice in the past.

U. S. HIGH COURT HEARS REARGUMENT ON OLD MILWAUKEE RAIL CASE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Financing in connection with the reorganization of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, and Pacific railroad was under discussion again today in the Supreme court. The question was presented in the reargument of the government's appeal that the interstate commerce commission had jurisdiction to control disbursement of a $3,500,000 fund for reorganization management expenses raised by preferred and common stockholders.

John Lord O'Brian, an assistant to the attorney general, argued for the commission. He insisted it had acted within its authority and declared the stockholders had the right either to accept or reject the commission's order in its entirety. He contended when they issued new stock under the order they bound themselves to submit the special fund to the commission's control.

John W. Davis, for the railroad, asserted the fund had been raised privately for a specific purpose, and that the money was in no sense of such a character as to give the commission control over it. He insisted the stockholders in the protection of their rights in the property of the old railroad, which was then in the hands of receivers, and which amounted to $800,000,000, had agreed among themselves to raise a fund to pay reorganization managers for looking after their interests.

The commission was within its jurisdiction regarding the new securities, he said, but was completely powerless to obtain, under any circumstances, control over the private fund.

DIVERSIFIED TRUSTEE SHARES

Income and Profit from 50 Stocks

"SHARES IN AMERICA"

Sponsored by W. A. Harriman & Co., Inc.

Chatham Phenix National Bank and Trust Company, Trustee.

Recommended and sold by leading banks and investment dealers.

Many authoritative analyses of American financial and economic history of the past half century have proved that an investment in ten diversified common stocks may be expected not only to yield a better-than-average income, but to provide — over a period of years — definite enhancement of principal.

How much greater, then, the assurance of income and appreciation afforded by equities in 50 scientifically diversified common stocks . . . as in Diversified Trustee Shares, Series C. These shares represent ownership in Union Pacific, American Tel., National Biscuit, U. S. Steel and 46 others of like strength and stability.

Why This Bank Believes In Life Insurance

REASON NUMBER SIX

Only part of your estate can be passed on to your family if the property you leave must first meet the payment of inheritance and estate taxes, unpaid debts and the various expenses of administration. However, life insurance, purchased and placed in trust for such express purpose, can be made to assume all of these obligations, thus permitting your estate to go in its entirety just as you may wish and direct. This Bank, although it does not sell life insurance, does recommend and indorse its use as a demonstrated means of estate conservation
